To Take Part in Important Railroad
Sessions.

preme Court.

A DISPUTE ABOUT A TEACHER

Which Has Already Been Heard in Lower Courts — Representative
Crist Preparing a Tax Bill—Buell
Wants to Encourage Manufacturers

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, January 28.—State Senator C. C. Connell, of Lisbon, has been appointed master commissioner by the supreme court to take testimony in the case of Ohio on relation of Conrad C. Fennell, auditor of Tuscarawas

county, against the auditors of Colum-biana, Stark, Jefferson, Belmont, Summit, Portage, Cuyahoga, Mahoning and Carroll counties. The suit, as has been stated before, was brought to compel
a redistribution of the valuation of the rolling stock of the C. & P. Railroad company. Auditor Fennell claims
that the appraisement as made deprives his county of its pro rata share
of the taxation. After the case was tried in the supreme court error was discovered in the report of the proceedings of the appraisement board,
which is composed of the auditors of
the counties mentioned, and the appointment of a master commissioner
was ordered by the court to take evidence to clear up the defect in the record. The appointment of Senator
Connell was made upon the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney
Brookes, of Columbiana county.

The case of Ohio on relation of Os-
car Birch against Frank Clapsaddle,
Newton F. Moore and J. M. Kenney
of sub-directors of school district No.
2 in St. Clair township, Columbiana
county, has reached the supreme court
in error to the circuit and common
pleas courts of Columbiana county.
Birch is a resident and taxpayer of
St. Clair township and has six children of school age, whom, he alleges,
were deprived of a term of school because of a refusal upon the part of
the board to confirm the appointment
of one Crofts as a teacher after he
had been regularly selected for the position. Birch brought proceedings
in mandamus against the board in
both the circuit and common pleas
courts to compel Crofts' appointment,
but in each instance the decision was
against him. The board denies all
the allegations of the relator and declares it did appoint a teacher in the regular way. Birch is represented
by Judge P. M. Smith and W. F. Lones,
of Wellsville, while Potts & Moore,
of Lisbon, are the attorneys for the board.

Representative Buell proposes to protect the interests of the manufacturers in the matter of taxation. While he is in favor of taxation reforms, he does not believe in saddling more
taxes than is necessary upon the
manufacturers, taking the ground that
their factories are valuable acquisitions to any community and he proposes to encourage, rather than discourage the growth of industries. Several of the measures which have been submitted provide for the placing of
a tax upon the capital stock of each
corporation. Mr. Buell counsels conservative action along this line. While
he intends to look after the manufacturers, he wishes it understood that
he will likewise labor just as inde-
fatigably for the protection and betterment of the condition of the workman. The house suspended the rules yesterday afternoon and passed a joint resolution by Mr. Crist which provides for the printing of 2,000 copies of the roster containing a list of

committees, together with the names
and addresses of the members of the general assembly.

A resolution favoring the selection
of United States senators by a vote
of the people made its appearance in
the house yesterday afternoon. It was submitted by Representative
Carle, of Seneca, and provides that
the general assembly of the state of Ohio shall make application to congress, under the provision of article
5 of the constitution of the United States, for the calling of a convention
to propose an amendment to the constitution of the United States, making United States senators elective in the several states by a direct vote of the people. A bill by Mr. Guerin, of Erie,
abolishes one of the positions of oil
inspector, of which there are two, and
fixes the salary of the inspector at $3-000. The income of each oil inspector is said to approximate $16,000
per annum. Most of these comes from fees.

HORSES' MAD FLIGHT

CAUSED MUCH EXCITEMENT ON
MARKET STREET.

Team Belonging to the S. G. Hard
Company Took Lively Sprint
Without a Driver.

A team of horses attached to one
of the delivery wagons of the S. G.
Hard company's store, took a lively
sprint shortly before noon today and caused considerable excitement.

The animals were standing in front
of the store, when both took advantage of the driver's absence and started to run. At the corner of Fifth
and Market streets they wheeled suddenly to the left and started toward
the river. One of the horses fell, but escaped injury and was soon again
on its feet.

At furious speed the fugitives made
their way down Market street, and
across the railroad to the river's edge.
Some skiffs which had been anchored
at the foot of the street checked the horses and both stopped before getting into the water.

They were soon captured and driven back to the store. Neither was hurt and the wagon also escaped damage.

A VERY COLD NIGHT

Thermometer Indicated a Temperature Very Close to Zero.
River Rising.

It was not the coldest night of the winter, but it was cold enough. At 7 o'clock this morning, thermometers indicated 4 to 6 degrees above zero in different portions of the city.

The river is full of floating ice,
which started out of the Monongahela
before the cold wave arrived. There has been a rise of six to seven feet
since yesterday, and the stage is 10
feet and rising.

FROM FAR-OFF SCOTLAND

Mayor Davidson Receives a Letter
From the Father of
James Christie.

A letter was received yesterday by Mayor Davidson from William Christie
at Paisley, Scotland, father of James
Christie, who met death in the memorable Calcutta road street car accident a little more than a year ago.

The writer asked that a certificate
of his son's death be sent him, but inquiry developed the fact that Dr. Ogden had long ago sent the desired
document to the dead man's parent.
It had evidently been delayed in the mails, and Mayor Davidson in his letter of reply stated that another would
be forwarded in case the belated certificate was not forthcoming.

Injured in a Pottery.

George Brown, a 15-year-old boy,
while at work at the Chelsea pottery
in New Cumberland Saturday afternoon, was caught in the shafting and seriously injured. He was thrown with great force and his left arm and leg
were broken close to the body.

A LARGE CROWD IS EXPECTED

MEMORIAL MEETING.

Donors of $1 or More to the Monument Fund Will Receive Engraved Certificates.

There is every prospect that the McKinley day services at the opera house tomorrow afternoon will be largely attended. While no general
suspension of business is probable,
there appears to be no doubt that the opera house will be filled. The East Liverpool Potteries company will close all its plants, and some other
potteries will suspend operations for
the afternoon.

Collection envelopes are being prepared to be used at the meeting. It is important that the names of all
donors to the monument fund be placed on or in these envelopes, as a
record will be kept and the names
forwarded to the headquarters of the McKinley Memorial association. All
who donate $1 or more are entitled
to receive a handsomely engraved certificate, setting forth the fact that they have made such a donation.

Excellent music will be provided
and the speeches will doubtless be
both impressive and eloquent.

LEVIED ON POTTERY WARE

D. E. McNicol Pottery Invokes Aid
of Law to Collect Money Due.

A judgment for $17 was rendered in Justice McCarron's court yesterday
afternoon against E. S. Scott in favor of the D. E. McNicol pottery company, and in order to satisfy the claim
Constable Powell attached 10 baskets
of pottery ware in the possession of Scott.

The defendant's mother later appeared in court, claiming that she was
the owner of the ware and that her
son was simply acting as her agent.
However, an indemnifying bond was furnished by the pottery company and
the constable instructed to sell the goods levied on.

WITH DETROIT

Win Mercer to Sign a Contract to Play With That Team
This Season.

"Winnie" Mercer, treasurer of the
All-Americans, a base ball organization which has just completed a successful tour of the Pacific slope, is expected home this week. The team
is now in Chicago and so far each
member of the club has received $600
and more money is to be divided after
the final expenses are paid.

Manager Cantillon, of the All-Americans, said Mercer had practically signed with the Detroit club for next season, and he had forwarded his terms and they had accepted and a contract sent him.

The position of manager captain and
an interest in the profits of the Sacramento club were offered Win Mercer if he would sign a contract, but
he refused.

DESTROYS A MONOPOLY

A Telephone Patent Declared Invalid
in the United States Court
at Pittsburgh.

Pittsburg, January 28.—Judge Buf-
fington handed down an important decision in the United States circuit
court yesterday that will affect the

HIGHER WAGES ARE ASKED IN THE BUILDING TRADES

telephone business throughout the United States.

The opinion, which was concurred
in by Judge Acheson, finds that the John J. Carty patent, which the American Bell Telephone company has relied upon to give it a monopoly of the party line service in the rural districts, is invalid.

The Western Electric company first
commenced the litigation on this patent in 1897, bringing suit against the Millheim Electric company for infringement. The Carty patent was sustained in decisions by the local circuit
court and later by the United States
court of appeals. A few months ago
the Western Electric company, backed
by its former decision, entered suit
against the Anthracite Telephone company at Williamsport.

Stockholders' Meeting.

The stockholders of the Gas Apparatus Construction company met today at the Potters' club rooms to consider various matters of business.
President Walter B. Hill said he had no information to give out regarding
the matter.

LOST POCKETBOOK

THE FINDER FAILED TO TURN IT
OVER TO OWNER.

"Jabbers" Hoskins Under Arrest,
Charged With Having Confiscated a Woman's Money.

"Jabbers" Hoskins is in jail, charged
with having confiscated $11 belonging
to Mrs. Narcissa Jackman, of the North Side. Hoskins found a pocketbook on
an uptown street a few days ago,
which, it is said, he was told belonged
to Mrs. Jackman.

According to the claims of two boys,
who informed Mrs. Jackman that Hos-
kins had her purse, he gave them one dollar each as "hush" money. The lads gave the money to Mrs. Jackman
and she then reported the case to Mayor Davidson, who ordered Hoskins
arrested.

He at first claimed to have turned
the purse over to another woman who claimed it, but late this afternoon
pleaded guilty to petit larceny.

Mrs. Jackman agreed to withdraw
the charge if Hoskins pays back the money. He is making an effort to raise the amount.

YOUNG PEOPLE WED

Miss Mary Smith Becomes the Wife
of Park McLane—Will Reside Here.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Taggart performed
the ceremony at the United Presbyterian parsonage last evening at 8
o'clock that united Miss Mary Smith
and Park McLane, both of this city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Cornelius Smith. She is popular and has numerous friends.
The groom recently came here from Steubenville and is held in high esteem.

After the ceremony the couple went
to the bride's home, where they received congratulations and many presents. They will make their home
in this city.

ARBITRATION BOARD

Will Meet This Evening to Discuss
Niles' Kilnmen's
Grievances.

The meeting of the joint arbitration
board, which was to have been held in
the potters' club this evening, has been postponed. An important meeting of the manufacturers is slated for this evening, and the joint committee will
get together tomorrow evening.

One of the most important matters
to be taken up by the board is a dispute
in the biscuit kiln department at the Niles pottery. When the shop
committee failed in their efforts to adjust the difference, President Hughes
was summoned. It was found impossible to make the points clear to the
firm, and it must go before the arbitration board.

LOCAL AT SEBRING

Instituted by Secretary Duffy, Includes
Many Branches of Pottery
Trade.

National Secretary T. J. Duffy, of
the Brotherhood, instituted a branch
of that organization at Sebring last night. The local is composed of kiln-
men, saggermakers, dippers, oddmen
and kilndrawers, and starts off with
a membership of about 70. After the meeting a very enjoyable entertainment was held. Mr. Duffy returned to the city at noon today.

Carpenters, Following Other
Craftsmen, Present Demand
For an Increase.

THEY WANT $3.00 PER DAY

Stone Cutters Will Ask $4 For Eight Hours and Plasterers
Seek a Raise.

THE SCALE IN EFFECT APRIL 1

Will Be Much Higher if the Various Demands Are Granted—Contractors Say the Cost of Building Will Be Increased in the Spring.

With possibly two exceptions every
building trade in this city will make
demands of some sort before the spring work begins the first day of April.

It will be remembered the bricklay-
ers and plumbers had their requests
granted one year ago, and will not
be included among the trades seeking better conditions. A number of the branches have already acquiesced
the contractors with the extent of the
raise desired, and have met with no
refusals.

The contractors, in a majority of
cases, were anxious to have the matter settled in order that intelligent
bids might be made upon work to be started early in the spring.

The stonemasons of the city prepared a scale of prices providing for 45 cents per hour, and eight hours
for the day. They formerly received 39 cents and worked nine hours. The change will make an increase in the
pay with shorter hours. The bosses
agreed to the new scale at once, and
it will become operative when the work opens up.

The carpenters' union has laid a proposition before the contractors
asking an advance of 25 cents per day
with the same hours that formerly prevailed. The old scale called for $2.75 and nine hours. No decision has been reached by the employers, but
it is expected an answer will be given
within a short time. The new scale
is to go into effect April 1.

The stone cutters, who have a separate organization from that of the stone masons, have been receiving $3.60 for a nine-hour day, and it is said they will ask $4 and eight hours.

The dispute between the plasterers
and lathers have all been settled, and
the two trades are now working in harmony. Both are out for an increase and will likely get it. The lathers have been receiving $2.10 per thousand for their work, and are now
asking $2.25. The advance will amount to 50 cents on the day.

The plasterers would like an increase from $4 to $4.50 per day. They are satisfied with the present hours.

The painters and paper hangers,
who got a few concessions a year ago,
will ask an increase this spring. They have adopted the Pittsburgh scale and it is said to be satisfactory to the employers, and will become operative
April 1.

The action of the various trades
in asking better conditions will, according to statements made by contractors, raise the cost of building
materially.

DECALCOMANIA PLANT

New Concern at Akron Will Engage
in Business With $25,000
Capital.

The American Decalcomania company, of Akron, incorporated last
week with a capital stock of $25,000
has elected officers as follows: President, George L. Curtice; vice president, John Lessell; secretary, Will J.
Doran; treasurer, W. W. McIntosh;
superintendent, H. D. Snyder. The officers and H. T. Wilson, John G. Ingalls and Eli Mengendorf make up
the board of directors. The new concern will manufacture china, glass
and art tile decalcomania and decora-
tors' supplies.

It is said 90 per cent of the decal-
comania used here is imported, causing the potteries much delay because
they are unable to get decalcomania
on time. The new concern has already received orders from big potteries.

Jumped the Track.

The Horn switch pony engine jumped the track near the Buckeye pottery at noon today, necessitating the help of the Wellsville wreck crew.

is important that the names of all
donors to the monument fund be
placed on or in these envelopes, as a
record will be kept and the names
McKinley Memorial association. All
who donate $1 or more are entitled
to receive a handsomely engraved certificate, setting forth the fact that
they have made such a donation.

Excellent music will be provided
and the speeches will doubtless be
both impressive and eloquent.

LEVIED ON POTTERY WARE

D. E. McNicol Pottery Invokes Aid
of Law to Collect Money Due.

A judgment for $17 was rendered in Justice McCarron's court yesterday
afternoon against E. S. Scott in favor
of the D. E. McNicol pottery company, and in order to satisfy the claim
Constable Powell attached 10 baskets
of pottery ware in the possession of Scott.

The defendant's mother later appeared in court, claiming that she was
the owner of the ware and that her
son was simply acting as her agent.
However, an indemnifying bond was
furnished by the pottery company and
the constable instructed to sell the
goods levied on.

Play With That Team
This Season.

"Winnie" Mercer, treasurer of the
All-Americans, a base ball organization which has just completed a successful tour of the Pacific slope, is expected home this week. The team
is now in Chicago and so far each
member of the club has received $600
and more money is to be divided after
the final expenses are paid.

Manager Cantillon, of the All-Americans, said Mercer had practically
signed with the Detroit club for next season, and he had forwarded his
terms and they had accepted and a
contract sent him.

The position of manager captain and
an interest in the profits of the Sacramento club were offered Win Mercer if he would sign a contract, but
he refused.

DESTROYS A MONOPOLY

A Telephone Patent Declared Invalid
in the United States Court
at Pittsburgh.

Pittsburg, January 28.—Judge Buf-
fington handed down an important decision in the United States circuit court yesterday that will affect the

telephone business throughout the United States.

The opinion, which was concurred
in by Judge Acheson, finds that the
John J. Carty patent, which the American Bell Telephone company has relied upon to give it a monopoly of the
party line service in the rural districts, is invalid.

The Western Electric company first
commenced the litigation on this patent in 1897, bringing suit against the Millheim Electric company for infringement. The Carty patent was sustained in decisions by the local circuit
court and later by the United States
court of appeals. A few months ago
the Western Electric company, backed
by its former decision, entered suit
against the Anthracite Telephone company at Williamsport.

Stockholders' Meeting.

The stockholders of the Gas Apparatus Construction company met to-
day at the Potters' club rooms to consider various matters of business.
President Walter B. Hill said he had
no information to give out regarding
the matter.

LOST POCKETBOOK

OVER TO OWNER.

"Jabbers" Hoskins Under Arrest,
Charged With Having Confiscated a Woman's Money.

"Jabbers" Hoskins is in jail, charged
with having confiscated $11 belonging
to Mrs. Narcissa Jackman, of the North Side. Hoskins found a pocketbook on
an uptown street a few days ago,
which, it is said, he was told belonged
to Mrs. Jackman.

According to the claims of two boys,
who informed Mrs. Jackman that Hos-
kins had her purse, he gave them one dollar each as "hush" money. The
lads gave the money to Mrs. Jackman
and she then reported the case to Mayor Davidson, who ordered Hoskins's
arrest.

He at first claimed to have turned
the purse over to another woman who
claimed it, but late this afternoon
pleaded guilty to petit larceny.

Mrs. Jackman agreed to withdraw
the charge if Hoskins pays back the
money. He is making an effort to raise the amount.

YOUNG PEOPLE WED

Miss Mary Smith Becomes the Wife
of Park McLane—Will Reside Here.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Taggart performed
the ceremony at the United Presbyterian parsonage last evening at 8
o'clock that united Miss Mary Smith
and Park McLane, both of this city.

and Mrs. Cornelius Smith. She is
popular and has numerous friends.
The groom recently came here from Steubenville and is held in high esteem.

After the ceremony the couple went
to the bride's home, where they received congratulations and many
presents. They will make their home
in this city.

ARBITRATION BOARD

Will Meet This Evening to Discuss
Niles' Kilnmen's
Grievances.

The meeting of the joint arbitration
board, which was to have been held in
the potters' club this evening, has been postponed. An important meeting of
the manufacturers is slated for this
get together tomorrow evening.

One of the most important matters
to be taken up by the board is a dispute
in the buscuit kiln department at
the Niles pottery. When the shop
committee failed in their efforts to
adjust the difference, President Hughes
was summoned. It was found impossible to make the points clear to the
firm, and it must go before the arbitration board.

Instituted by Secretary Duffy, Includes
Many Branches of Pottery
Trade.

National Secretary T. J. Duffy, of
the Brotherhood, instituted a branch
of that organization at Sebring last
night. The local is composed of kiln-
men, saggermakers, dippers, oddmen
and kilndrawers, and starts off with
meeting a very enjoyable entertainment was held. Mr. Duffy returned
to the city at noon today.

For an Increase.

THEY WANT $3.00 PER DAY

Stone Cutters Will Ask $4 For
Eight Hours and Plasterers
Seek a Raise.

THE SCALE IN EFFECT APRIL 1

Will Be Much Higher if the Various Demands Are Granted—Contractors Say the Cost of Building Will Be Increased in the Spring.

With possibly two exceptions every
building trade in this city will make
demands of some sort before the
spring work begins the first day of April.

It will be remembered the bricklay-
ers and plumbers had their requests
granted one year ago, and will not
be included among the trades seeking better conditions. A number of
the branches have already acquainted
the contractors with the extent of the
raise desired, and have met with no
refusals.

The contractors, in a majority of
cases, were anxious to have the matter settled in order that intelligent
bids might be made upon work to be
started early in the spring.

The stonemasons of the city prepared a scale of prices providing for 45 cents per hour, and eight hours
for the day. They formerly received 39 cents and worked nine hours. The change will make an increase in the
pay with shorter hours. The bosses
agreed to the new scale at once, and
it will become operative when the
work opens up.

The carpenters' union has laid a
proposition before the contractors
asking an advance of 25 cents per day
with the same hours that formerly
prevailed. The old scale called for
been reached by the employers, but
it is expected an answer will be given
within a short time. The new scale
is to go into effect April 1.

The stone cutters, who have a separate organization from that of the
$3.60 for a nine-hour day, and it is

The dispute between the plasterers
and lathers have all been settled, and
the two trades are now working in harmony. Both are out for an increase and will likely get it. The
lathers have been receiving $2.10 per
thousand for their work, and are now
asking $2.25. The advance will amount to 50 cents on the day.

The plasterers would like an in-
are satisfied with the present hours.

The painters and paper hangers,
who got a few concessions a year ago,
will ask an increase this spring. They
have adopted the Pittsburgh scale and
employers, and will become operative
April 1.

The action of the various trades
in asking better conditions will, according to statements made by contractors, raise the cost of building
materially.

DECALCOMANIA PLANT

New Concern at Akron Will Engage
in Business With $25,000
Capital.

The American Decalcomania company, of Akron, incorporated last
week with a capital stock of $25,000
has elected officers as follows: President, George L. Curtice; vice president, John Lessell; secretary, Will J.
Doran; treasurer, W. W. McIntosh;
superintendent, H. D. Snyder. The
officers and H. T. Wilson, John G. Ingalls and Eli Mengensdorf make up
the board of directors. The new concern will manufacture china, glass
and art tile decalcomania and decora-
tors' supplies.

It is said 90 per cent of the decal-
comania used here is imported, causing the potteries much delay because
they are unable to get decalcomania
on time. The new concern has already received orders from big potteries.

tery at noon today, necessitating the
help of the Wellsville wreck crew.

EAST END

AN IMMENSE BOILER

Being Placed in the East Liverpool Street Railway Power House.

Other Improvements.

Expert boiler setters from Pittsburgh are now working at the power house of the East Liverpool Railway company, placing a 350 horse power boiler in position. This is the largest boiler in this section of the state, and soon two others will be installed.

So large are these boilers that additional space will have to be occupied. A large trench has been excavated on the east side of the present boiler room over which a building will be erected as soon as the boiler is in position. As soon as the change in the boilers is made the company will take some of the old green box cars off the road and in their place use the large double truck red cars. It will take about a month to make all the changes necessary to the placing of the new cars on the road.

IN AN INCUBATOR

A Tiny Child Now 10 Days Old Is Being Reared in the East End.

There is being raised in the East End a little child, which is just now 10 days old. If its life is spared the little one will have the distinction of being raised in an incubator, something that cannot be said just now of any other child in the city. This little child, when born, was almost dead, and through the timely thought of a physician, an incubator was hastily made, into which the child was placed.

In this the child is thriving, but very small. It is being carefully nursed, and just a short time ago it learned to cry. The child measures only a few inches around the waist.

An Enjoyable Evening.

Mrs. Warner, of Ohio avenue, and D. A. McIntosh pleasantly entertained a number of friends at their home last evening in honor of Rev. J. R. Greene and his visiting sisters, Mrs. Porter, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Davis. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock and later in the evening numerous friends of Mrs. Warner and Rev. Mr. Greene called. The evening was spent in singing, being enjoyable to all.

Will Wed This Evening.

At the residence of the bride's parents on Elizabeth avenue, East End, this evening, Miss Anna Martin and Edward Green will be married by Rev. George W. Orcutt, of the Second M. E. church. Miss Martin was formerly employed by the Smith & Phillips China company, while Mr. Green is a kilnman at the National pottery. The young couple will make their home in the East End.

Funeral Tomorrow.

The funeral services over the remains of Charles, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wright, of St. George street, who died yesterday morning, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. J. R. Greene will officiate, interment being made at Long Hill cemetery.

Ben Hur Tribe Growing.

East End Tribe of Ben Hur will hold an important meeting in its rooms next Monday evening. Several applications for membership are expected to be presented at this meeting. This tribe has been growing rapidly since its organization, new members being admitted at almost every meeting.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

William McCormick will give an entertainment at the Second M. E. church this evening.

Charles Shaffer, of Morrow county, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Bert Hersher, of St. George street.

Ruby, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Reed, of Erie street, who has been ill with fever, is in a critical condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Park Herbert moved to the East End today from Seventh street. They will reside in their own home on St. George street.

Clell, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith, of St. George street, who has been ill with pneumonia for some time, is able to be out.

Samuel Calhoun, one of the young men who escaped drowning in the river one week ago last Sunday evening, is able to be out. He will resume his work soon.

A small chimney fire occurred last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Newton, at the corner of Fire alley and First avenue. The flames were extinguished with one Babcock.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church, will hold a special praise service in the church one week from this evening, when the annual thank offering for foreign missions will be received.

The East End street force are engaged in making a cinder walk on Michigan avenue in the Klondike section. The force has been employed several days on the improvement, but it will not be completed for some time.

Archie Searight, of Pennsylvania avenue, received a letter yesterday from his son, Frank Searight, who is now permanently located at Los Angeles. Mr. Searight stated he had called upon a number of East Liverpool people now in Los Angeles and found them all in the best of health.

Most persons consume more food than is required for the two great purposes subserved by it. These are, first, the repair of such bodily substance as may demand renewal, and, second, providing us with "energy," which is simply the power of doing work.

A man in this sense really resembles a locomotive. He has to make good the wear and tear of his machinery, and he has to supply coal and water in the shape of certain food elements in order to develop energy.

The argument of the physiologist is that many persons consume food far in excess of their actual needs. Naturally this accounts for many cases of obesity. If a man of forty-five or fifty will persist in taking as much nutriment as he did when he was thirty years old, he will probably pay for his excess in laying on a good deal of fat. This is especially likely to happen if he limits his exercise.

Whistling For Health.

Whistling as a health exercise is now advocated by German and Swedish professors of physical training. They say that great benefit results from a conscientious practice of the simple art. But they require a systematic and constant effort on the part of the beneficiary.

Drill schools have been formed where one of the chief exercises consists in lying flat, back downward, on a table and simply breathing and expelling air from the lungs with regularity and vigor.

As a method of prolonging life and strengthening the human frame against sickness whistling is said to be beyond compare. Development of chest and neck muscles is one of the special advantages claimed for the exercise. Long, deep breathing is an essential for a good whistler, as it is not permissible to draw in the breath except during the intervals of the sound production.

Fruits For Thirst.

Chemical analysis would assign practically no nutritive value to the juicy fruits, for they consist of little more than a cellulose envelope containing a solution of sugar. The amount of water in fruit is considerable. In watermelons it is no less than 95 per cent, in grapes 80 per cent, in oranges 86 per cent, in lemons 90 per cent, in pears 84 per cent, in plums 80 per cent, in nectarines 83 per cent and in strawberries 90 per cent, not a fruit in the whole category containing less than 80 per cent. The irresistible conclusion, considering these facts, is that fruit plays an important role in the diet as a thirst quencher.

Coal Mining in Italy.

The official statistics which have just been issued by the Italian ministry of agriculture and commerce show that in 1899 there were 30 coal mines in operation, while in 1900 there were 44, and the production in the latter year, both as regards tonnage and value, was the highest yet recorded in the Italian statistics. The output was 479,896 tons, valued at 3,542,355 francs, being an increase over the returns of 1899 in quantity of 91,000 tons and in value of 753,136 francs.

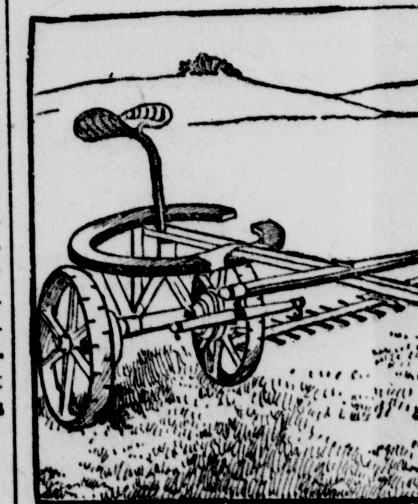

Copper Precipitation.

In an interesting article upon copper precipitation from the water drawn out of the famous mines of the Butte region of Montana Mining and Metallurgy of New York says that $4,000,000 is annually extracted from the mine water by means of precipitation.

It is well known that with the mowers and reapers now in use it is difficult to cut grass or grain which has been blown down by the wind and become lodged on the ground. The difficulty arises largely from the necessity of having to cut around the piece on all sides instead of doing all the cutting on the most convenient side.

To provide for this and at the same time have a machine which can be run back and forth on the same side of the field Niles S. Hindbjorgen of Hendricks, Minn., has designed a reversible mower, says the Philadelphia Times.

The tongue of the machine is pivoted at the center and by pulling a lever the pin which locks the tongue to the curved frame is drawn and the team may be swung around to pull the mower in the opposite direction. The cutter bar has a double set of knives, and the running gear works as well in one direction as the other.

The mower is also designed for use in large fields, where it is not desirable to cut clear around the field on account of its size.

Oil From the Porpoise.

The porpoises killed in winter are the fattest and produce most oil. The largest size measure about 7 feet in length, 5 feet in girth and weigh about 300 pounds. Such a porpoise yields from six to seven gallons of oil. The blubber of a big porpoise weighs about 100 pounds and is one and a half inches thick in summer and two in winter.

The jaws of the porpoise yield a superior quality of oil. When hung up in the sun, it readily drips away into cans provided for the purpose, the quantity of oil thus procured, however, being not more than half a pint to the jaw. The oil from the blubber gives an excellent light and is in demand along the coast for lighthouse use. It has no offensive odor.

Porpoise shooting is followed at all seasons and in all kinds of weather. On a calm summer's day the porpoise may be heard blowing a mile or two away. If you wound a porpoise and there are any sharks around, the shark is very apt to share your booty with you even if he doesn't devour it in toto.

He Was an Artist.

A lady of high position once ventured to remonstrate with Worth, the Parisian milliner, because he had charged her $120 pounds for a ball dress.

"The material," she said, "could be bought for $20, and surely the work of making up would be well paid with $5 more."

"Madame," replied the milliner in his loftiest manner, "go to M. Meissonier, the painter, and say to him: 'Here is a canvas, value a shilling, and here are colors, value 4 shillings. Paint me a picture with these colors on that canvas and I will pay you one and three-pence.' What will he say? He will say, 'Madame, that is no payment for an artist.' I say more. I say, if you think my terms too high, pay me nothing and keep the robe. Art does not descend to the pettiness of the higgler."—London Tit-Bits.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. This you will do by selecting the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, "The Scenic Line of the World," and "The Great Salt Lake Route," in one or both directions, as this line has two separate routes across the Rocky mountains between Denver and Ogden. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal Gorge, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. Dining cars (service a la carte) on all through trains. If you contemplate such a trip, let us send you beautifully illustrated pamphlets, free. S. K. Hopper, G. P. & T. A., Denver, Col. 7-11-3-11

The funeral services over the remains of Charles, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wright, of St. George street, who died yesterday morning, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. J. R. Greene will officiate, interment being made at Long Run cemetery.

Ben Hur Tribe Growing.

East End Tribe of Ben Hur will hold an important meeting in its rooms next Monday evening. Several applications for membership are expected to be presented at this meeting. This tribe has been growing rapidly since its organization, new members being admitted at almost every meeting.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

William McCormick will give an entertainment at the Second M. E. church this evening.

Charles Shaffer, of Morrow county, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Bert Hersher, of St. George street.

Ruby, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Reed, of Erie street, who has been ill with fever, is in a critical condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Park Herbert moved to the East End today from Seventh street. They will reside in their own home on St. George street.

Clell, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith, of St. George street, who has been ill with pneumonia for some time, is able to be out.

Samuel Calhoun, one of the young men who escaped drowning in the river one week ago last Sunday evening, is able to be out. He will resume his work soon.

A small chimney fire occurred last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Newton, at the corner of Fire alley and First avenue. The flames were extinguished with one Babcock.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church, will hold a special prayer service in the church one week from this evening, when the annual thank offering for foreign missions will be received.

The East End street force are engaged in making a cinder walk on Michigan avenue in the Klondike section. The force has been employed several days on the improvement, but it will not be completed for some time.

Archie Searight, of Pennsylvania avenue, received a letter yesterday from his son, Frank Searight, who is now permanently located at Los Angeles. Mr. Searight stated he had called upon a number of East Liverpool people now in Los Angeles and found them all in the best of health.

DIED IN A KILN

Thomas McQuirk Met a Terrible Fate at a Brick Plant at Empire.

Toronto, January 28.—Thomas McQuirk, aged 46 years, was found dead in a kiln yesterday morning by workmen at the Standard brick works, near Empire. McQuirk was in Toronto on Saturday and was under the influence of liquor. Sunday night he was seen about the brick plant and entered a drawn kiln. He crawled upon a pile of warm bricks and falling asleep was suffocated by the poisonous gas.

When found the body was still warm, but the face was black, caused by choking or congestion of the blood. In a little chamolisk skin bag tied with a string about the man's neck were found six one-dollar bills. In the pockets of his trousers were found 55 cents in change and a small memorandum book. Nothing is known of his family or relatives.

Doing Good.

A great deal of good is being done in all parts of the country by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good work, of aggravating and persistent coughs that have yielded to its soothing effects, of severe colds that have been broken up by its use, of threatened attacks of pneumonia that have been worded off and of dangerous cases of croup that it has cured. The great popularity and extensive sale of this preparation can not be a surprise to anyone who is acquainted with its good qualities. Use it when you have need of such a remedy and it will do you good. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

DISINFECTING A SHIP.

Moist Heat, a Thorough Germicidal Agent, Is Used.

When the vessel has tied up to the wharf in New Orleans the first step is the removal of the bedding, clothing and cushions and other cloth fabrics to the quarantine shed. Here they are hung on a framework consisting of a series of racks suspended from a long car running on a track and so arranged that when the racks are filled the whole thing may be run inside one of the three great disinfesting cylinders with which the station is equipped.

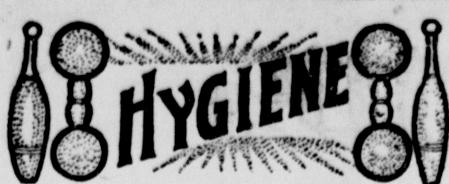

These cylinders are enormous steel boilers fifty feet in length by eight feet in diameter and fitted inside with continuous coils of steam pipe. The cylinders are covered with asbestos and swathed in felt, and when the cylinder caps are on they are airtight. When the clothing has been placed inside and the cylinders closed, dry heat is forced through the pipes at a temperature of 180 degrees, and this is followed by moist heat raised to a temperature of 230 degrees. The pressure of from six to eight pounds put upon this steam heat is sufficient to force it through heavy mattresses or bundles of clothing.

After a period which varies from thirty minutes to an hour the cylinders are opened, the racks are run out, and the rapid evaporation which follows causes the clothing to dry almost immediately. The clothing is unharmed by this process, and the moist heat is a thorough germicidal agent. It is an interesting fact that if a freshly laundered linen shirt or collar is put into the cylinder it will emerge thoroughly moist and apparently in need of another starching. The evaporation is so rapid, however, that it is immediately restored to its original condition, not even the gloss being removed.—Leslie's Monthly.

Origin of Word Gringo.

The word "gringo," which Mexicans apply to Americans when speaking of them with contempt, is said to have had its origin thus: During the Mexican war our soldiers got into the habit of calling the simple Mexican soldiers whom they took prisoners "greenies," to signify their ignorance of things in general and of military tactics especially. The Mexicans retaliated by calling the Americans "greenos," and this word finally degenerated into "gringos."

To families—Never be without Mofar's Life Pills. They are warranted to cure sick headache which comes from a disordered stomach.

Most persons consume more food than is required for the two great purposes subserved by it. These are, first, the repair of such bodily substance as may demand renewal, and second, providing us with "energy," which is simply the power of doing work.

A man in this sense really resembles a locomotive. He has to make good the wear and tear of his machinery, and he has to supply coal and water in the shape of certain food elements in order to develop energy.

The argument of the physiologist is that many persons consume food far in excess of their actual needs. Naturally this accounts for many cases of obesity. If a man of forty-five or fifty will persist in taking as much nutriment as he did when he was thirty years old, he will probably pay for his excess in laying on a good deal of fat. This is especially likely to happen if he limits his exercise.

Whistling For Health.

Whistling as a health exercise is now advocated by German and Swedish professors of physical training. They say that great benefit results from a conscientious practice of the simple art. But they require a systematic and constant effort on the part of the beneficiary.

Drill schools have been formed where one of the chief exercises consists in lying flat, back downward, on a table and simply breathing and expelling air from the lungs with regularity and vigor.

As a method of prolonging life and strengthening the human frame against sickness whistling is said to be beyond compare. Development of chest and neck muscles is one of the special advantages claimed for the exercise. Long, deep breathing is an essential for a good whistler, as it is not permissible to draw in the breath except during the intervals of the sound production.

Fruits For Thirst.

Chemical analysis would assign practically no nutritive value to the juicy fruits, for they consist of little more than a cellulose envelope containing a solution of sugar. The amount of water in fruit is considerable. In water-melons it is no less than 95 per cent, in grapes 90 per cent, in oranges 86 per cent, in lemons 90 per cent, in pears 84 per cent, in plums 80 per cent, in nectarines 83 per cent and in strawberries 90 per cent, not a fruit in the whole category containing less than 80 per cent. The irresistible conclusion, considering these facts, is that fruit plays an important role in the diet as a thirst quencher.

Coal Mining in Italy.

The official statistics which have just been issued by the Italian ministry of agriculture and commerce show that in 1899 there were 20 coal mines in operation, while in 1900 there were 44, and the production in the latter year, both as regards tonnage and value, was the highest yet recorded in the Italian statistics. The output was 479,896 tons, valued at 3,542,355 francs, being an increase over the returns of 1899 in quantity of 91,000 tons and in value of 783,136 francs.

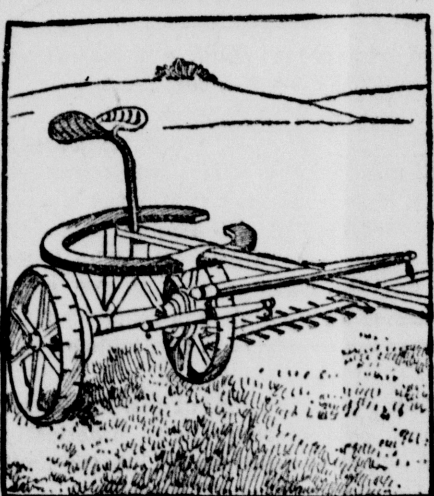

Copper Precipitation.

In an interesting article upon copper precipitation from the water drawn out of the famous mines of the Butte region of Montana Mining and Metallurgy of New York says that $4,000,000 is annually extracted from the mine water by means of precipitation.

It is well known that with the mowers and reapers now in use it is difficult to cut grass or grain which has been blown down by the wind and become lodged on the ground. The difficulty arises largely from the necessity of having to cut around the piece on all sides instead of doing all the cutting or the most convenient side.

To provide for this and at the same time have a machine which can be run back and forth on the same side of the field Niles S. Hindbjorgen of Hendricks, Minn., has designed a reversible mower, says the Philadelphia Times.

The tongue of the machine is pivoted at the center and by pulling a lever the pin which locks the tongue to the curved frame is drawn and the team may be swung around to pull the mower in the opposite direction. The cutter bar has a double set of knives, and the running gear works as well in one direction as the other.

The mower is also designed for use in large fields, where it is not desirable to cut clear around the field on account of its size.

Oil From the Porpoise.

The porpoises killed in winter are the fattest and produce most oil. The largest size measure about 7 feet in length, 5 feet in girth and weigh about 300 pounds. Such a porpoise yields from six to seven gallons of oil. The blubber of a big porpoise weighs about 100 pounds and is one and a half inches thick in summer and two in winter.

The jaws of the porpoise yield a superior quality of oil. "Vet" hung up in the sun, it readily drips away into cans provided for the purpose, the quantity of oil thus procured, however, being not more than half a pint to the jaw. The oil from the blubber gives an excellent light and is in demand along the coast for lighthouse use. It has no offensive odor.

Porpoise shooting is followed at all seasons and in all kinds of weather. On a calm summer's day the porpoise may be heard blowing a mile or two away. If you wound a porpoise and there are any sharks around, the shark is very apt to share your booty with you even if he doesn't devour it in toto.

He Was an Artist.

A lady of high position once ventured to remonstrate with Worth, the Parisian milliner, because he had charged her £120 pounds for a ball dress.

"The material," she said, "could be bought for £20, and surely the work of making up would be well paid with £5 more."

"Madame," replied the milliner in his loftiest manner, "go to M. Meissonier, the painter, and say to him: 'Here is a canvas, value a shilling, and here are colors, value 4 shillings. Paint me a picture with these colors on that canvas and I will pay you one and three-pence.' What will he say? He will say, 'Madame, that is no payment for an artist.' I say more. I say, if you think my terms too high, pay me nothing and keep the robe. Art does not descend to the pettiness of the higgler."—London Tit-Bits.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. This you will do by selecting the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, "The Scenic Line of the World," and "The Great Salt Lake Route," in one or both directions, as this line has two separate routes across the Rocky mountains between Denver and Ogden. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. Dining cars (service a la carte) on all through trains. If you contemplate such a trip, let us send you beautifully illustrated pamphlets, free. S. K. Hocper, G. P. & T. A., Denver, Col. 7-ft-3ft

DEAD NUMBER SIX.

Terrific Explosion In a Shaft of Rapid Transit Tunnel, In New York.

GUEST KILLED AT A HOTEL.

Much Property Destroyed or Damaged. Abandoned and For Further Occurrence. Also Abandoned.

New York, Jan. 28.—The reserve supply of explosives stored at the Park Avenue shaft of the Rapid Transit tunnel, now in course of construction, blew up shortly after noon yesterday. The blast killed eight persons, injured a number of others and seriously damaged all the property reached by the flying debris and the vibration of the shock. The irregular square formed by the Murray Hill hotel on the west, the Grand Central hotel on the east and the Grand Central railroad station on the north was the scene of the explosion. The buildings named sustained the greatest damage, but the area affected extended for several blocks in the four directions from the center.

The Dead.

Cyrus Adams, cigar man at the Murray Hill hotel.
James Carr, 32 years, a waiter employed at the Murray Hill hotel.
Lawrence Hine, 29 years old, Ansonia, Conn.
Roderick J. Robertson, of Nelson, B. C., a guest at the Murray Hill hotel.
Ralph Thompson, assistant engineer (all outside reports seem to agree as to his death, but his body is not reported by the police or by the hospitals).
Thomas Tubbs, master mechanic for Contractor Ira A. Shaler.
The list of injured is an exceedingly long one, but most of those in it have only cuts caused by flying glass. Those more seriously hurt and those from places other than New York city are:

The Injured.

Mrs. Best, 40, Newport, R. I., Murray Hill hotel, face and head cut.
William R. Bristol, 35, Meridan, Conn., Murray Hill hotel, face and head cut.
Walter R. Bristol, 50, Murray Hill hotel, concussion of brain, St. Vincent's hospital.
Mrs. James E. Bunting, Boston, face and hands cut.
Mr. Cummings, Troy, N. Y., hands, face and neck cut.
Mrs. Cummings, Troy, N. Y., face and hands cut.
George Chapin, Stamford, Conn., cuts.
Charles Gaines, New York city, shoulder dislocated and many bruises.
J. C. Gilchrist, 45, Columbus, O., Murray Hill hotel, face and head cut.
Edward Judge, 719 South Third street, Philadelphia, cut about head.
E. M. Lewis, Lima, O., head and face cut.
W. J. Nok, 31, New York city, severe scalp wounds.
Mrs. Benjamin Moore, 35, Madison, N. J., Manhattan hospital, face and hands cut.
The Rev. Father Ryan, New England, head, face and arms cut.
H. B. C. Scott, 40, Kingston, N. Y., face and head cut.
Jefferson Stanton, Bridgeport, Conn., shock and slight cuts on face.
John Wells, New York city, scalp wounds, concussion of brain and internal injuries.

Robertson Killed in a Hotel.

J. Roderick Robertson, of Nelson, B. C., was killed by debris hurled into his room at the Murray Hill hotel. He was general manager in Canada for the British Columbia Gold Fields company, limited, and a prominent citizen in the community where he lived. He was a Scotchman and left a widow and four children. He was said to have been quite wealthy. The sunken approach to the street railway tunnel used by the Madison Avenue line cuts through Park Avenue and the shaft for the Rapid Transit subway was run down beside it at the intersection of East Forty-first street. The street railway approach was housed over by a superstructure used for the operating plant of the Rapid Transit contractors. Temporary buildings for storage purposes were thrown up against the superstructure at the mouth of the shaft, and there the explosion occurred. It tore a great gorge in the street, demolished the temporary buildings and part of the superstructure, and sent a mass of earth, splintered timber and twisted iron high in the air. Much of it went battering against the front of the Murray Hill hotel, and although the walls and main structure of that building stood the shock, nearly every room in the front of the house was wrecked. The Manhattan eye and ear hospital, on the east side of the avenue, faced nearly as bad and had to be abandoned by the management. The Grand Union hotel lost all of its windows and glass partitions, and practically every front window in the Grand Central station was shattered. The great clocks on its front towers were blown from their cases. Thousands of windows, some of them seven blocks from the tunnel shaft, fell in fragments. It was the shower

PENNY POSTAGE, PERHAPS, IN THE NEAR FUTURE

By Postmaster General HENRY C. PAYNE

THE whole tendency of the administration of the post-office department has been to seek to bring the cost of operation below the revenue and thus make the service self sustaining. When the service becomes self sustaining, it shall be a matter of much consideration to bring about a reduction of the postage.

Time of Occurrence Fortunate.

Fortunately the explosion occurred at the noon hour. Not more than a hundred persons were in the main waiting room of the Grand Central station, though in the smoking room at the southwest corner a number of men were lounging. Some of these were slightly injured by bits of glass. Four ticket sellers were injured. They stood in the pathway of this blast and were all cut about the heads and arms with flying slivers.

The electrical force in the executive offices of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, which occupy the floors above the first, in the eastern wing of the depot, were thrown about by the shock. A. T. Turner, a record clerk in Superintendent Shepard's office, was thrown from his chair and his hands were badly lacerated.

In the next room to Turner's Chief Dispatcher G. H. Wilson and his four assistants, who were directing the trains of the New Haven line, having several hundred trains to look out for, were scratched with flying glass, but did not leave their chairs, even when they could not see their instruments because of the smoke. One man, Foster, who was watching a single track strip in Connecticut, did not even get up to look at the ruins after the smoke cleared away.

The station last night presented somewhat the appearance of a dismantled castle, with the big windows only ragged holes.

General Alarm Sent In.

General alarms brought firemen, police reserves and every available ambulance to the district and the injured were speedily cared for. A majority of the injured were treated on the spot, and the white-coated ambulance surgeons worked for an hour in the debris strewn streets. Police lines were thrown across either end of Park Avenue and across the intersecting streets. Several times the police cleared the street of people in front of the Murray Hill hotel. Torrents of water from broken mains poured into the tunnel shaft while the wreckage was being cleared from the street railway sub-way, and it was feared that the street might cave in.

The cause of the explosion and the quantity of explosives that blew up are not definitely known. Several causes have been advanced. One was that a fire started near the powder room and that Master Mechanic William Tubbs lost his life in a desperate attempt to quench it before it reached the deadly fuel. Another was that it started from a spark produced by a stray current of electricity. A third placed the blame upon a blast in the tunnel. Still another gave a gas explosion from electrical contact in the trolley conduit of the street railway sub-way. It will probably take an official investigation to reveal the true explanation. Several men who were very close to the shaft escaped, while others hundreds of feet away were knocked down and seriously injured.

Mayor Low said last night that he would write to the Rapid Transit commissioners requesting that they ascertain the sub-contractors' method of handling and storing explosives. The mayor remarked that "familiarity breeds contempt," and possibly the contractors in handling explosives had become careless as time went on, until the accident happened.

Jerome Visited the Scene.

District Attorney Jerome visited the scene and made an investigation to guide him in the official inquiry and possible criminal prosecution that will follow.

Ira A. Shaler, engineer in charge of the work at Park Avenue; John Bracken, a foreman, and Martin McGrath, an assistant foreman, were placed under arrest and charged with homicide. William Barclay Parsons, chief engineer of the Rapid Transit commission, said that Shaler was one of the most competent and careful engineers he ever knew.

The damage may exceed $1,000,000. The first estimate on the Murray Hill hotel placed the loss at $100,000, but later the hotel was abandoned as unsafe. If the building is condemned the loss on it alone will approach $1,000,000. The damage to the Grand Union was estimated at $40,000, and that to the Manhattan hospital at $25,000. The loss at the Grand Central station was entirely in glass, as was that of the 100 or more other buildings affected by the explosion. No estimate was made of the losses sustained by the Rapid Transit contractors.

Jerome and Coroner Clash.

There was a clash in court yesterday afternoon between District Attorney Jerome and Coroner Goldenkranz, resulting in the former being struck in the face by a clerk. Mr. Jerome was in his office examining Shaler, Bracken and McGrath, the men under arrest, when a policeman assigned to the coroner's office entered and, under the coroner's instructions, demanded that the prisoners appear before that official. Mr. Jerome allowed them to go, but he and his assistants followed. The district attorney told the coroner that there was no information in the patrolman's affidavit on which to hold anybody, and there was a wordy wrangle between the two officials. In spite of protests the coroner gave the case to the jury, who returned a verdict recommending the discharge of the prisoners. The coroner then opened court as a sifting magistrate, had the men re-arrested and held them without bail. More protests came from Mr. Jerome and the coroner changed his decision, holding the men in $10,000 each.

All this had worked up the feelings of everybody so much that there was a free fight. Mr. Jerome received a blow in the face from a coroner's clerk, who in turn was beaten by two of the district attorney's detectives. Then the detectives and the clerk had each other arrested, but soon better counsel prevailed and all charges were withdrawn for the present.

AWAITING TURN OF EVENTS.

Professionals So Found the Money Powers When They Tried to Find the Market.

New York, Jan. 28.—There was no relief from the semi-stagnant conditions of speculation in stocks Monday. Professional operators continued their attempts to find the market by persistently testing it, both by sales and purchases, but they found the great powers in the financial world absolutely quiescent and awaiting some turn of events. The stiffness of money rates, which persisted for some time after the turn of the year, has yielded entirely and the ordinary borrower is able to obtain money on call on very easy terms. Returns of gross earnings of railroads, which began to come in Monday for the third week in January, show gratifying increases over last year's high level. Monday's break in the grain markets, while due to a condition of over speculation, and attributed ostensibly to the large movement from other countries, warrants a presumption of promising conditions for our own winter wheat crop, upon which much hinges. These considerations, however, were powerless to animate the stock market. There is a very general agreement that the ultimate decision of the question of the legal standing of the Northern Securities company is the thing really awaited for the next general movement in the stock market. There is also importance attached to the definite shaping of the government's financial operations, which is given additional importance by the growth of the surplus in the revenues, the decrease in the available supply of bonds for redemption and the pressure to retire bank note circulation. Legislation for the reduction of the revenues on the one side or for special government expenditures on the other are studied with great attention, owing to their bearing on the market supply of money. The formulating of demands by coal miners has been a cause of some depression. The stiffening of the discount rate in London and the advance in the price of gold may be a symptom of renewed demand for gold from that quarter as the bank of England is obviously striving to make its rate effective in the market, in preparation for the coming government loan. Of the special movements in Monday's market which gave it its whole character, that in Amalgamated Copper was most conspicuous. Raw copper was advanced for the first time since the attempt to maintain the price was abandoned by the Amalgamated Copper company. The gain which resulted Monday for Amalgamated Copper was 2 1/2 points. The advance in the price of lead gave strength to the national lead stocks and American Smelting. The United States Steel stocks were lethargic. There was a desultory speculation in Sugar, with a final net gain of a point. Notable gains in Chicago and Eastern Illinois, the New York, Chicago and St. Louis stocks, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis and Rutland preferred were without explanation. The market closed dull and firm.

There was a cessation of last week's activity in a number of semi-speculative bonds and the market was duller and irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,925,000.

U. S. new 4s advanced 1/4 per cent on the last call.

New York, Jan. 28.—General Modesto Garces, special delegate in charge of foreign affairs of the Liberal party of Colombia, said yesterday that he had received cable advices from Curacao, the headquarters of his party, saying that the army under General Soto met and defeated the Conservative forces, led by General Franjaver and a Jesuit priest, Padre Espana, after a bloody engagement lasting all day, near La Cruz, 35 miles south of Bogoto. General Soto captured a large quantity of arms and ammunition and several cannon. Among the killed was Padre Espana.

BANDITS STOLE SAFE

When the Express Messenger Couldn't Open It, They Took It From the Train.

ROBBERY IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Bullet Sent Through Cap of Engineer. Another Safe on Train Looted. Man Accused of Previous Robbery Believed to Have Led the Gang.

Branchville, S. C., Jan. 28.—A carefully planned and audacious express car robbery took place about 7 o'clock last evening on the Southern railway when the passenger train from Charleston reached nearly the exact site of the successful robbery of two years ago, five miles from Branchville. Seven or eight men were riding on the platform between the engine and baggage car, concealed by the darkness. None was masked. At the Fifty-five mile board two men crawled over the tender and covered the engineer, John Reynolds, with Winchester. They fired two shots, one ball passing through Reynolds' cap. Fireman Cobb escaped by jumping off. Conductor Black, who ran out, was covered and ordered back. By order of these men a brakeman uncoupled the express, mail and baggage cars, which were taken to Fifty-eight station, leaving the rest of the cars on the main line. Here several shots were fired into the express car and one man climbed up, covered Express Messenger Hall with a Winchester and compelled him to open the door. Three men entered the car and stripped the local safe. After threatening Hall with instant death if he did not open the through safe, and finding he knew nothing of the combination, the safe was rolled out on the platform. Then the engineer was ordered to return with the three cars to the train, and he obeyed, bringing the train without further incident to Branchville. Nothing was seen of the men or the safe on passing Fifty-eight. There was only a small amount of booty in the local safe, and no one here knows the contents of the through safe. No mail or baggage was touched and no passengers were molested.

No measures had been made last night to follow the robbers.

The leader is supposed to be Barton Warren. Warren was arrested, charged with having, single-handed, robbed the Southern express car just below Branchville, in the fall of 1899. The case resulted in a mistrial. Ball was furnished. A few days before the next session of the court, five months ago, he killed Thomas Watson, his former friend, but one of the principal witnesses against him.

Warren has been at large since, and some say that he has been seen in Branchville at night several times since, though $800 reward had been offered for his capture.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible. If not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only loosens and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. A Son of a Sea Cook.

The information concerning the expression "a son of a sea cook," says the Philadelphia Times, has not been found in any reference dictionary. It comes from a prominent citizen, a man of affairs and a man of intelligence. In 1862 he was for a period the campaign companion of Leonard Swett, who at that time was a candidate for congress in Illinois. Mr. Swett was the bosom friend of Abraham Lincoln—his alter ego. In 1888 he was the advocate in Chicago of the presidential aspirations of Walter Q. Gresham.

At the time referred to Mr. Swett had an engagement to address voters in Fremont and Pekin, in Tazewell county, and by the informant referred to was driven from Fremont to Pekin. Swett had few equals as a conversationalist, and the talk was brisk and naturally never to be forgotten by the man who had proffered his services as a driver.

The latter, speaking of a well known lawyer of Pekin, remarked, "He is a son of a sea cook." Mr. Swett turned abruptly about and said: "That expression is not correct. You mean the son of a seakaw, which is a perversion of the Indian name segoak, which means a skunk and is usually pronounced seakaw. Few people ever use the term correctly or comprehend its meaning."

One Old Horse Guards Another.

Two beautiful chestnut horses, Jack and Sam, were among my early friends. They were clean built, high stepping trotters of a speed which might have distinguished them on the track, but they led a happier life, being favorite carriage horses in a region of beautiful country roads or sometimes, under the saddle, threading lovely forest paths.

Rarely used in single harness, they had been as rarely separated, and when in their old age Sam became blind it was a touching thing to see Jack's constant watchfulness over him. Their pasturage was in fields broken by rocky ledges and where more than one steep ravine suddenly descended from the smooth sward. Jack never left his friend. Constantly beside him, if Sam went too near a perilous edge, the stream, a rock or fence, he would go between him and the danger, pushing him aside or, if that could not be done, he would take him by the mane and gently lead him to a place of safety. No ailments in lumps of sugar, apples or the salt basket ever drew Jack from his dependent friend.—Our Animal Friends.

DEAD NUMBER SIX.

Terrific Explosion in a Shaft of Rapid Transit Tunnel, In New York.

QUEST KILLED A HOTEL.

Much Property Destroyed or Damaged.
Murray Hill Hotel Abandoned and May Be Further Occupied.
Also Abandoned.

New York, Jan. 22.—The reserve supply of explosives stored at the Rapid Transit tunnel, now in course of construction, was up shortly after noon yesterday. The giant blast killed eight persons, injured a hundred others
and seriously damaged all the property reached by the flying debris
and the vibration of the shock.

The irregular square formed by the Murray Hill hotel on the west, the Manhattan eye and ear hospital and the Grand Union hotel on the east of the Grand Central railroad station on the north was the scene of the explosion. The buildings named sustained the greatest damage, but the area affected extended for several blocks in the four directions from the center.

The Dead.

Cyrus Adams, cigar man at the Murray Hill hotel.
James Carr, 32 years, a waiter employed at the Murray Hill hotel.

sonia, Conn.
Roderick J. Robertson, of Nelson,
B. C., a guest at the Murray Hill hotel.
Ralph Thompson, assistant engineer (all outside reports seem to agree as to this death, but his body is not reported by the police or by the hospitals).
Thomas Tubbs, master mechanic for Contractor Ira A. Shaler.
The list of injured is an exceedingly long one, but most of those in it have only cuts caused by flying glass.
Those more seriously hurt and those from places other than New York city are:

John Weiss, New York city, scalp

ternal injuries.

Robertson Killed in a Hotel.

Roderick Robertson, of Nelson,
B. C., was killed by debris hurled into his room at the Murray Hill hotel.
He was general manager in Canada
for the British Columbia Gold Fields company, limited, and a prominent citizen in the community where he lived. He was a Scotchman and left a widow and four children. He was said to have been quite wealthy.

The sunken approach to the street railway tunnel used by the Madison avenue line cuts through Park avenue and the shaft for the Rapid Transit sub-way was run down beside it at the intersection of East Forty-first street. The street railway approach was housed over by a superstructure used for the operating plant
of the Rapid Transit contractors.
Temporary buildings for storage purposes were trowed up against the superstructure at the mouth of the shaft, and there the explosion occurred. It tore a great gorge in the street, demolished the temporary buildings and part of the superstructure, and sent a mass of earth, splintered timber and twisted iron high in the air. Much of it went battering against the front of the Murray hill hotel, and although the walls and main structure of that building stood the shock, nearly every room in the front of the house was wrecked.

The Manhattan eye and ear hospital, on the east side of the avenue, fared nearly as bad and had to be abandoned by the management. The Grand Union hotel lost all of its windows and glass partitions, and practically every front window in the Grand Central station was shattered.
The great clocks on its front towers were blown from their cases. Thousands of windows, some of them seven blocks from the tunnel shaft, fell in fragments. It was the shower

PENNY POSTAGE, PERHAPS,
IN THE NEAR FUTURE

By Postmaster General HENRY C. PAYNE

THE whole tendency of the administration of the postoffice department has been to seek to bring the cost of operation below the revenue and thus make the service self sustaining. When the service becomes self sustaining, it shall be a matter of much consideration to bring about a reduction of the postage.

PERHAPS WE SHALL NEVER CONSIDER OUR POSTAGE SERV-ICE ON A RIGHT BASIS UNTIL PENNY POSTAGE HAS BEEN ES-TABLISHED. AND I TRUST THAT MAY BE DONE SOME TIME IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

of broken glass and falling debris
that injured the greatest number.

Time of Occurrence Fortunate.

Fortunately the explosion occurred at the noon hour. Not more than a hundred persons were in the main waiting room of the Grand Central station, though in the smoking room at the southwest corner a number of men were lounging. Some of these were slightly injured by bits of glass.
Four ticket sellers were injured. They stood in the pathway of this blast and were all cut about the heads and arms with flying shivers.

The electrical force in the executive offices of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, which occupy the floors above the first, in the eastern wing of the depot, were thrown about by the shock. A. T.
Turner, a record clerk in Superintendent Shepard's office, was thrown from his chair and his hands were badly lacerated.

In the next room to Turner's Chief Dispatcher G. H. Wilson and his four assistants, who were directing the trains of the New Haven line, having several hundred trains to look out for, were scratched with flying glass,
but did not leave their chairs, even when they could not see their instruments because of the smoke. One man, Foster, who was watching a single track strip in Connecticut, did not even get up to look at the ruins
after the smoke cleared away.

The station last night presented somewhat the appearance of a dismantled castle, with the big windows
only ragged holes.

General Alarm Sent In.

General alarms brought firemen,
police reserves and every available ambulance to the district and the injured were speedily cared for. A majority of the injured were treated on the spot, and the white-coated ambulance surgeons worked for an hour in the debris strewn streets. Police lines were thrown across either end of Park avenue and across the intersecting streets. Several times the police cleared the street of people in front of the Murray Hill hotel. Torrents of water from broken mains poured into the tunnel shaft while the wreckage was being cleared from the street railway sub-way, and it was feared that the street might cave in.

The cause of the explosion and the quantity of explosives that blew up are not definitely known. Several causes have been advanced. One was that a fire started near the powder
room and that Master Mechanic William Tubbs lost his life in a desperate attempt to quench it before it reached the deadly fuel. Another was that it started from a spark produced by a stray current of electricity. A third placed the blame upon a blast in the tunnel. Still another gave a gas explosion from electrical contact in the trolley conduit of the street railway sub-way. It will probably take an official investigation to reveal the true explanation. Several men who were very close to the shaft escaped, while others hundreds of feet away were knocked down and seriously injured.

Mayor Low said last night that he would write to the Rapid Transit commissioners requesting that they ascertain the sub-contractors' method
of handling and storing explosives.
The mayor remarked that "familiarity breeds contempt," and possibly the contractors in handling explosives had become careless as time went on,
until the accident happened.

Jerome Visited the Scene.

District Attorney Jerome visited the scene and made an investigation to guide him in the official inquiry and possible criminal prosecution
that will follow.

Ira A. Shaler, engineer in charge of the work at Park avenue; John Bracken, a foreman, and Martin Mc-Grath, an assistant foreman, were placed under arrest and charged with homicide. William Barclay Parsons, chief engineer of the Rapid Transit commission, said that Shaler was one of the most competent and careful engineers he ever knew.

The damage may exceed $1,000,000.
The first estimate on the Murray Hill hotel placed the loss at $100,000, but later the hotel was abandoned as unsafe. If the building is condemned the loss on it alone will approach
$1,000,000. The damage to the Grand Union was estimated at $40,000, and that to the Manhattan hospital at $25,000. The loss at the Grand Central station was entirely in glass, as was that of the 100 or more other buildings affected by the explosion.
No estimate was made of the losses sustained by the Rapid Transit contractors.

Jerome and Coroner Clash.

There was a clash in court yesterday afternoon between District Attorney Jerome and Coroner Goldenkranz, resulting in the former being struck in the face by a clerk. Mr.
Jerome was in his office examining Shaler, Bracken and McGrath, the men under arrest, when a policeman assigned to the coroner's office entered and, under the coroner's instructions, demanded that the prisoners appear before that official. Mr.
Jerome allowed them to go, but he and his assistants followed. The district attorney told the coroner that there was no information in the patrolman's affidavit on which to hold anybody, and there was a wordy wrangle between the two officials. In spite of protests the coroner gave the case to the jury, who returned a dict recommending the discharge of the prisoners. The coroner then opened court as a sitting magistrate,

had the men re-arrested and held them without bail. More protests came from Mr. Jerome and the coroner changed his decision, holding the men in $10,000 each.

All this had worked up the feelings of everybody so much that there was a free fight. Mr. Jerome received a blow in the face from a coroner's clerk, who in turn was beaten by two of the district attorney's detectives.
Then the detectives and the clerk
had each other arrested, but soon better counsel prevailed and all charges were withdrawn for the present.

Professionals So Found the Money Powers When They Tried to Find the Market.

New York, Jan. 22.—There was no relief from the semi-stagnant conditions of speculation in stocks Monday. Professional operators continued their attempts to find the market
by persistently testing it, both by sales and purchases, but they found the great powers in the financial world absolutely quiescent and awaiting some turn of events. The stiffness of money rates, which persisted for some time after the turn of the year, has yielded entirely and the ordinary borrower is able to obtain money on call on very easy terms.
Earnings of gross earnings of railroads,
which began to come in Monday for the third week in January, show gratifying increases over last year's high level. Monday's break in the grain markets, while due to a condition of over speculation, and attributed ostensibly to the large movement from other countries, warrants a presumption of promising conditions for our own winter wheat crop, upon which much hinges. These considerations, however, were powerless to animate
the stock market. There is a very general agreement that the ultimate decision of the question of the legal standing of the Northern Securities company is the thing really awaited for the next general movement in the stock market. There is also importance attached to the definite shaping of the government's financial operations, which is given additional importance by the growth of the surplus in the revenues, the decrease in the available supply of bonds for redemption and the pressure to retire bank note circulation. Legislation for the reduction of the revenues on the one side or for special government expenditures on the other are studied with great attention, owing to their bearing on the market supply of money. The formulating of demands by coal miners has been a cause of some depression. The stiffening of the discount rate in London and the advance in the price of gold may be a symptom of renewed demand for gold from that quarter as the bank of England is obviously striving to make its rate effective in the market,
in preparation for the coming government loan. Of the special movements in Monday's market which gave it its whole character, that in Amalgamated Copper was most conspicuous.

Raw copper was advanced for the first time since the attempt to maintain the price was abandoned by the Amalgamated Copper company. The gain which resulted Monday for Amalgamated Copper was 2 1/2 points.
The advance in the price of lead gave strength to the national lead stocks and American Smelting. The United States Steel stocks were lethargic.
There was a desultory speculation in Sugar, with a final net gain of a point.
Notable gains in Chicago and Eastern Illinois, the New York, Chicago and St. Louis stocks, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis and Rutland preferred were without explanation. The market closed dull and firm.

There was a cessation of last week's activity in a number of semi-speculative bonds and the market was duller and irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,025,000.

U. S. new 4s advanced 1/4 per cent
on the last call.

BANDITS STOLE SAFE

When the Express Messenger Couldn't Open It, They Took
It From the Train.

ROBBERY IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Bullet Sent Through Cap of Engineer.
Another Safe on Train Looted.
Man Accused of Previous Robbery Believed to Have Led the Gang.

Branchville, S. C., Jan. 22.—A carefully planned and audacious express car robbery took place about 7 o'clock
last evening on the Southern railway
when the passenger train from Charleston reached nearly the exact site of the successful robbery of two years ago, five miles from Branchville. Seven or eight men were riding on the platform between the engine and baggage car, concealed by the darkness. None was masked. At the fifty-five mile board two men crawled over the tender and covered the engineer, John Reynolds, with Winchesters. They fired two shots,
one ball passing through Reynolds' cap.
Fireman Cobb escaped by jumping
off. Conductor Black, who ran out,
was covered and ordered back.
By order of these men a brakeman
uncoupled the express, mail and baggage cars, which were taken to Fifty-eight station, leaving the rest of the cars on the main line. Here several shots were fired into the express car
and one man climbed up, covered Express Messenger Hall with a Winchester and compelled him to open the door. Three men entered the car and stripped the local safe. After threatening Hall with instant death
if he did not open the through safe,
and finding he knew nothing of the combination, the safe was rolled out on the platform. Then the engineer was ordered to return with the three cars to the train, and he obeyed, bringing the train without further incident to Branchville. Nothing was seen of the men or the safe on passing Fifty-eight. There was only a small amount of booty in the local safe, and no one here knows the contents of the through safe. No mail or baggage was touched and no passengers were molested.

No measures had been made last night to follow the robbers.

The leader is supposed to be Barton
Warren. Warren was arrested, charged with having, single-handed,
robbed the Southern express car just below Branchville, in the fall of 1899.
The case resulted in a mistrial. Ball was furnished. A few days before the next session of the court, five months ago, he killed Thomas Watson, his former friend, but one of the principal witnesses against him.

Warren has been at large since,
and some say that he has been seen in Branchville at night several times since, though $800 reward had been offered for his capture.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever;
nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh,
which is nothing but an inflamed condition
of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible. If not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimu-lates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try

A Son of a Sea Cook.

The information concerning the expression "a son of a sea cook," says
the Philadelphia Times, has not been found in any reference dictionary. It comes from a prominent citizen, a man
of affairs and a man of intelligence.
In 1862 he was for a period the campaign companion of Leonard Swett, who at that time was a candidate for congress in Illinois. Mr. Swett was the bosom friend of Abraham Lincoln
—his alter ego. In 1888 he was the advocate in Chicago of the presidential aspirations of Walter Q. Gresham.

At the time referred to Mr. Swett had an engagement to address voters
in Fremont and Pekin, in Tazewell county, and by the informant referred to was driven from Fremont to Pekin.
Swett had few equals as a conversationalist, and the talk was brisk and naturally never to be forgotten by the man who had proffered his services as a driver.

The latter, speaking of a well known lawyer of Pekin, remarked, "He is a son of a sea cook." Mr. Swett turned abruptly about and said: "That expression is not correct. You mean the son of a seakaw, which is a perversion of the Indian name seogaw, which means a skunk and is usually pronounced se-kaw. Few people ever use the term correctly or comprehend its meaning."

One Old Horse Guards Another.

Two beautiful chestnut horses, Jack and Sam, were among my early friends.
They were clean built, high stepping trots of a speed which might have distinguished them on the track, but they led a happier life, being favorite carriage horses in a region of beautiful country roads or sometimes, under the saddle, threading lovely forest paths.

Rarely used in single harness, they had been as rarely separated, and when in their old age Sam became blind it was a touching thing to see Jack's constant watchfulness over him.
Their pasturage was in fields broken
by rocky ledges and where more than one steep ravine suddenly descended from the smooth sward. Jack never left his friend. Constantly beside him,
if Sam went too near a perilous edge,
the stream, a rock or fence, he would go between him and the danger, pushing him aside or, if that could not be done, he would take him by the mane
and gently lead him to a place of safety. No allurements in lumps of sugar, apples or the salt basket ever drew Jack from his dependent friend.—Our

The appetite for political pie is an insatiable one. It will doubtless continue so, for the nature of man is something not easily changed. But a tendency has sprung up in East Liverpool of late years which deserves to be checked in its incipient stage. Formerly it was the rule, when a man had served his constituents ably and faithfully, for one term, to give him a second term without the necessity of battling anew to gain a re-nomination. Now, it appears that it matters not how well a man has filled his office, if he desires a second term, he must enter the race and scramble for it. This is not good politics, neither is it good business. It makes changes in office too frequent. A man hardly gets settled in his office, thoroughly familiar with his duties and in shape to accomplish something for the good of the public, than he is asked to get out simply because somebody else wants the place. Of course, there are those who, if they get one term, get more than they deserve. But the conscientious office holder, with whom the people have no fault to find, deserves better treatment. It has been an unwritten Republican law, embracing every office from the presidency of the United States to town constable, to give the deserving man a second term if he desires it, without resorting to a contest or to campaigning. To drift away from it is to engender bad feeling and impair the usefulness of the party organization. "One good term deserves another" is a good rule to observe where good men are concerned. Following it has made the Republican party great and strong. Disregarding it can but tend toward weakness and disruption. East Liverpool Republicans, who have the party's interests at heart, need to curb their impatience for office and await their turn.

Speaker Henderson wisely calls upon the tariff-tinkers to look ahead and see the mischief they are likely to do. He admits, as every sensible man must, that the tariff laws are not perfect, because no human work is perfect. But he strongly points out that there is danger that "in trying to reach a few remedies we will involve the whole country in serious difficulties." He also says he indorses the position taken in President Roosevelt's message that "there is general acquiescence in our present tariff system as a national policy." There is wisdom and sound sense in this view of the matter. The Dingley tariff has worked well, as busy industries and a steadily increasing volume of business attest. Its usefulness is not past, but is as great as ever. If it were sought to amend it, the amending would not cease until the whole law had been overhauled, disturbing the business world and checking the rising tide of prosperity. In the homely phrase of Senator Hanna, "Let well enough alone," is found the best possible advice to congress.

The army appropriation bill this year carries about $90,000,000, a reduction compared with the sum appropriated by the act for the current year of about $24,000,000. The estimates were presented for an army of 100,000, but the committee has made provision for 83,000, which is a larger number than the war department expects to retain in the service next year.

British Columbia last year produced gold worth $5,596,700, and nearly all of it, like many Canadians, made a beeline for the United States.

It will be difficult to frame a congressional redistricting bill which will meet the approval of the Republican members of the general assembly, and yet the districts should be changed because of the inequality in the population of the districts as now arranged.

The Kentucky legislature is opposed to President Roosevelt sending envoys to attend King Edward's coronation. It is not what the Kentucky legislature condemns, but what it approves that good people have reason to be alarmed over.

If Miss Stone were an actress, instead of a missionary, her fortune would be made.

Remember McKinley day.

Mrs. Polly Cullen.

Mrs. Polly Cullen, wife of J. H. Cullen, died Monday evening at 9 o'clock at her home in the west end of Chester. She was nearly 65 years of age and had been a sufferer for 20 years from cancer. She was a resident of Hancock county for many years and had a legion of friends. Together with a husband she is survived by six children: Mrs. Charles Mercer, East Liverpool; Alvin Cullen, New Cumberland; Misses Jessie, Nettie and Mary Cullen and Harvey Cullen, of Chester. Arrangements for the funeral services have not been completed.

William H. Garwood.

Salem, January 28.—William H. Garwood, a well known resident of this city, died yesterday of consumption. He was born in Youngstown in 1849. A wife and one daughter survive him.

Death of an Infant.

An infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William McNutt, of East Market street, died this morning. Arrangement for the funeral have not yet been completed.

AT THE THEATER

A large gathering of expectant people was present at the opera house last evening to witness the play, "Are You a Mason?" given for the benefit of the Knights of Pythias. The performance was a disappointment to nearly every one, as the members of the company, with few exceptions, were painfully lacking in ability. There were some really good features which provoked hearty laughter, but the play as a whole was not of a nature calculated to please the lovers of high-class comedy.

The attraction at the opera house Friday evening will be the Criterion Theater, Brooklyn, success, "The Flip Mr. Flop." The company is headed by Rube Welch and Kittle Francis, who have on numerous occasions played the Proctor and Keith circuit. Rube Welch, the author of the piece, plays the part of Mr. Flop, while Kittle Francis will be seen as the rich Irish widow. Like all comedies of this kind the fun is fast and furious.

MITCHELL ASSERTED WORSE.

Rev. Dr. King Declares Him More Dangerous Than Prof. Pearson, of Chicago.

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—At the weekly meeting of the Methodist ministers of this city Rev. George H. Bickley read a paper referring to the published opinion of Prof. Charles W. Pearson, of the Northwestern university, who recently questioned the truth of miracles mentioned in the Bible. A general discussion followed the reading of the paper, resulting in the denunciation of several text books now in use in the Methodist theological seminaries.

Dr. J. M. King, of New York, one of the secretaries of the board of church extension, was present and expressed his opinion in an emphatic manner. "I respect the board of bishops," he said, "but that respect does not lead me to favor their action, when, by a majority of one, they seated President Mitchell in the Boston theological seminary, and by that vote of one struck at the Divinity of Jesus Christ."

"Dr. Mitchell is a more dangerous man than Prof. Pearson, because he is the more learned. Prof. Pearson can easily be answered, but Dr. Mitchell is not to be disposed of so readily. The place for an honest man who does not believe in the fundamental teachings he promised to uphold is out of the fold. He may then criticize the Bible if he has a mind to."

It was decided to bring Dr. Rischell's "Foundation of Christian Faith" and other text books to the notice of the board of bishops.

Devery's Application Denied.

New York, Jan. 28.—The application of ex-Deputy Commissioner of Police William S. Devery to have the law abolishing the office of chief of police of New York City declared unconstitutional was denied by Justice Leventritt in the supreme court yesterday, on the grounds that, though he had some doubt as to the constitutionality of the law, he held it legal in order that the appellate division may render a decision as soon as possible.

AT THE THEATER

A large gathering of expectant people was present at the opera house last evening to witness the play, "Are You a Mason?" given for the benefit of the Knights of Pythias. The performance was a disappointment to nearly every one, as the members of the company, with few exceptions, were painfully lacking in ability. There were some really good features which provoked hearty laughter, but the play as a whole was not of a nature calculated to please the lovers of high-class comedy.

The attraction at the opera house Friday evening will be the Criterion Theater, Brooklyn, success, "The Flip Mr. Flop." The company is headed by Rube Welch and Kittle Francis, who have on numerous occasions played the Proctor and Keith circuit. Rube Welch, the author of the piece, plays the part of Mr. Flop, while Kittle Francis will be seen as the rich Irish widow. Like all comedies of this kind the fun is fast and furious.

MITCHELL ASSERTED WORSE.

Rev. Dr. King Declares Him More Dangerous Than Prof. Pearson, of Chicago.

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—At the weekly meeting of the Methodist ministers of this city Rev. George H. Bickley read a paper referring to the published opinion of Prof. Charles W. Pearson, of the Northwestern university, who recently questioned the truth of miracles mentioned in the Bible. A general discussion followed the reading of the paper, resulting in the denunciation of several text books now in use in the Methodist theological seminaries.

Dr. J. M. King, of New York, one of the secretaries of the board of church extension, was present and expressed his opinion in an emphatic manner. "I respect the board of bishops," he said, "but that respect does not lead me to favor their action, when, by a majority of one, they seated President Mitchell in the Boston theological seminary, and by that vote of one struck at the Divinity of Jesus Christ."

"Dr. Mitchell is a more dangerous man than Prof. Pearson, because he is the more learned. Prof. Pearson can easily be answered, but Dr. Mitchell is not to be disposed of so readily. The place for an honest man who does not believe in the fundamental teachings he promised to uphold is out of the fold. He may then criticize the Bible if he has a mind to."

It was decided to bring Dr. Rischell's "Foundation of Christian Faith" and other text books to the notice of the board of bishops.

Devery's Application Denied.

New York, Jan. 28.—The application of ex-Deputy Commissioner of Police William S. Devery to have the law abolishing the office of chief of police of New York city declared unconstitutional was denied by Justice Leventritt in the supreme court yesterday, on the grounds that, though he had some doubt as to the constitutionality of the law, he held it legal in order that the appellate division may render a decision as soon as possible.

WELLSVILLE

M'KINLEY DAY

WILL BE OBSERVED IN WELLSVILLE SCHOOLS.

Appropriate Exercises But No Collections—Terms of School Board.

McKinley day will be observed in the public schools with exceedingly appropriate exercises to the decision of the board at the regular meeting of the evening. Supt. Macdonald was present at the meeting and his views in regard to the day set apart as one on which the citizens of Ohio should pay tribute to the memory of the late beloved president and brother citizen.

The superintendent said that he did not think that the anniversaries of the births of the great presidents should be observed as legal holidays and that he thought it not right for the school board to give a day upon such occasions. He further said that the school children should not be called upon to donate for the benefit of the McKinley monument fund, as in his opinion the state of Ohio should give out of its treasury enough money to erect the desired monument.

The views of Supt. Macdonald coincided with those of the board and the above decision was quickly determined upon.

Other business was also acted upon by the board. The teachers' and janitors' salaries for the month of January were allowed and ordered paid and the advisability of purchasing an apparatus for the use of the high school in physics and a geographical apparatus for the scholars in general was considered, but was finally referred to the text book committee.

BIG MONEY FOR COAL

Is Being Offered Hancock County Farmers Who Own Mineral Lands.

Farmers owning land in the neighborhood of the Washington school house are receiving immense offers from several coal syndicates for the coal which underlies their land. The syndicates are endeavoring to secure options on the land and a few have already leased their farms. Among them are E. W. Gear, George Gregory, William Evans and Ed Murray. The leases have been given for four years at $25 per acre. The number of acres in these leases will exceed 500 and there remain several hundred more.

C. P. Rothwell, a coal operator of East Palestine, was in Chester this morning and held a conference with E. C. Baxter, who owns a farm in the coveted district, but no definite arrangement was made between the gentlemen.

Mr. Baxter stated that the sum per acre offered by Mr. Rothwell is quite enough, but he wishes to defer payments entirely too long. His proposition is to pay one half in two years, and the remainder in four years.

TWO YOUNG MEN KILLED.

The Victims Both Lived in McKean County, Pa.

Bradford, Pa., Jan. 28.—Two young men, both aged 21 years respectively and residents of McKean county, were killed by the cars. Albert Johnson, a brakeman employed on Kane's lumber road, was stepping from one car to another while the cars were in motion. He slipped and fell under the wheels and was crushed to death instantly. The fatality occurred at Meade Run.

Yesterday afternoon Charles Zee was driving across the Pennsylvania railroad tracks near Eldred. A train struck his team, killing him instantly. One of his horses was also killed, but the other escaped injury.

She Knew It.

A Philadelphia man thought he would be more successful than his wife in securing servants. So he cut out a number of advertisements from the "situations wanted" column of a newspaper and started out in a cab to visit the various addresses. The first place he stopped at was in front of a little house in a narrow street, from which a cook had advertised. He saw her and was favorably impressed.

"I am looking for a good cook," he said. "Sure, an' don't Oi know it!" exclaimed the cook. "Oi only left your house yesterday!"

He made a hasty and undignified retreat and decided to allow his wife to continue in her direction of the household affairs.

She Had Improved.

The Princess Charlotte, daughter of George IV., was a young woman of great spirit and originality. One day one of her teachers chanced to enter the room when the princess was reviling one of her attendant ladies in great wrath, and, after giving her a lecture on hasty speech, he presented her with a book on the subject.

A few days later he found her still more furious and using language even more violent. "I am sorry to find your royal highness in such a passion," said he. "Your royal highness has not read the book I gave you."

"I did, my lord," cried she tempestuously. "I both read it and profited by it. Otherwise I should have scratched her eyes out!"

Velocity of Meteorites.

The singular fact has been demonstrated that while the most rapid velocity of cannon balls scarcely ever attains a speed of 600 meters a second—about 1,500 miles per hour—meteorites are known to permeate the air with a velocity of 40,000 or even 60,000 meters per second. This unthinkable speed instantly raises the temperature of the air to 4,000 or 6,000 degrees centigrade.

That Apple.

A correspondent sends us a little story of his infant son. SAVED BY DUST.

How a Handful of Soldiers Fooled General Early.

"Did I ever tell you how clouds of dust once saved Washington city from what many people believe would have been certain capture at the hands of the Confederates?" asked a member of the old Veterans' Reserve corps, which was on duty at Fort Stevens during the war.

"It was when the Army of Northern Virginia was just outside the Capital City. You may remember that General Early, who was in command of this particular division of the Confederate forces, in writing to refute statements published in northern papers to the effect that he could easily have marched into Washington, said: 'I knew the defenses were weak when I arrived, but my troops were so exhausted from the enforced march that a halt was absolutely necessary, and the next morning I knew, by clouds of dust, that reinforcements had arrived.'"

"That dust, gentlemen, was raised by a few men, not exceeding 100, of the Veteran Reserve corps. The temporary commander of this company, a stout man of medium height, whose name or rank I did not learn, because he wore no blouse or insignia, placed the men in line in the rear of and between Fort Stevens and Fort Slocum. After making a short speech in which he urged every man to do his best he directed us to march down some distance on the grass past Fort Stevens. Once there he told us to break ranks and right about, returning in the middle of the road and kicking up all the dust we possibly could.

We doubled on the line, marching down on the grass and coming back in the dusty road. It was a dry season, and we all had on broad soled shoes. We made the dust fly, I tell you, and it is no wonder General Early thought reinforcements by the thousands had come to the relief of the handful on duty at the forts."—Washington Star.

LADIES AT DINNER.

From the Position of Carver to the Principal Seat.

The presence of ladies at dinner was brought about by necessity more than by the gallantry due to their sex. Servers and henchmen were superseded by lady carvers, who worked at a side table. In Elizabethan times at private dinners it became usual to place the principal joints and grand pieces at the upper end of the table, above the salt, so the chief guests could see the joints and secure choice helpings. We have something of this kind in the habit which prevails at restaurants of first showing the game, poultry, etc., to the diners before carving. The place which came to the fair sex from necessity was soon claimed by them as their right, and they passed from the menial position of carver to the occupiers of the principal seat. The lady had helpers who deemed it an honor to serve her in their turn.

In this duty of semiprofessional carver lies one of the first causes of the paper frills for legs of mutton, etc., for it was used in every case where the operator had to grasp some tangible part of the joint with the left hand. In 1653 a grand dame suggested that it would appear "more comely and decent to use a fork," this in spite of existing prejudice.

It was at this time, too, that travelers from Holland introduced into England the fashion of seating men and women alternately, the adoption of which put an end to lady carvers. Then the author of "The Cook's Oracle" suggested that joints and large birds should be carved before they came to table, thus starting the now prevailing fashion of carving at the side table.

CHAPTER VIII. MAKING TROUBLE.

W HILE Elmendorf was speaking Alden returned, bearing a bunch of violets wrapped in such paper as florists use.

"I was gone longer than I had expected," he said. "I did not know just where to find a florist hereabout. They are all covered up, you see. It is an evening that might wither a flower with one breath."

He passed the bouquet somewhat awkwardly across the big table to Brenda, who in the act of receiving it was so startled by the sudden appearance of the ward detective, Barnes, upon the threshold that she let the flowers fall.

With due allowance for its general lack of intelligence, it may be said that the countenance of Barnes was full of meaning. The man looked self-assured, confident and pleased.

"I beg your pardon," said he. "Who is in charge here?"

"I am for the moment," replied Kendall.

Barnes hesitated, looking sidewise at Alden. Then his glance shifted to the bouquet upon the table and rebounded in the direction of the doctor.

"I'd like to have a word with you," he said.

"Speak up," said Kendall. "What is it?"

"Those flowers are for the Miller girl, of course?" said Barnes. "Well, you'd better take a look at 'em before you send 'em in. Oh, they're all right, I guess, but you can't be too careful."

"What do you mean?" demanded Kendall.

Barnes pointed a finger at Alden. "That man put something into them," he said. "I saw him do it. I don't know what it was, but there's drugs that, if you smell of them, why, it's your finish."

Kendall was too much surprised to speak. Alden took a hasty step toward Barnes and collided with Elmendorf, who courteously begged his pardon. Meanwhile Brenda picked up the bouquet from the table, and as they all turned toward her she opened the paper over the violets and pressed them against her lips.

"They are very fragrant," she said.

"That's all right," returned Barnes doggedly, "but he put something in there. What was it?"

"This bit of paper, I suppose," said Brenda, taking it in her fingers. "Your message, Clarence?"

"I think somebody ought to read it," said Barnes, looking at Elmendorf out of the corner of his eyes.

Alden thrust Elmendorf aside as if he had been a paper dummy and then checked himself. Barnes was already in the hall.

"I can have no quarrel with this creature," said Alden. "As to my message, I appeal to Dr. Kendall."

"This is more than absurd," rejoined the doctor. "Miss MacLane, whenever you are ready."

As Brenda stepped forward the bit of paper slipped out from among the flowers and fell to the floor. Elmendorf picked it up.

"I hope you won't misunderstand me," he said. "Perhaps I see farther ahead than you do. If I was in Mr.

Alden's place, I'd let somebody read this."

He gave the message to Brenda, who glanced at Alden as she took it. He raised his hand in a gesture of negation.

"Now, look here, all of you," exclaimed Barnes. "Here's this girl in the— and he pointed with his thumb in the supposed direction of Elsie's room— 'who's hiding what she knows. I don't say it's in this man's interest, but it's in somebody's interest; that's sure. She wouldn't be the first woman that's had the nerve to get the knife and say nothing. I don't accuse anybody, especially not this man, for I ain't got a thing against him. He's all right so far as I know. But what I say is that the girl ought not to be getting messages on the quiet."

Alden's face was white as paper, and his eyes were afire. It is probable that every bone in Barnes' body ached with anticipation, but he had been kicked too often in the way of business to flee before the actual contact.

"I've stood all of this that my system can absorb," said Kendall, with a seriousness that scarcely fitted with the peculiar phrase which had come into his mouth. "After this dime novel nonsense of poisoned bouquets I don't care to have anything more from you. Get out!"

"You're making a mistake," said Barnes and then backed out of the room, grinning like a monkey, as Kendall advanced toward the door.

Brenda replaced the note among the flowers and gave her free hand to Alden, bidding him good night.

"I shall not be far away," he said as the woman preceded Kendall out of the room. "There's a lodging house next door. I shall get a place to sleep there. Sleep? Well, at least I shall be there. You will not fail to summon me if— if there should be any reason for it?"

"You may depend upon me," said Brenda from the threshold, where she had paused a moment while he spoke.

Kendall went with her to the mouth of the long corridor and then returned to the reception room.

"That man must be insane," he said to Elmendorf. "What did he mean by coming here with such absurdities?"

"He didn't believe in them any more than you do," replied the detective. "He had no idea that there was anything wrong with the violets or with the note. He was simply obeying orders."

"Orders?" echoed Kendall. "Who could have ordered him to do such a thing?"

"I guess Mr. Alden knows," responded Elmendorf. "And, between ourselves, I think Mr. Alden should have permitted the note to be read right here. I hope Miss Miller won't destroy it."

Kendall looked at Alden as if to inquire whether such a thing was likely, but gleaned no answer. Alden's face had resumed its rigidity, and the expression which it wore was intense, but difficult to read.

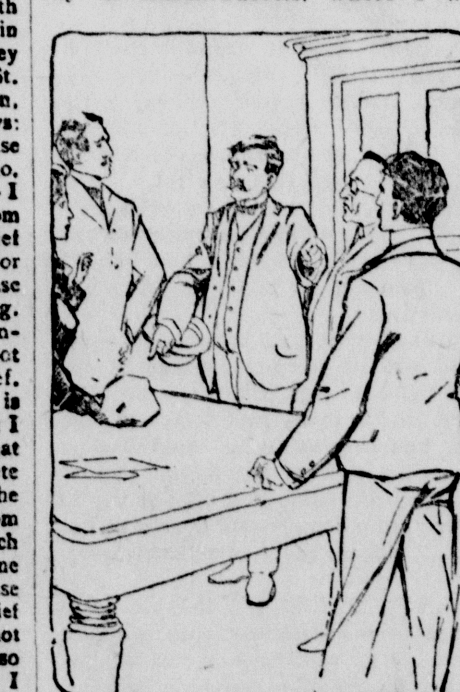

"However," continued Elmendorf, "if it hadn't been that it would have been something else. You're going to see a good deal of this sort of thing in the next few days, Mr. Alden."

"A good deal of what?" said Alden.

"It is technically known as 'making trouble' for a man," replied the detective. "I don't know why I should put you on, but I'm doing it just the same."

"Do you mean to tell me," demanded Alden, "that Captain Neale expects to extort an important secret from me by childish tricks of annoyance such as this?"

"Certainly not," answered Elmendorf. "Joe Neale is no such donkey. Why, he's worth a quarter of a million dollars, and it's a wise man who can save as much as that in a few years out of a salary of twenty-five hundred. By simple arithmetic it would take a man just a century to do it if he lived meanwhile on what the neighbors sent in, as they used to say in Massachusetts, where I was

"That man put something into them," brought up Joe Neale knows that when a man is worried he talks; he must talk to somebody. And the cap would just as soon get your secret out of John Doe as out of you—a little rather, in fact, because then you wouldn't know that he had it. Now,

THE NEGRO PROBLEM

By Ex-Attorney General WAYNE MACVEACH

HERE is a very grave problem which we are refusing to consider and by which refusal the ethical ideal of law is being destroyed. IT IS THE PROBLEM PRESENTED BY OUR NEGRO POPULATION, NOW APPROACHING TEN MILLIONS OF SOULS. All of us, whether in public office or in private station, now concur in trying to ignore the existence of any such problem at our doors, while we indulge in self congratulations about the blessings we are carrying to another ten millions of dark skinned races in far distant lands.

At present the condition of the whole subject is lawlessness, and such a condition is disgraceful to us all and is fraught with the serious dangers which lawlessness always brings in its train.

I've said enough to cost me my job." "Nothing you say to me will ever cost you anything," said Alden. "I'm not a talking man. By the way, who are you?"

"Introduce me," said Elmendorf to Kendall, and the doctor complied.

"I am pleased to meet you," said Alden, offering his hand. "If you find out anything important in this case, I want you to tell me first. I'll make it worth your while."

"No, thank you," said Elmendorf hastily. "As a rule I'm as corrupt as the devil—but not this time."

Meanwhile Brenda had delivered the posies to Elsie—whom pain had wakened from a little sleep—with the gentlest possible words and ways. She had not at all the manner of a nurse, but rather that of an exceedingly tactful and well bred young doctor.

Elsie took the bouquet and very quietly cried over it for some minutes without discovering the note which it contained. She did not say anything; she did not ask a question about what Alden had said or done, whether he had gone away or was still waiting or whether he had seemed much distressed by her misfortune. Brenda had merely said that he had called, and that he had sent the violets because they were Elsie's favorite flower. This seemed to satisfy the girl completely.

Brenda had supposed that she would see the message at the first glance and indeed believed for some little time that she had done so, but did not wish to read it immediately. Finding this an error and fearing that the sudden discovery of it might startle her, Brenda told Elsie that there was a message and pointed out its place.

Then she turned away, as if unwilling to accept the chance of guessing from Elsie's face what the note might contain. When she judged that the proper interval had elapsed, she approached the bed once more.

Elsie's eyes were shut. The tears were drying on her cheeks, that were as delicate as rose leaves, and her right hand was against her breast, tightly closed. Thus she remained until she fell asleep.

CHAPTER IX.

A FEW WORDS WITH MR. ROBINSON.

TECTIVE ELMENDORF was a man who considered himself to be the simple product of chance. He was born in Danbury, Conn., and at the age of nine years he was left an orphan and penniless. Immediately after this misfortune, as he did not like the people with whom he was expected to live, he walked out of town. There happened to be a high wind that day, and the boy walked with it, because the contrary course would have been disagreeable.

No one made any attempt to bring him back, and so he tramped for about a week, eating nothing one day and six good meals the next, according to the varying charity of the people along the road. Finally an eccentric old doctor in a certain small town found the boy ill on his doorstep one morning, and that was a great piece of luck for young Elmendorf. He had a good home in the doctor's house for eight years, without care or labor; enjoyed the advantages of the excellent schools of the village, and was nearly ready to enter college when his benefactor died.

The doctor left a good property, but no will. Relatives swooped down like a flock of birds. Elmendorf had not been adopted. He had no legal status, and one day he discovered that he had nothing at all except a trunkful of decent raiment and the sum of $3.60. The coincidence that this was the exact fare to New York decided Elmendorf's course. He arrived in the metropolis without a penny, hunted up a boarding house near the station, carried his trunk there on his shoulder and then went out to look for work.

He had many occupations in the next five years, but none to his liking. Finally he became a clerk in a small hotel which was a haunt of ward politicians. Yielding to the temptation thus thrown into his way, he developed into a lieutenant of the district leader, learning more tricks than he had the hardihood to play and prospering the less because of his scruples.

It became a delusion with him, however, that he was one of the most dishonest of created beings; that he would do anything for money, and that only his hard luck prevented him from selling his soul at a good figure. Once when his affairs were at a low ebb his patron suggested the police, and Elmendorf became a member of the force in the firm belief that a corrupt man like himself could make money therein. But he had a perverse way of being dissatisfied with temptation, and he gained a reputation for honesty which his best friends deplored. It was pure chance, a matter not worthy of mention, which secured his transfer to the staff of the detective bureau. He had no appetite for the work, yet he must have possessed a certain fitness for it. Perhaps the advantage of early mental training, added to an unflinching memory and a perception of little things that was due to the German blood in him, helped to make a real detective of him.

Yet there is no money in detecting alone and but small advancement, as Elmendorf well knew. What one needs is the skill to construct a good, strong "pull," coupled with the capacity to turn the incidents of the profession to one's personal advantage. In these important particulars Elmendorf was a dire failure. He secured no pull, and he was forced to live almost entirely upon his salary. Indeed his continuance on the staff was due largely to the favor in which he was held by certain men connected with the press. The feeling that if Elmendorf should be sent back to patrol duty somebody would get "roasted" for it long and hard in at least two of the big papers was the deciding factor in his case on several occasions.

He was useful, however, in affairs like that with which the present record has to do, where early rumor connected persons of prominence and wealth with criminal cases and it was desirable to have a prompt and honest report as a basis for subsequent action.

In the matter of the murderous attack upon Elsie Miller, Elmendorf received orders, on the morning of the day following that upon which the crime was committed, to "look up" John Robinson. It appeared that Robinson had left the house on Thirty-eighth street immediately after Alden's departure, which he had viewed with every indication of intense and painful excitement.

No obstacle was put in the way of his departure when he desired to go; but an unobtrusive young man of Captain Neale's retinue walked upon the other side of the street. Robinson did not see this young man—which is sometimes a great misfortune for the person thus attended—but it happened, in this instance, that after a considerable amount of pedestrian exercise of a seemingly aimless sort the young man did not see Robinson, and this was undoubtedly a serious misfortune for the "shadow." He was roundly sworn at by his superior, when, after a fruitless search, he was obliged to announce his failure to that individual. He did not do this, of course, until he had waited a long time in front of the house where Robinson lived. Had Robinson returned there the "shadow" would have given, in his subsequent report, a full statement covering every detail of Robinson's movements and every minute of the time, and would cheerfully have sworn to it in court had later events made such a proceeding necessary. But, failing to "pick up" Robinson, there was no escape from confusion.

Eczema for Forty Years.

The Unqualified Statement of a Well Known Attorney, St. Ignace, Mich.

Some of the cures made by Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment of stubborn and long continued eczema and skin diseases are causing much comment.

People are beginning to realize that this Ointment is a wonder worker with all kinds of skin trouble. Attorney Jas. J. Brown, St. Ignace, Michigan, writes as follows: Dr. A. W. Chase Med. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.—Cents—

I cannot refrain from expressing my acknowledged relief for the relief I have felt from Dr. Chase's Ointment. For 40 years I was afflicted with a skin disease which was located in one spot—on my leg. I have spent at a rough estimate five hundred dollars trying to effect a cure, and not until I applied this ointment did I get relief. You are strangers to me and this letter is prompted directly because I want to say and I feel as though I ought to say it. That Chase's Ointment has effected a complete cure of my affliction. Three boxes did the work on my leg. I was also suffering from itching piles and applied the ointment which gave the best of satisfaction by affording me rest at night and rapidly causing the disease to disappear. I have received such relief and comfort from the ointment that I cannot withhold expressing my gratitude. I was so long afflicted with the tortures of eczema. I feel now that I am cured, a word of recommendation is due from me.

Yours truly,

A DEMAND OF 10 PER CENT.

For Absolute Run of Mine—Differential of Between Pick and Machine Mining Left at Seven Cents—Compromise With Illinois.

Indianapolis, Jan. 28.—The important question of the miners' scale demand for the coming year, which will be reported to the miners' national convention this afternoon, was finally disposed of late last night at a meeting of the scale committee. The scale decided upon will demand an increase of 10 per cent, absolute run of the mine and the differential between pick and machine mining left at 7 cents, the figure fixed by the convention of 1901.

The decision of the committee as to this differential was in the nature of a compromise with the Illinois miners and delegates from other middle western states, who have favored a differential of 4 cents. The committee will also include in its report a demand for an increase of 15 cents for inside drivers.

PLENTY OF PROOF

From People You Know—From East Liverpool Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced in the face of evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of East Liverpool, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

Mr. P. J. Green, veterinary surgeon, says: "When attending a sick horse belonging to Mr. G. H. Gardiner, of 165 Jackson street, he remarked to me that the horse seemed to be in pain. I replied that I was the sicker of the two, as I could at that time scarcely straighten up with my back from lameness, weakness and severe pains. He asked me what my symptoms were and I explained to him that I had suffered for a number of years from my kidneys, that I had attacks at times when nothing helped me, and that it was agony to get around, but that I could not endure idleness. The secretions from the kidneys were very high colored and acidulous; that I had spells of dizziness when I could see black specks floating before my eyes and felt generally broken up. He looked up and said he had the very thing I needed to cure me in his house—Doan's Kidney Pills. He went into the house and brought me eight pills. I took them with me and I used them two at a dose. The effect was astonishing. I felt it almost at once, and went to the W. & W. pharmacy and bought a box and took them. The encouragement held out to me by the first eight pills was not mythical, as by their continued use the improvement continued and I consider no expression of praise too strong for Doan's Kidney Pills; in short, they are no plus ultra."

cent Roosevelt will accept a present from Emperor William, owing to the traditional belief that the presidents of the United States ought not to accept gifts from abroad. A court official, talking of this matter, alluded to the king of Spain, who had given General Washington two jacks and a jennet, from which some of the best mule stock in America had descended. An American, with whom this official was talking, replied that General Grant had caused a tremendous amount of disapprobation in the United States by accepting a dog from an American.

If President Roosevelt accepts this present, the character of which is as yet secret, it will probably be deposited in the Smithsonian institution, or accepted pending congressional approval. It is understood here that inquiries are being made in Washington concerning the inclinations of President Roosevelt, and that no present will be offered if it is intimated that it must be declined.

The conservative journals here have been singularly silent over the visit of Prince Henry, which the old aristocracy looks upon coldly.

ARMY OFFICERS ARE ATTACKED

Severely Condemned by Some Senators For Criticizing Utterances in Senate and Elsewhere.

Washington, Jan. 28.—An animated and prolonged discussion was precipitated in the senate yesterday over the right of army officers to criticize utterances made in the senate or elsewhere on the conduct of affairs in the Philippines.

At times it became somewhat acrimonious, officers in the Philippines being taken sharply to task for statements attributed to them in dispatches from Manila.

Rising to a question of privilege early in the session, Mr. DuBois, of Idaho, had read an Associated Press dispatch from Manila, in which General Wheaton was quoted as criticizing some utterances of Prof. Schurman in a speech delivered in Boston. Mr. DuBois thought the president, in the circumstance, would be warranted in reprimanding General Wheaton for his criticisms. He declared that such comment upon the action of the senate was "outrageous and indecent," and that the minority had had quite enough of threats and blackmail.

The debate, thus precipitated, took a wide range. Mr. Lodge, of Massachusetts; Mr. Spooner, of Wisconsin, and others maintained that no newspaper utterance ought to be accepted as the basis of a reprimand of any officer unless it was supported by an investigation indicating the accuracy of the report.

Rising to speak to the pending question, Mr. Money, of Mississippi, delivered an extended speech, in the course of which he went pretty thoroughly over the whole Philippine question.

Mr. Platt, of Connecticut, took sharp issue with the Mississippi senator on some of his conclusions of constitutional law, contending that the United States could not be expected to grant independence to the Philippines and to relinquish all rights in the islands merely because of the natives' desire for liberty.

CHINESE EXCLUSION HEARING

Federation of Labor Representatives Among Those Before Committee.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The senate committee on immigration Monday continued its hearings on the subject of Chinese exclusion. The time was taken up by the representatives of the Federation of Labor and of the state of California, who submitted arguments in the nature of a reply to Hon. John W. Foster, who spoke last week before the committee in opposition to the pending measure.

E. J. Livernash, of California, declared that the Chinese population of the Philippines is in excess of that of the state of California, and that a protection such as the policy of Chinese exclusion expresses is necessary for the preservation of the welfare of our laboring class and the promotion of occidental rather than oriental civilization. He was not unmindful, he said, of the difficulties attending the restriction of Chinese from going into the Philippines, Hawaii or Porto Rico, and from there to the United States, but they arise because of our attempt to treat the Philippine islands as domestic for some purposes and as foreign for others.

His case has recently been brought before the attention of the proprietors of "Blood Wine," who after a careful study of his trouble decided that their remedy would help him; and several bottles have just been shipped to the multi-millionaire. SOME WORK OF THE HOUSE.

Washington, an. 28.—The house yesterday adopted a resolution calling for documents relating to the old training ship Vermont, which was placed out of commission last summer, and also passed a bill to provide for the compulsory attendance of witnesses before registers and receivers of the general land office. A bill to appropriate $100,000 for establishing homes for the teaching of articulate speech to deaf children was defeated. The house adjourned yesterday until Wednesday.

MORAL CONDITIONS IMPROVED.

Rev. Hazlett Reports on Philippines. Seriously Accuses Officers in Jolo.

Colorado Springs, Colo., an. 28.—Rev. A. L. Hazlett, of Colorado City, in his report to the war department on moral conditions in the Philippines, states that these conditions have improved materially since American occupation began.

Of the saloon, he said the strict discipline put in operation by General Otis had borne fruit and a law to prohibit gambling had also been made effective recently. Mr. Hazlett makes the following recommendations:

First—A government appropriation for soldiers' institutes and the non-alcoholic features of the post exchange systems.

Second—A general order prohibiting the sale of vino to soldiers.

Third—The investigation of the charges against officers at Jolo, charged, and I believe justly, with maintaining houses of ill fame, without knowledge of the war department and contrary to army regulations.

Lantern Illumination Makes the City Akin to Fairyland.

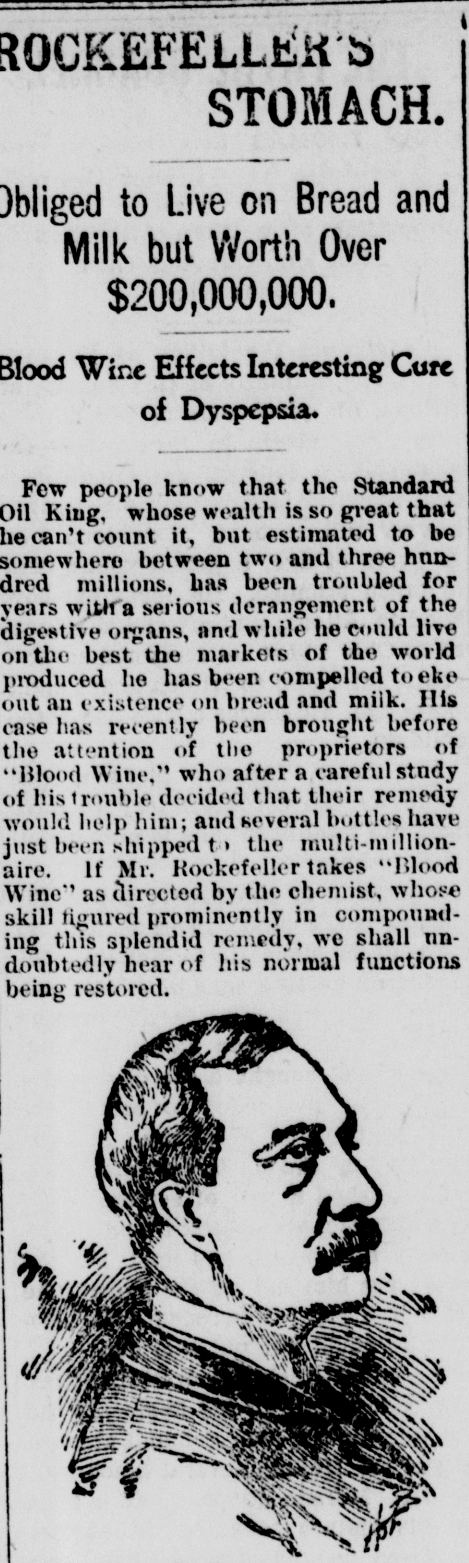

A row of paper lanterns in the black shadow of a wall is the first impression the newly arrived traveler has of Yokohama as he steps from his "sampan" on to the wharf at night.

The lanterns hang low and almost motionless, but at the word "rickshaw" they begin to sway, and with a silent, almost rhythmical movement they come rushing toward him. A moment later he discovers that each lantern is attached to a rickshaw, which offers for less than half a yen an hour to convey him anywhere his fancy may lead him. But go where he will the lantern is always there, dangling and swaying and dimly flashing.

The lantern on the rickshaw is a characteristic detail of the night picture of Yokohama. It is a series of brilliant dashes of color under a cloudless, starlit sky, fanned by a soft breeze which seems half of the sea and half of the tropics, with smiling, doll-like people gliding about everywhere. It hardly seems real. It isn't fairyland exactly, because fairies are not supposed to be always as picturesque as are these Japanese. Certain it is that few things anywhere in the round world can be more beautiful than lantern lighted Yokohama.

As the accidental crosses the bridge over the canal from the foreign quarter and enters the native city he sees a bewildering maze of lights. Throughout Yokohama gas lamp posts are few and far between, a fact which makes the lantern illumination all the more conspicuous. They are not hung at regular heights or intervals, but make a sort of tangle of soft colored lights over the front of the buildings and even across the street.—New York Mail and Express.

An Indication of Nervous Trouble. A headache is simply an indication that some part of the body is deranged, usually the stomach or nervous system. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

Stomach troubles, weaknesses throughout the digestive organs which cause constipation and upset the equilibrium of the whole system are brought on by irregular meals, imprudent eating and drinking, and a lack of the proper nourishment for the organs which secrete the gastric juices and make assimilation of the food possible. Some discretion should be exercised where stomach trouble is apparent, which if done and directions followed in using "Blood Wine," a permanent cure is almost sure to follow. "Blood Wine" makes digestive fluids. It supplies the missing something in the stomach that aids the digestion. It will overcome sick stomach, nausea, vomiting, help you to retain your food, and give you a good appetite.

It extracts the nourishment from the food and turns it into flesh, tissues, membranes, nerves and muscles. It will cure in a reasonable time old cases of constipation and give the bowels a free easy action at regular periods. "Blood Wine" contains no wine or opiates.

"I sat at my desk all day and for twenty-five years was troubled with constipation. My bowels would not move except by fits and starts and my breath and saliva threw off an awful odor; my face burned, eyes ached and I had a dragged-out feeling all the time. Regular medical aid failed to produce but temporary relief. With some reserve I tried "Blood Wine." One bottle helped me. I then had more faith in it and got another bottle. By using a little common sense in my mode of living and the use of four bottles I effected a thorough cure and now I am actually a different, practically a new man. William Curtis, Box 1246, Boston, Mass."

"Blood Wine" sells for fifty cents a bottle, but you can sample it free of charge, and be convinced that it is all claimed for it before buying, at Will Reed and Hodson's drug stores.

DYSPEPSIA

"For six years I was a victim of dyspepsia in its worst form. I could eat nothing but milk toast, and at times my stomach would not retain and digest even that. Last March I began taking CASCARETS, and since then I have steadily improved, until I am as well as I ever was in my life."

INCREASE IN WAGES.

Included In Report to be Presented to Miners' Convention Today.

A DEMAND OF 10 PER CENT.

For Absolute Run of Mine—Differential of Left at Seven Cents—Compromise With Illinois.

Indianapolis, Jan. 28.—The important question of the miners' scale demand for the coming year, which will be reported to the miners' national convention this afternoon, was final disposal of late last night at a small session of the scale committee. The meeting of the scale committee. The scale committee will demand an increase of 10 per cent, absolute run of the mine and the differential between pick and machine mining left at 7 cents, the figure fixed by the convention of 1901.

The decision of the committee as to this differential was in the nature of a compromise with the Illinois miners and delegates from other mid-western states, who have favored a differential of 4 cents. The committee will also include in its report a demand for an increase of 15 cents for inside drivers.

THE COLD WAVE ARRIVED.

Nineteen Above at Pittsburgh Last Night and Expected to Be Near Zero Mark Today.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 28.—At 10 o'clock last night the temperature stood at 19 degrees above zero. It was expected that the temperature would be down to zero this morning.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The weather bureau last night made the following forecast:

For Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia—Fair, continued cold Tuesday and Wednesday; fresh northwesterly to northerly winds.

WEATHER EXTREMELY SEVERE.

Cold Wave Strikes Chicago—Suffering in Northwest.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Chicago is struggling under the biting blasts of a cold wave that arrived Sunday night, the offshoot of the blizzard that has been raging in the northwest. In 24 hours the temperature fell 46 degrees, having touched 8 degrees below zero yesterday.

All the northwest is suffering from the extremely cold weather, 10 to 20 degrees below zero, which cover all the upper lake region and the region of the Mississippi valley with zero temperatures.

HENRY TO DINE THE WHITES.

Doubts in Berlin as to Whether the President Would Accept a Gift From the Emperor.

It appears uncertain whether President.

PLENTY OF PROOF

From People You Know—From East Liverpool Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced in the face of evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of East Liverpool, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

Mr. P. J. Green, veterinary surgeon, says: "When attending a sick horse belonging to Mr. G. H. Gardiner, of 163 Jackson street, he remarked to me that the horse seemed to be in pain. I replied that I was the sicker of the two, as I could at that time scarcely straighten up with my back from lameness, weakness and severe pains. He asked me what my symptoms were and I explained to him that I had suffered for a number of years from my kidneys, that I had attacks at times when nothing helped me, and it was agony to get around, but that I could not endure idleness. The secretions from the kidneys were very high colored and acidulous; that I had spells of dizziness when I could see black specks floating before my eyes and felt generally broken up. He looked up and said he had the very thing I needed to cure me in his house—Doan's Kidney Pills. He went into the house and brought me eight pills. I took them with me and I used them two at a dose. The effect was astonishing. I felt it almost at once, and went to the W. & W. pharmacy and bought a box and took them. The encouragement held out to me by the first eight pills was not mythical, as by their continued use the improvement continued and I consider no expression of praise too strong for Doan's Kidney Pills; in short, they are no plus ultra."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

THESE CITIZENS ARE LOOKING FOR A MAN WHO VOTED ILLEGALLY. CAN YOU AID THEM TO FIND HIM?

cent Roosevelt will accept a present from Emperor William, owing to the traditional belief that the presidents of the United States ought not to accept gifts from abroad. A court official, talking of this matter, alluded to the king of Spain, who had given General Washington two jacks and a jennet, from which some of the best mule stock in America had descended. An American, with whom this official was talking, replied that General Grant had caused a tremendous amount of disapprobation in the United States by accepting a dog from an American.

If President Roosevelt accepts this present, the character of which is as yet secret, it will probably be deposited in the Smithsonian institution, or accepted pending congressional approval. It is understood here that inquiries are being made in Washington concerning the inclinations of President Roosevelt, an, that no present will be offered if it is intimated that it must be declined.

The conservative journals here have been singularly silent over the visit of Prince Henry, which the old aristocracy looks upon coldly.

ARMY OFFICERS ARE ATTACKED

Severely Condemned by Some Senators For Criticizing Utterances in Senate and Elsewhere.

Washington, Jan. 28.—An animated and prolonged discussion was precipitated in the senate yesterday over the right of army officers to criticize utterances made in the senate or elsewhere on the conduct of affairs in the Philippines.

At times it became somewhat acrimonious, officers in the Philippines being taken sharply to task for statements attributed to them in dispatches from Manila.

Rising to a question of privilege early in the session, Mr. DuBois, of Idaho, had read an Associated Press dispatch from Manila, in which General Wheaton was quoted as criticizing some utterances of Prof. Schurman in a speech delivered in Boston. Mr. DuBois thought the president, in the circumstance, would be warranted in reprimanding General Wheaton for his criticisms. He declared that such comment upon the action of the senate was "outrageous and indecent," and that the minority had had quite enough of threats and black-mail.

The debate, thus precipitated, took a wide range. Mr. Lodge, of Massachusetts; Mr. Spooner, of Wisconsin, and others maintained that no newspaper utterance ought to be accepted as the basis of a reprimand of any officer unless it was supported by an investigation indicating the accuracy of the report.

Rising to speak to the pending question, Mr. Money, of Mississippi, delivered an extended speech, in the course of which he went pretty thoroughly over the whole Philippine question.

Mr. Platt, of Connecticut, took sharp issue with the Mississippi senator on some of his conclusions of constitutional law, contending that the United States could not be expected to grant independence to the Philippines and to relinquish all rights in the islands merely because of the natives' desire for liberty.

CHINESE EXCLUSION HEARING

Federation of Labor Representatives Among Those Before Committee.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The senate committee on immigration Monday continued its hearings on the subject of Chinese exclusion. The time was taken up by the representatives of the Federation of Labor and of the state of California, who submitted arguments in the nature of a reply to Hon. John W. Foster, who spoke last week before the committee in opposition to the pending measure.

E. J. Livernash, of California, declared that the Chinese population of the Philippines is in excess of that of the state of California, and that a protection such as the policy of Chinese exclusion expresses is necessary for the preservation of the welfare of our laboring class and the promotion of occidental rather than oriental civilization. He was not unmindful, he said, of the difficulties attending the restriction of Chinese from going into the Philippines, Hawaii or Porto Rico, and from there to the United States, but they arise because of our attempt to treat the Philippine islands as domestic for some purposes and as foreign for others.

TO ENFORCE ELECTION LAWS.

Southern Republicans Take Steps to Have Measure Framed.

Washington, Jan. 28.—At a caucus last night of southern Republicans in congress steps were taken looking to the preparation of a measure to be introduced in both houses, comprising an amalgamation of the best features of the bills already presented in the house by Messrs. Bartholdt, of Missouri, and Gibson, of Tennessee, for the enforcement of the election laws.

There was some discussion of the Crumpacker bill, which reduces the congressional representation in the south on the basis of the vote cast at elections, but the sentiment of nearly all the members present was against it. In its stead the southern Republicans will offer the measure agreed on last night. There were present at the meeting, in addition to Senator Pritchard, Senator Elkins, and Representatives Bartholdt, Gibson, of Tennessee; Boreing, of Kentucky; Moody, of North Carolina; Gaines, of West Virginia; Davenport, of West Virginia, and Ball, of Delaware.

Some Work of the House.

Washington, an. 28.—The house yesterday adopted a resolution calling for documents relating to the old training ship Vermont, which was placed out of commission last summer, and also passed a bill to provide for the compulsory attendance of witnesses before juries and receivers of the general land office. A bill to appropriate $100,000 for establishing homes for the teaching of articulate speech to deaf children was defeated. The house adjourned yesterday until Wednesday.

MORAL CONDITIONS IMPROVED.

Rev. Hazlett Reports on Philippines. Seriously Accuses Officers in Jolo.

Colorado Springs, Colo., an. 28.—Rev. A. L. Hazlett, of Colorado City in his report to the war department on moral conditions in the Philippines, states that these conditions have improved materially since American occupation began.

Of the saloon, he said the strict discipline put in operation by General Otis had borne fruit and a law to prohibit gambling had also been made effective recently. Mr. Hazlett makes the following recommendations:

First—A government appropriation for soldiers' institutes and the non-alcoholic features of the post exchange systems.

Second—A general order prohibiting the sale of vino to soldiers.

Third—The investigation of the charges against officers at Jolo, charged, and I believe justly, with maintaining houses of ill fame, without knowledge of the war department and contrary to army regulations.

ROCKEFELLER'S STOMACH.

Obliged to Live on Bread and Milk but Worth Over $200,000,000.

Blood Wine Effects Interesting Cure of Dyspepsia.

Few people know that the Standard Oil King, whose wealth is so great that he can't count it, but estimated to be somewhere between two and three hundred millions, has been troubled for years with a serious derangement of the digestive organs, and while he could live on the best of the markets of the world produced he has been compelled to eke out an existence on bread and milk. His case has recently been brought before the attention of the proprietors of "Blood Wine," who after a careful study of his trouble decided that their remedy would help him; and several bottles have just been shipped to the multi-millionaire. If Mr. Rockefeller takes "Blood Wine" as directed by the chemist, whose skill figured prominently in compounding this splendid remedy, we shall undoubtedly hear of his normal functions being restored.

THE FATAL QUARREL

HOW THOMAS LAWRENCE WAS KILLED AT ALTONA, ILL.

Proprietor of a Store Attempted to Put Him Out And Then Shot Him.

Concerning the killing of Thomas Lawrence, formerly of this county, at Altona, Ill., particulars of which were given exclusively in these columns yesterday, a copy of the Altona Record, received in this city today, gives a very full account. Lawrence was 28 years of age, a genial young man of much promise. He spent his boyhood in Altona, and afterward returned to Ohio where he remained several years, returning to Altona about eight years ago. He leaves a wife and three children.

His slayer, Thomas McLain, was found by the coroner's jury to have fired the fatal shots and is now in jail at Galesburg.

According to the Altona paper, the tragedy took place in the grocery store of Haptonstall & McLain, following an auction sale of goods. After the sale was over in the evening Lawrence and a man named Schmidt came in and bought a can of shrimps, which they proceeded to eat at the counter, back of which was McLain, counting up the day's receipts. Lawrence pushed a pair of scales about, to which McLain objected, and finally pushed him away, and told him he would put him out of the store if he did not desist. Lawrence told McLain he could not put him out.

The men clinched and McLain got Lawrence down on the floor. As the two were on the floor Schmidt stepped up and hit McLain several times with his fist. McLain got away after tearing his clothes considerably, and as he raised up and started to the end of the store Schmidt threw the can of shrimps at him. McLain went to a drawer and got a revolver, saying: "Now, get out of here, or I will shoot you." At this all but Lawrence left the store.

The shooting followed and Lawrence was shot twice in the left side. He died at 9:30 the next night.

IN THE FOURTH WARD

CRISS McCONNELL A STRONG CANDIDATE FOR COUNCIL.

A Prominent Republican, a Member of Trades Council And a Citizen of High Standing.

Not because of any political aspiration, but owing to the solicitations of his friends who have confidence in his ability to represent their interests, Criss McConnell has consented to become a candidate for council from the Fourth ward. His announcement appears elsewhere in these columns.

Mr. McConnell is too well known to the people of East Liverpool, and especially to the voters of his ward, to need any introduction. Though having never held any local political office, he has for years been prominently identified with the Republican party and has taken an active part in politics.

His ability to serve in council is one of the strong points in favor of his election. His experience in newspaper work has kept him in immediate touch with all municipal affairs, and thus has he been enabled to acquire a knowledge of the inside workings of the councilmanic body which new candidates seldom have.

Aside from his qualifications to ably fill the office, Mr. McConnell's connection with labor organizations has placed him in a prominent position before the public. He has been a foremost member of the Trades and Labor Council ever since the inception of that organization, and has at all times lent a helping hand to the cause of labor.

His reputation for honesty and integrity need not be touched on. It was those of his acquaintances who knew him best that induced him to become a candidate, and this fact is too significant to need elaboration. Having proven in all his dealing during his connection with local politics that he has had the interests of the city at heart, those of the voters of the Fourth ward have the positive assurance that his election shall mean much to them, and that their interests shall have much-needed consideration. 23-h

FOR CONSTABLE

C. W. POWELL WILL BE A CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE.

He Has Made a Good Record During His Present First Term.

C. W. Powell announces to the people of East Liverpool that he will be a candidate for constable. Mr. Powell is now serving his first term, and has proved a valuable and efficient officer, always attending promptly to any and all matters entrusted to his care.

He is a staunch Republican and takes an active part in the affairs of the party in both city and state elections.

If any of our present officials are deserving of a second term, it is certainly Mr. Powell, as there is no one who can present a better record, or has attended more strictly to their duties than he. His many friends confidently assert that his re-election at the coming primaries is assured. 23-h

BLUNDERS IN FICTION

ASTRONOMICAL BULLS THAT LIVE IN PROSE AND POETRY.

Hall Caine's Wonderful Night, Dickens' Stationary Star, Rider Haggard's Wonderful Eclipse and Coleridge's Impossible Crescent.

It is curious to note in how many instances strange astronomical errors appear in works of fiction quite unnecessary to the requirements of the story and resulting apparently from sheer lack of observation. As a modern example of such gratuitous blundering take a piece of description from Mr. Hall Caine's "Scapegoat": "It was a wonderful night. The moon, which was in its first quarter, was still low in the east, but the stars were thick overhead." A wonderful night, indeed! And strange that such a lover of nature as Mr. Hall Caine should not have reflected that when the moon in its first quarter is low in the east it is broad daylight, with the sun high in the heavens!

Nevertheless on this point he erred in good company. The young moon has proved a stumbling block to many a writer who has attempted to introduce it as a picturesque adjunct to his description of evening.

In Dickens' "Our Mutual Friend" Eugene Wrayburn, in his walk along the river bank, finds it has just risen when "the stars were beginning to shine in the sky, from which the tones of red and yellow were flickering." Dickens, in truth, was sublimely superior to astronomical niceties, especially when they in any way interfered with the artistic effect of his stories. In his "Child's Dream of a Star" the point turns upon one special star, "larger and more beautiful than the rest," which always came out every night in one particular place and at one particular time, thereby behaving as no star has ever conceivably been known to do. This is undoubtedly taking a liberty with the solar system, but it is small indeed compared with the license sometimes claimed by authors desirous of calling in the aid of astronomy to assist their plots, but who are either insufficiently acquainted with their subject or count it no sin to twist and convert facts to suit their requirements.

A very famous and noteworthy instance of this is afforded in Rider Haggard's "King Solomon's Mines," where the phenomenon of a total solar eclipse is employed with most happy and dramatic effect as far as the story is concerned, but with a perfect disregard of astronomical details which in its audacity is almost startling. Here, again, as in so many other cases, the difficulty of the young moon comes in, and the sun has scarcely set before the "fine crescent" rises in the east. Within a wonderfully short space of time after this curious event the moon is full, and only a day later the total eclipse of the sun takes place, despite the astronomical fact that it is at "no moon" (or, more accurately speaking, the last few seconds of the old moon and the first few seconds of the new) that a total solar eclipse alone is possible.

But perhaps the most interesting feature of this altogether remarkable eclipse is that the total darkness lasts for nearly an hour. Alas, under the rarest and most favorable conditions, seven minutes alone is the utmost limit of time during which the sun's face is totally obscured, and the observer under ordinary circumstances counts himself lucky if he is rewarded for a journey of some thousands of miles by an uninterrupted view of the corona for three minutes, two or even less.

Some years ago one of the magazines contained a story called "The Portent," the motif of which was a certain strange seeming in the heavens which, whenever it appeared, boded ill to a particular family. This prophetic sign was none other than the appearance of the crescent moon with a star between the two horns. Nor was this a particularly novel idea, for it will be remembered that in Coleridge's "Ancient Mariner" that voracious seaman relates how at one period of his adventures there rose

The horned moon, with one bright star
Within the nether tip.

In a purely miraculous and fanciful creation like this famous poem it would be ridiculous to cavil at such a detail, though in the case of the story it might well be questioned how the star could manage to appear in such a position. We may perhaps refer to the line in "The Burial of Sir John Moore" where the great soldier is represented as being interred "by the struggling moonbeam's misty light," whereas, as a matter of fact, the moon was but a day old at the time of the battle of Coruna and therefore invisible. This seems like hypercriticism, especially in a poem that lays no claim to astronomical accuracy.

The case is different when an author deliberately makes a statement which he intends shall be believed. In "Innocents Abroad" Mark Twain draws special notice to the point that on the voyage across the Atlantic they observed the full moon located just in the same spot in the heavens at the same hour every night. He accounts for this by the motion of the ship, which gained enough every day to keep up with the moon, but he seemingly forgot that, though for this reason the position of the moon might not greatly alter, her phase certainly would, so that it could not have been the full moon which was visible night after night.—London Standard.

Wheels.

The earliest mention of wheels in the Bible is in Exodus xiv, 25, when the chariot wheels of the Egyptians were taken off by the Lord. But chariots are mentioned in Genesis xii, 43. But there were older nations than the Egyptians. The Chaldeans used chariots, and the Greeks—Homer's poems date from about 900 B. C.—had chariots at the siege of Troy, 1500 B. C. Probably in reality the wheel is about as early a piece of machinery as any now existing. Of course it has been developed, but the bicycle wheel of today is a lineal descendant of the section of a log of wood used by the agricultural peoples thousands of years ago.

THE FATAL QUARREL

HOW THOMAS LAWRENCE WAS KILLED AT ALTONA, ILL.

Proprietor of a Store Attempted to Put Him Out And Then Shot Him.

Concerning the killing of Thomas Lawrence, formerly of this county, at Altona, Ill., particulars of which were given exclusively in these columns yesterday, a copy of the Altona Record, received in this city today, gives a very full account. Lawrence was 28 years of age, a genial young man of much promise. He spent his boyhood in Altona, and afterward returned to Ohio where he remained several years, returning to Altona about eight years ago. He leaves a wife and three children.

His slayer, Thomas McLain, was found by the coroner's jury to have fired the fatal shots and is now in jail at Galesburg.

According to the Altona paper, the tragedy took place in the grocery store of Haptonstall & McLain, following an auction sale of goods. After the sale was over in the evening Lawrence and a man named Schmidt came in and bought a can of shrimps, which they proceeded to eat at the counter, back of which was McLain, counting up the day's receipts. Lawrence pushed a pair of scales about, to which McLain objected, and finally pushed him away, and told him he would put him out of the store if he did not desist. Lawrence told McLain he could not put him out.

The men clinched and McLain got Lawrence down on the floor. As the two were on the floor Schmidt stepped up and hit McLain several times with his fist. McLain got away after tearing his clothes considerably, and as he raised up and started to the end of the store Schmidt threw the can of shrimps at him. McLain went to a drawer and got a revolver, saying: "Now, get out of here, or I will shoot you." At this all but Lawrence left the store.

The shooting followed and Lawrence was shot twice in the left side. He died at 9:30 the next night.

IN THE FOURTH WARD

A Prominent Republican, a Member of Trades Council And a Citizen of High Standing.

Not because of any political aspiration, but owing to the solicitations of his friends who have confidence in his ability to represent their interests, Criss McConnell has consented to become a candidate for council from the Fourth ward. His announcement appears elsewhere in these columns.

Mr. McConnell is too well known to the people of East Liverpool, and especially to the voters of his ward, to need any introduction. Though having never held any local political office, he has for years been prominently identified with the Republican party and has taken an active part in politics.

His ability to serve in council is one of the strong points in favor of his election. His experience in newspaper work has kept him in immediate touch with all municipal affairs, and thus has he been enabled to acquire a knowledge of the inside workings of the councilmanic body which new candidates seldom have.

Aside from his qualifications to ably fill the office, Mr. McConnell's connection with labor organizations has placed him in a prominent position before the public. He has been a foremost member of the Trades and Labor Council ever since the inception of that organization, and has at all times lent a helping hand to the cause of labor.

His reputation for honesty and integrity need not be touched on. It was those of his acquaintances who knew him best that induced him to become a candidate, and this fact is too significant to need elaboration. Having proven in all his dealing during his connection with local politics that he has had the interests of the city at heart, those of the voters of the Fourth ward have the positive assurance that his election shall mean much to them, and that their interests shall have much-needed consideration. 23-h

C. W. POWELL WILL BE A CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE.

He Has Made a Good Record During His Present First Term.

C. W. Powell announces to the people of East Liverpool that he will be a candidate for constable. Mr. Powell is now serving his first term, and has proved a valuable and efficient officer, always attending promptly to any and all matters entrusted to his care.

He is a staunch Republican and takes an active part in the affairs of the party in both city and state elections.

If any of our present officials are deserving of a second term, it is certainly Mr. Powell, as there is no one who can present a better record, or has attended more strictly to their duties than he. His many friends confidently assert that his re-election at the coming primaries is assured. 23-h

Hall Caine's Wonderful Night, Dickens' Stationary Star, Rider Haggard's Wonderful Eclipse and Coleridge's Impossible Crescent.

It is curious to note in how many instances strange astronomical errors appear in works of fiction quite unnecessary to the requirements of the story and resulting apparently from sheer lack of observation. As a modern example of such gratuitous blundering take a piece of description from Mr. Hall Caine's "Scapegoat": "It was a wonderful night. The moon, which was in its first quarter, was still low in the east, but the stars were thick overhead." A wonderful night, indeed! And strange that such a lover of nature as Mr. Hall Caine should not have reflected that when the moon in its first quarter is low in the east it is broad daylight, with the sun high in the heavens!

Nevertheless on this point he erred in good company. The young moon has proved a stumbling block to many a writer who has attempted to introduce it as a picturesque adjunct to his description of evening.

In Dickens' "Our Mutual Friend" Eugene Wrayburn, in his walk along the river bank, finds it has just risen when "the stars were beginning to shine in the sky, from which the tones of red and yellow were flickering." Dickens, in truth, was sublimely superior to astronomical niceties, especially when they in any way interfered with the artistic effect of his stories. In his "Child's Dream of a Star" the point turns upon one special star, "larger and more beautiful than the rest," which always came out every night in one particular place and at one particular time, thereby behaving as no star has ever conceivably been known to do. This is undoubtedly taking a liberty with the solar system, but it is small indeed compared with the license sometimes claimed by authors desirous of calling in the aid of astronomy to assist their plots, but who are either insufficiently acquainted with their subject or count it no sin to twist and convert facts to suit their requirements.

A very famous and noteworthy instance of this is afforded in Rider Haggard's "King Solomon's Mines," where the phenomenon of a total solar eclipse is employed with most happy and dramatic effect as far as the story is concerned, but with a perfect disregard of astronomical details which in its audacity is almost startling. Here, again, as in so many other cases, the difficulty of the young moon comes in, and the sun has scarcely set before the "fine crescent" rises in the east. Within a wonderfully short space of time after this curious event the moon is full, and only a day later the total eclipse of the sun takes place, despite the astronomical fact that it is at "no moon" (or, more accurately speaking, the last few seconds of the old moon and the first few seconds of the new) that a total solar eclipse alone is possible.

But perhaps the most interesting feature of this altogether remarkable eclipse is that the total darkness lasts for nearly an hour. Alas, under the rarest and most favorable conditions, seven minutes alone is the utmost limit of time during which the sun's face is totally obscured, and the observer under ordinary circumstances counts himself lucky if he is rewarded for a journey of some thousands of miles by an uninterrupted view of the corona for three minutes, two or even less.

Some years ago one of the magazines contained a story called "The Portent," the motif of which was a certain strange seeming in the heavens which, whenever it appeared, boded ill to a particular family. This prophetic sign was none other than the appearance of the crescent moon with a star between the two horns. Nor was this a particularly novel idea, for it will be remembered that in Coleridge's "Ancient Mariner" that voracious seaman relates how at one period of his adventures there rose

The horned moon, with one bright star
Within the nether tip.

In a purely miraculous and fanciful creation like this famous poem it would be ridiculous to cavil at such a detail, though in the case of the story it might well be questioned how the star could manage to appear in such a position. We may perhaps refer to the line in "The Burial of Sir John Moore" where the great soldier is represented as being interred "by the struggling moonbeam's misty light," whereas, as a matter of fact, the moon was but a day old at the time of the battle of Coruna and therefore invisible. This seems like hypercriticism, especially in a poem that lays no claim to astronomical accuracy. The case is different when an author deliberately makes a statement which he intends shall be believed. In "Innocents Abroad" Mark Twain draws special notice to the point that on the voyage across the Atlantic they observed the full moon located just in the same spot in the heavens at the same hour every night. He accounts for this by the motion of the ship, which gained enough every day to keep up with the moon, but he seemingly forgot that, though for this reason the position of the moon might not greatly alter, her phase certainly would, so that it could not have been the full moon which was visible night after night.—London Standard.

Wheels.

The earliest mention of wheels in the Bible is in Exodus xiv, 25, when the chariot wheels of the Egyptians were taken off by the Lord. But chariots are mentioned in Genesis xii, 43. But there were older nations than the Egyptians. The Chaldeans used chariots, and the Greeks—Homer's poems date from about 900 B. C.—had chariots at the siege of Troy, 1500 B. C. Probably in reality the wheel is about as early a piece of machinery as any now existing. Of course it has been developed, but the bicycle wheel of today is a lineal descendant of the section of a log of wood used by the agricultural peoples thousands of years ago.

19TH YEAR. NO. 23.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1902.

TWO CENTS.

SENATOR CONNELL NAMED AS MASTER COMMISSIONER

To Take Part in Important
Railroad
Matters.

THE CASE OF OSCAR BIRCH

St. Clair Township Has At Last Reached the Ohio Supreme Court.

A DISPUTE ABOUT A TEACHER

Which Has Already Been Heard in Lower Courts — Representative
Crist Preparing a Tax Bill—Buell
Wants to Encourage Manufacturers

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, January 28.—State Senator C. C. Connell, of Lisbon, has been appointed master commissioner by the supreme court to take testimony in

the case of Ohio on relation of Conrad C. Fennell, auditor of Tuscarawas

county, against the auditors of Colum-
biana, Stark, Jefferson, Belmont, Sum-

mit, Portage, Cuyahoga, Mahoning and Carroll counties. The suit, as has been

stated before, was brought to compel
a redistribution of the valuation of the

rolling stock of the C. & P. Railroad
company. Auditor Fennell claims

that the appraisement as made de-
prives his county of its pro rata share

of the taxation. After the case was filed in the supreme court error was discovered in the report of the proceedings of the appraisement board,

which is composed of the auditors of
the counties mentioned, and the appointment of a master commissioner

was ordered by the court to take evidence to clear up the defect in the

record. The appointment of Senator
Connell was made upon the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney

Brookes, of Columbiana county.

The case of Ohio on relation of Os-
car Birch against Frank Clapsaddle,

Newton F. Moore and J. M. Kenney
of sub-directors of school district No.

2, in St. Clair township, Columbiana
county, has reached the supreme court

in error to the circuit and common
pleas courts of Columbiana county.

Birch is a resident and taxpayer of
St. Clair township and has six children of school age, whom, he alleges,

were deprived of a term of school be-

cause of a refusal upon the part of
the board to confirm the appointment

of one Crofts as a teacher after he
had been regularly selected for the

position. Birch brought proceedings
in mandamus against the board in

both the circuit and common pleas
courts to compel Crofts' appointment,

but in each instance the decision was
against him. The board denies all

the allegations of the relator and declares it did appoint a teacher in the

regular way. Birch is represented
by Judge P. M. Smith and W. F. Jones,

of Wellsville, while Potts & Moore,
of Lisbon, are the attorneys for the

board.

Representative Buell proposes to
protect the interests of the manufacture in the matter of taxation. While

he is in favor of taxation reforms, he

does not believe in saddling more
taxes than is necessary upon the

manufacturers, taking the ground that
their factories are valuable acqui-

sitions to any community and he pro-
poses to encourage, rather than dis-

courage the growth of industries. Several of the measures which have been

submitted provide for the placing of
a tax upon the capital stock of each

corporation. Mr. Buell counsels conservative action along this line. While

he intends to look after the manufacturers, he wishes it understood that

he will likewise labor just as inde-
fatigably for the protection and bet-

provides for the printing of 2,000 copies of the roster containing a list of
committees, together with the names
and addresses of the members of the general assembly.

A resolution favoring the selection
of United States senators by a vote
of the people made its appearance in
the house yesterday afternoon. It
was submitted by Representative
Carle, of Seneca, and provides that
the general assembly of the state of Ohio shall make application to congress, under the provision of article
5 of the constitution of the United States, for the calling of a convention
to propose an amendment to the constitution of the United States, making United States senators elective in the
several states by a direct vote of the
people. A bill by Mr. Guerin, of Erie,
abolishes one of the positions of oil
inspector, of which there are two, and
fixes the salary of the inspector at $3-000. The income of each oil inspector is said to approximate $16,000
per annum. Most of these comes from fees.

HORSES' MAD FLIGHT

CAUSED MUCH EXCITEMENT ON
MARKET STREET.

Team Belonging to the S. G. Hard
Company Took Lively Sprint.
Without a Driver.

A team of horses attached to one
of the delivery wagons of the S. G.
Hard company's store, took a lively
sprint shortly before noon today and
caused considerable excitement.

The animals were standing in front
of the store, when both took advantage of the driver's absence and started to run. At the corner of Fifth
and Market streets they wheeled suddenly to the left and started toward
the river. One of the horses fell, but escaped injury and was soon again
on its feet.

At furious speed the fugitives made
their way down Market street, and
across the railroad to the river's edge.
Some skiffs which had been anchored
at the foot of the street checked the
horses and both stopped before getting into the water.

They were soon captured and driven back to the store. Neither was hurt and the wagon also escaped damage.

ture Very Close to Zero.
River Rising.

It was not the coldest night of the winter, but it was cold enough. At 7 o'clock this morning, thermometers indicated 4 to 6 degrees above zero in
different portions of the city.

The river is full of floating ice,
which started out of the Monongahela
before the cold wave arrived. There
has been a rise of six to seven feet
since yesterday, and the stage is 10
feet and rising.

Mayor Davidson Receives a Letter
From the Father of
James Christie.

A letter was received yesterday by Mayor Davidson from William Christie
at Paisley, Scotland, father of James
Christie, who met death in the memorable Calcutta road street car accident a little more than a year ago.

The writer asked that a certificate
of his son's death be sent him, but inquiry developed the fact that Dr. Og-
den had long ago sent the desired
document to the dead man's parent.
It had evidently been delayed in the
mails, and Mayor Davidson in his letter of reply stated that another would
be forwarded in case the belated certificate was not forthcoming.

A LARGE CROWD IS EXPECTED

MEMORIAL MEETING.

Donors of $1 or More to the Monument Fund Will Receive En-
graved Certificates.

There is every prospect that the McKinley day services at the opera
house tomorrow afternoon will be
largely attended. While no general
suspension of business is probable,
there appears to be no doubt that the
opera house will be filled. The East Liverpool Poteries company will close all its plants, and some other
potteries will suspend operations for
the afternoon.

Collection envelopes are being prepared to be used at the meeting. It is important that the names of all
donors to the monument fund be placed on or in these envelopes, as a
record will be kept and the names
forwarded to the headquarters of the McKinley Memorial association. All
who donate $1 or more are entitled
to receive a handsomely engraved certificate, setting forth the fact that
they have made such a donation.

Excellent music will be provided
and the speeches will doubtless be
both impressive and eloquent.

D. E. McNicol Pottery Invokes Aid

Money Due.

A judgment for $17 was rendered in Justice McCarron's court yesterday
afternoon against E. S. Scott in favor
of the D. E. McNicol pottery company, and in order to satisfy the claim
Constable Powell attached 10 baskets
of pottery ware in the possession of Scott.

The defendant's mother later appeared in court, claiming that she was
the owner of the ware and that her
son was simply acting as her agent.
However, an indemnifying bond was
furnished by the pottery company and
the constable instructed to sell the
goods levied on.

This Season.

"Winnie" Mercer, treasurer of the

contract sent him.

The position of manager captain and
an interest in the profits of the Sac-

Pittsburgh, January 28.—Judge Buf-

cision in the United States circuit
court yesterday that will affect the

telephone business throughout the United States.

The opinion, which was concurred
in by Judge Acheson, finds that the
John J. Carty patent, which the American Bell Telephone company has relied upon to give it a monopoly of the
party line service in the rural districts, is invalid.

The Western Electric company first
commenced the litigation on this patent in 1897, bringing suit against the Millheim Electric company for infringement. The Carty patent was sustained in decisions by the local circuit
court and later by the United States
court of appeals. A few months ago
the Western Electric company, backed
by its former decision, entered suit
against the Anthracite Telephone company at Williamsport.

"Jabbers" Hoskins Under Arrest,
Charged With Having Confiscated a Woman's Money.

"Jabbers" Hoskins is in jail, charged
with having confiscated $11 belonging
to Mrs. Narcissa Jackman, of the North Side. Hoskins found a pocketbook on
an uptown street a few days ago,
which, it is said, he was told belonged
to Mrs. Jackman.

According to the claims of two boys,
who informed Mrs. Jackman that Hos-
kins had her purse, he gave them one
dollar each as "hush" money. The lads gave the money to Mrs. Jackman
and she then reported the case to Mayor Davidson, who ordered Hoskin's
arrest.

He at first claimed to have turned
the purse over to another woman who
claimed it, but late this afternoon
pleaded guilty to petit larceny.

Mrs. Jackman agreed to withdraw
the charge if Hoskins pays back the
money. He is making an effort to raise the amount.

Niles' Kilnmen's
Grievances.

The meeting of the joint arbitration
board, which was to have been held in
the potters' club this evening, has been postponed. An important meeting of
the manufacturers is slated for this
evening, and the joint committee will
get together tomorrow evening.

One of the most important matters
to be taken up by the board is a dispute
in the buscuit kiln department at
the Niles pottery. When the shop
committee failed in their efforts to
adjust the difference, President Hughes
was summoned. It was found impossible to make the points clear to the
firm, and it must go before the arbitration board.

Instituted by Secretary Duffy, Includes
Many Branches of Pottery
Trade.

National Secretary T. J. Duffy, of
the Brotherhood, instituted a branch
of that organization at Sebring last
night. The local is composed of kiln-
men, saggermakers, dippers, oddmen
and kilndrawers, and starts off with
a membership of about 70. After the meeting a very enjoyable entertainment was held. Mr. Duffy returned
to the city at noon today.

Carpenters, Following Other
Craftsmen, Present Demand
For an Increase.

THEY WANT $3.00 PER DAY

Stone Cutters Will Ask $4 For
Eight Hours and Plasterers
Seek a Raise.

THE SCALE IN EFFECT APRIL 1

Will Be Much Higher if the Various Demands Are Granted—Contractors Say the Cost of Building Will Be Increased in the Spring.

With possibly two exceptions every
building trade in this city will make
demands of some sort before the
spring work begins the first day of April.

It will be remembered the bricklay-
ers and plumbers had their requests
granted one year ago, and will not
be included among the trades seeking better conditions. A number of
the branches have already acquainted
the contractors with the extent of the
raise desired, and have met with no
refusals.

The contractors, in a majority of
cases, were anxious to have the matter settled in order that intelligent
bids might be made upon work to be
started early in the spring.

The stonemasons of the city prepared a scale of prices providing for 45 cents per hour, and eight hours
for the day. They formerly received 39 cents and worked nine hours. The change will make an increase in the
pay with shorter hours. The bosses
agreed to the new scale at once, and
it will become operative when the
work opens up.

The carpenters' union has laid a
proposition before the contractors
asking an advance of 25 cents per day
with the same hours that formerly
prevailed. The old scale called for $2.75 and nine hours. No decision has been reached by the employers, but
it is expected an answer will be given
within a short time. The new scale
is to go into effect April 1.

The stone cutters, who have a separate organization from that of the
stone masons, have been receiving $3.60 for a nine-hour day, and it is
said they will ask $4 and eight hours.

The dispute between the plasterers
and lathers have all been settled, and
the two trades are now working in harmony. Both are out for an increase and will likely get it. The
lathers have been receiving $2.10 per
thousand for their work, and are now
asking $2.25. The advance will amount to 50 cents on the day.

The plasterers would like an increase from $4 to $4.50 per day. They
are satisfied with the present hours.

The painters and paper hangers,
who got a few concessions a year ago,
will ask an increase this spring. They
have adopted the Pittsburgh scale and
it is said to be satisfactory to the
employers, and will become operative
April 1.

The action of the various trades
in asking better conditions will, according to statements made by contractors, raise the cost of building
materially.

DECALCOMANIA PLANT

New Concern at Akron Will Engage
in Business With $25,000
Capital.

The American Decalcomania company, of Akron, incorporated last
week with a capital stock of $25,000
has elected officers as follows: President, George L. Curtice; vice president, John Lessell; secretary, Will J.
Doran; treasurer, W. W. McIntosh;
superintendent, H. D. Snyder. The
officers and H. T. Wilson, John G. Ingalls and Eli Mengensdorf make up
the board of directors. The new concern will manufacture china, glass
and art tile decalcomania and decora-
tors' supplies.

It is said 90 per cent of the decal-
comania used here is imported, causing the potteries much delay because
they are unable to get decalcomania
on time. The new concern has already received orders from big potteries.

Jumped the Track.

The Horn switch pony engine jumped the track near the Buckeye po-
tery at noon today, necessitating the
help of the Wellsville wreck crew.

EAST END

AN IMMENSE BOILER

Being Placed in the East Liverpool Street Railway Power House.

Other Improvements.

Expert boiler setters from Pittsburg are now working at the power house of the East Liverpool Railway company, placing a 350 horse power boiler in position. This is the largest boiler in this section of the state, and soon two others will be installed.

So large are these boilers that additional space will have to be occupied. A large trench has been excavated on the east side of the present boiler room over which a building will be erected as soon as the boiler is in position. As soon as the change in the boilers is made the company will take some of the old green box cars off the road and in their place use the large double truck red cars. It will take about a month to make all the changes necessary to the placing of the new cars on the road.

IN AN INCUBATOR

A Tiny Child Now 10 Days Old Is Being Reared in the East End.

There is being raised in the East End a little child, which is just now 10 days old. If its life is spared the little one will have the distinction of being raised in an incubator, something that cannot be said just now of any other child in the city. This little child, when born, was almost dead, and through the timely thought of a physician, an incubator was hastily made, into which the child was placed.

In this the child is thriving, but very small. It is being carefully nursed, and just a short time ago it learned to cry. The child measures only a few inches around the waist.

An Enjoyable Evening.

Mrs. Warner, of Ohio avenue, and D. A. McIntosh pleasantly entertained a number of friends at their home last evening in honor of Rev. J. R. Greene and his visiting sisters, Mrs. Porter, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Davis. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock and later in the evening numerous friends of Mrs. Warner and Rev. Mr. Greene called. The evening was spent in singing, being enjoyable to all.

Will Wed This Evening.

At the residence of the bride's parents on Elizabeth avenue, East End, this evening, Miss Anna Martin and Edward Green will be married by Rev. George W. Orcutt, of the Second M. E. church. Miss Martin was formerly employed by the Smith & Phillips China company, while Mr. Green is a kilnman at the National pottery. The young couple will make their home in the East End.

Funeral Tomorrow.

The funeral services over the remains of Charles, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wright, of St. George street, who died yesterday morning, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. J. R. Greene will officiate, interment being made at Long Run cemetery.

Ben Hur Tribe Growing.

East End Tribe of Ben Hur will hold an important meeting in its rooms next Monday evening. Several applications for membership are expected to be presented at this meeting. This tribe has been growing rapidly since its organization, new members being admitted at almost every meeting.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

William McCormick will give an entertainment at the Second M. E. church this evening.

Charles Shaffer, of Morrow county, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Bert Hersher, of St. George street.

Ruby, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Reed, of Erie street, who has been ill with fever, is in a critical condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Park Herbert moved to the East End today from Seventh street. They will reside in their own home on St. George street.

Clell, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith, of St. George street, who has been ill with pneumonia for some time, is able to be out.

Samuel Calhoun, one of the young men who escaped drowning in the river one week ago last Sunday evening, is able to be out. He will resume his work soon.

A small chimney fire occurred last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Newton, at the corner of Fire alley and First avenue. The flames were extinguished with one Babcock.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church, will hold a special praise service in the church one week from this evening, when the annual thank offering for foreign missions will be received.

The East End street force are engaged in making a cinder walk on Michigan avenue in the Klondike section. The force has been employed several days on the improvement, but it will not be completed for some time.

Archie Searight, of Pennsylvania avenue, received a letter yesterday from his son, Frank Searight, who is now permanently located at Los Angeles. Mr. Searight stated he had called upon a number of East Liverpool people now in Los Angeles and found them all in the best of health.

DIED IN A KILN

Thomas McQuirk Met a Terrible Fate at a Brick Plant at Empire.

Toronto, January 28.—Thomas McQuirk, aged 46 years, was found dead in a kiln yesterday morning by workmen at the Standard brick works, near Empire. McQuirk was in Toronto on Saturday and was under the influence of liquor. Sunday night he was seen about the brick plant and entered a drawn kiln. He crawled upon a pile of warm bricks and falling asleep was suffocated by the poisonous gas.

When found the body was still warm, but the face was black, caused by choking or congestion of the blood. In a little chamomile skin bag tied with a string about the man's neck were found six one-dollar bills. In the pockets of his trousers were found 55 cents in change and a small memorandum book. Nothing is known of his family or relatives.

Doing Good.

A great deal of good is being done in all parts of the country by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good work, of aggravating and persistent coughs that have yielded to its soothing effects, of severe colds that have been broken up by its use, of threatened attacks of pneumonia that have been worded off and of dangerous cases of croup that it has cured. The great popularity and extensive sale of this preparation can not be a surprise to anyone who is acquainted with its good qualities. Use it when you have need of such a remedy and it will do you good. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

DISINFECTING A SHIP.

Moist Heat, a Thorough Germicidal Agent, Is Used.

When the vessel has tied up to the wharf in New Orleans the first step is the removal of the bedding, clothing and cushions and other cloth fabrics to the quarantine shed. Here they are hung on a framework consisting of a series of racks suspended from a long car running on a track and so arranged that when the racks are filled the whole thing may be run inside one of the three great disinfecting cylinders with which the station is equipped.

These cylinders are enormous steel boilers fifty feet in length by eight feet in diameter and fitted inside with continuous coils of steam pipe. The cylinders are covered with asbestos and swathed in felt, and when the cylinder caps are on they are airtight. When the clothing has been placed inside and the cylinders closed, dry heat is forced through the pipes at a temperature of 180 degrees, and this is followed by moist heat raised to a temperature of 230 degrees. The pressure of from six to eight pounds put upon this steam heat is sufficient to force it through heavy mattresses or bundles of clothing.

After a period which varies from thirty minutes to an hour the cylinders are opened, the racks are run out, and the rapid evaporation which follows causes the clothing to dry almost immediately. The clothing is unharmed by this process, and the moist heat is a thorough germicidal agent. It is an interesting fact that if a freshly laundered linen shirt or collar is put into the cylinder it will emerge thoroughly moist and apparently in need of another starching. The evaporation is so rapid, however, that it is immediately restored to its original condition, not even the gloss being removed.—Leslie's Monthly.

Origin of Word Gringo.

The word "gringo," which Mexicans apply to Americans when speaking of them with contempt, is said to have had its origin thus: During the Mexican war our soldiers got into the habit of calling the simple Mexican soldiers whom they took prisoners "greenies," to signify their ignorance of things in general and of military tactics especially. The Mexicans retaliated by calling the Americans "greenies," and this word finally degenerated into "gringos."

To families—Never be without Moffat's Life Pills. They are warranted to cure sick headache which comes from a disordered stomach.

Most persons consume more food than is required for the two great purposes subserved by it. These are, first, the repair of such bodily substance as may demand renewal, and, second, providing us with "energy," which is simply the power of doing work.

A man in this sense really resembles a locomotive. He has to make good the wear and tear of his machinery, and he has to supply coal and water in the shape of certain food elements in order to develop energy.

The argument of the physiologist is that many persons consume food far in excess of their actual needs. Naturally this accounts for many cases of obesity. If a man of forty-five or fifty will persist in taking as much nutriment as he did when he was thirty years old, he will probably pay for his excess in laying on a good deal of fat. This is especially likely to happen if he limits his exercise.

Whistling For Health.

Whistling as a health exercise is now advocated by German and Swedish professors of physical training. They say that great benefit results from a conscientious practice of the simple art. But they require a systematic and constant effort on the part of the beneficiary.

Drill schools have been formed where one of the chief exercises consists in lying flat, back downward, on a table and simply breathing and expelling air from the lungs with regularity and vigor.

As a method of prolonging life and strengthening the human frame against sickness whistling is said to be beyond compare. Development of chest and neck muscles is one of the special advantages claimed for the exercise. Long, deep breathing is an essential for a good whistler, as it is not permissible to draw in the breath except during the intervals of the sound production.

Fruits For Thirst.

Chemical analysis would assign practically no nutritive value to the juicy fruits, for they consist of little more than a cellulose envelope containing a solution of sugar. The amount of water in fruit is considerable. In water-melons it is no less than 95 per cent, in grapes 80 per cent, in oranges 86 per cent, in lemons 90 per cent, in pears 84 per cent, in plums 80 per cent, in nectarines 83 per cent and in strawberries 90 per cent, not a fruit in the whole category containing less than 80 per cent. The irresistible conclusion, considering these facts, is that fruit plays an important role in the diet as a thirst quencher.

Coal Mining in Italy.

The official statistics which have just been issued by the Italian ministry of agriculture and commerce show that in 1899 there were 30 coal mines in operation, while in 1900 there were 44, and the production in the latter year, both as regards tonnage and value, was the highest yet recorded in the Italian statistics. The output was 479,896 tons, valued at 3,542,355 francs, being an increase over the returns of 1899 in quantity of 91,000 tons and in value of 783,136 francs.

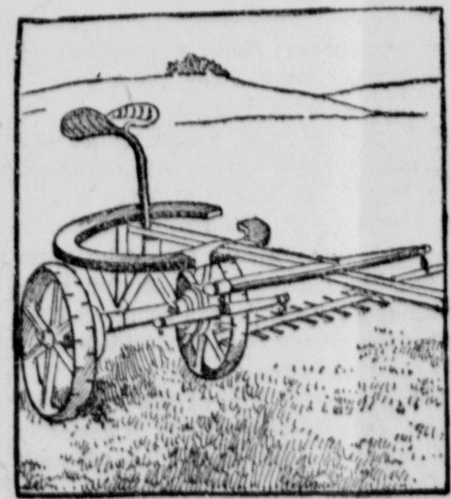

Copper Precipitation.

In an interesting article upon copper precipitation from the water drawn out of the famous mines of the Butte region of Montana Mining and Metallurgy of New York says that $4,000,000 is annually extracted from the mine water by means of precipitation.

It is well known that with the mowers and reapers now in use it is difficult to cut grass or grain which has been blown down by the wind and become lodged on the ground. The difficulty arises largely from the necessity of having to cut around the piece on all sides instead of doing all the cutting on the most convenient side.

To provide for this and at the same time have a machine which can be run back and forth on the same side of the field Niles S. Hindbjorgen of Hendricks, Minn., has designed a reversible mower, says the Philadelphia Times.

The tongue of the machine is pivoted at the center and by pulling a lever the pin which locks the tongue to the curved frame is drawn and the team may be swung around to pull the mower in the opposite direction. The cutter bar has a double set of knives, and the running gear works as well in one direction as the other.

The mower is also designed for use in large fields, where it is not desirable to cut clear around the field on account of its size.

Oil From the Porpoise.

The porpoises killed in winter are the fattest and produce most oil. The largest size measure about 7 feet in length, 5 feet in girth and weigh about 300 pounds. Such a porpoise yields from six to seven gallons of oil. The blubber of a big porpoise weighs about 100 pounds and is one and a half inches thick in summer and two in winter.

The jaws of the porpoise yield a superior quality of oil. When hung up in the sun, it readily drips away into cans provided for the purpose, the quantity of oil thus procured, however, being not more than half a pint to the jaw. The oil from the blubber gives an excellent light and is in demand along the coast for lighthouse use. It has no offensive odor.

Porpoise shooting is followed at all seasons and in all kinds of weather. On a calm summer's day the porpoise may be heard blowing a mile or two away. If you wound a porpoise and there are any sharks around, the shark is very apt to share your booty with you even if he doesn't devour it in toto.

He Was an Artist.

"The material," she said, "could be bought for £20, and surely the work of making up would be well paid with £5 more."

"Madame," replied the milliner in his loftiest manner, "go to M. Meissonier, the painter, and say to him: 'Here is a canvas, value a shilling, and here are colors, value 4 shillings. Paint me a picture with these colors on that canvas and I will pay you one and three pence.' What will he say? He will say, 'Madame, that is no payment for an artist.' I say more. I say, if you think my terms too high, pay me nothing and keep the robe. Art does not descend to the pettiness of the higgler."—London Tit-Bits.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. This you will do by selecting the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, "The Scenic Line of the World," and "The Great Salt Lake Route," in one or both directions, as this line has two separate routes across the Rocky mountains between Denver and Ogden. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. Dining cars (service a la carte) on all through trains. If you contemplate such a trip, let us send you beautifully illustrated pamphlets, free. S. K. Hocper, G. P. & T. A., Denver, Col. 7-tf-3-tf

DEAD NUMBER SIX.

Terrific Explosion In a Shaft of Rapid Transit Tunnel, In New York.

QUEST KILL A HOTEL.

Much Property Ruined or Damaged. Many Persons Killed and Abandoned and May Be Further Occurrences. Also Abandoned.

New York, Jan. 28.—The reserve supply of explosives stored at the Park Avenue shaft of the Rapid Transit tunnel, now in course of construction, blew up shortly after noon yesterday. The giant blast killed eight persons, injured a hundred others and seriously damaged all the property reached by the flying debris and the vibration of the shock. The irregular square formed by the Murray Hill hotel on the west, the Grand Union hotel on the east and the Grand Central railroad station on the north was the scene of the explosion. The buildings named sustained the greatest damage, but the area affected extended for several blocks in the four directions from the center.

The Dead.

Cyrus Adams, cigar man at the Murray Hill hotel.
James Carr, 32 years, a waiter employed at the Murray Hill hotel.
Lawrence Hine, 20 years old, Ansonia, Conn.
Roderick J. Robertson, of Nelson, R. C., a guest at the Murray Hill hotel.
Ralph Thompson, assistant engineer (all outside reports seem to agree as to his death, but his body is not reported by the police or by the hospitals).
Thomas Tubbs, master mechanic for Contractor Ira A. Shaler.
The list of injured is an exceedingly long one, but most of those in it have only cuts caused by flying glass. Those more seriously hurt and those from places other than New York city are:

The Injured.

Miss Best, 18, Newport, R. I., Murray Hill hotel, face and head cut.
Mrs. Best, 40, Newport, R. I., Murray Hill hotel, face and head cut.
William R. Bristol, 35, Meriden, Conn., Murray Hill hotel, face and head cut.
Walter R. Bristol, 50, Murray Hill hotel, concussion of brain, St. Vincent's hospital.
Mrs. James E. Bunting, Boston, face and hands cut.
Mr. Cummings, Troy, N. Y., hands, face and neck cut.
Mrs. Cummings, Troy, N. Y., face and hands cut.
George Chapin, Stamford, Conn., cut.
Charles Gaines, New York city, shoulder dislocated and many bruises.
J. C. Gilchrist, 45, Columbus, O., Murray Hill hotel, face and head cut.
Edward Judge, 719 South Third street, Philadelphia, cut about head.
E. M. Lewis, Lima, O., head and face cut.
W. J. Nok, 31, New York city, severe scalp wounds.
Mrs. Benjamin Moore, 35, Madison, N. J., Manhattan hospital, face and hands cut.
The Rev. Father Ryan, New England, head, face and arms cut.
Mrs. H. C. Scott, 40, Kingston, N. Y., face and head cut.
Jefferson Stanton, Bridgeport, Conn., shock and slight cuts on face.
John Wells, New York city, scalp wounds, concussion of brain and internal injuries.

Robertson Killed in a Hotel.

J. Roderick Robertson, of Nelson, R. C., was killed by debris hurled into his room at the Murray Hill hotel. He was general manager in Canada for the British Columbia Gold Fields company, limited, and a prominent citizen in the community where he lived. He was a Scotchman and left a widow and four children. He was said to have been quite wealthy.

The sunken approach to the street railway tunnel used by the Madison Avenue line cuts through Park Avenue and the shaft for the Rapid Transit sub-way was run down beside it at the intersection of East Forty-first street. The street railway approach was housed over by a superstructure used for the operating plant of the Rapid Transit contractors. Temporary buildings for storage purposes were tacked up against the superstructure at the mouth of the shaft, and there the explosion occurred. It tore a great gorge in the street, demolished the temporary buildings and part of the superstructure, and sent a mass of earth, splintered timber and twisted iron high in the air. Much of it went battering against the front of the Murray Hill hotel, and although the walls and main structure of that building stood the shock, nearly every room in the front of the house was wrecked. The Manhattan eye and ear hospital, on the east side of the avenue, faced nearly as bad and had to be abandoned by the management. The Grand Union hotel lost all of its windows and glass partitions, and practically every front window in the Grand Central station was shattered. The great clocks on its front towers were blown from their cases. Thousands of windows, some of them seven blocks from the tunnel shaft, fell in fragments. It was the shower

By Postmaster General HENRY C. PAYNE

THE whole tendency of the administration of the post-office department has been to seek to bring the cost of operation below the revenue and thus make the service self sustaining. When the service becomes self sustaining, it shall be a matter of much consideration to bring about a reduction of the postage.

Time of Occurrence Fortunate.

Fortunately the explosion occurred at the noon hour. Not more than a hundred persons were in the main waiting room of the Grand Central station, though in the smoking room at the southwest corner a number of men were lounging. Some of these were slightly injured by bits of glass. Four ticket sellers were injured. They stood in the pathway of this blast and were all cut about the heads and arms with flying slivers.

The electrical force in the executive offices of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, which occupy the floors above the first, in the eastern wing of the depot, were thrown about by the shock. A. T. Turner, a record clerk in Superintendent Shepard's office, was thrown from his chair and his hands were badly lacerated.

In the next room to Turner's Chief Dispatcher G. H. Wilson and his four assistants, who were directing the trains of the New Haven line, having several hundred trains to look out for, were scratched with flying glass, but did not leave their chairs, even when they could not see their instruments because of the smoke. One man, Foster, who was watching a single track strip in Connecticut, did not even get up to look at the ruins after the smoke cleared away.

General Alarm Sent In.

General alarms brought firemen, police reserves and every available ambulance to the district and the injured were speedily cared for. A majority of the injured were treated on the spot, and the white-coated ambulance surgeons worked for an hour in the debris strewn streets. Police lines were thrown across either end of Park Avenue and across the intersecting streets. Several times the police cleared the street of people in front of the Murray Hill hotel. Torrents of water from broken mains poured into the tunnel shaft while the wreckage was being cleared from the street railway sub-way, and it was feared that the street might cave in.

The cause of the explosion and the quantity of explosives that blew up are not definitely known. Several causes have been advanced. One was that a fire started near the powder room and that Master Mechanic William Tubbs lost his life in a desperate attempt to quench it before it reached the deadly fuel. Another was that it started from a spark produced by a stray current of electricity. A third placed the blame upon a blast in the tunnel. Still another gave a gas explosion from electrical contact in the trolley conduit of the street railway sub-way. It will probably take an official investigation to reveal the true explanation. Several men who were very close to the shaft escaped, while others hundreds of feet away were knocked down and seriously injured.

Mayor Low said last night that he would write to the Rapid Transit commissioners requesting that they ascertain the sub-contractors' method of handling and storing explosives. The mayor remarked that "familiarity breeds contempt" and possibly the contractors in handling explosives had become careless as time went on, until the accident happened.

Jerome Visited the Scene.

District Attorney Jerome visited the scene and made an investigation to guide him in the official inquiry and possible criminal prosecution that will follow.

Ira A. Shaler, engineer in charge of the work at Park Avenue; John Bracken, a foreman, and Martin McGrath, an assistant foreman, were placed under arrest and charged with homicide. William Barclay Parsons, chief engineer of the Rapid Transit commission, said that Shaler was one of the most competent and careful engineers he ever knew.

The damage may exceed $1,000,000. The first estimate on the Murray Hill hotel placed the loss at $100,000, but later the hotel was abandoned as unsafe. If the building is condemned the loss on it alone will approach $1,000,000. The damage to the Grand Union was estimated at $400,000, and that to the Manhattan hospital at $25,000. The loss at the Grand Central station was entirely in glass, as was that of the 100 or more other buildings affected by the explosion. No estimate was made of the losses sustained by the Rapid Transit contractors.

Jerome and Coroner Clash.

There was a clash in court yesterday afternoon between District Attorney Jerome and Coroner Goldenkrantz, resulting in the former being struck in the face by a clerk. Mr. Jerome was in his office examining Shaler, Bracken and McGrath, when a policeman assigned to the coroner's office entered and, under the coroner's instructions, demanded that the prisoners appear before that official. Mr. Jerome allowed them to go, but he and his assistants followed. The district attorney told the coroner that there was no information in the patrolman's affidavit on which to hold anybody, and there was a wordy wrangle between the two officials. In spite of protests the coroner gave the case to the jury, who returned a verdict recommending the discharge of the prisoners. The coroner then opened court as a sifting magistrate, had the men re-arrested and held them without bail. More protests came from Mr. Jerome and the coroner changed his decision, holding the men in $10,000 each.

All this had worked up the feelings of everybody so much that there was a free fight. Mr. Jerome received a blow in the face from a coroner's clerk, who in turn was beaten by two of the district attorney's detectives. Then the detectives and the clerk had each other arrested, but soon better counsel prevailed and all charges were withdrawn for the present.

AWAITING TURN OF EVENTS.

Professionals So Found the Money Powers When They Tried to Find the Market.

New York, Jan. 28.—There was no relief from the semi-stagnant conditions of speculation in stocks Monday. Professional operators continued their attempts to find the market by persistently testing it, both by sales and purchases, but they found the great powers in the financial world absolutely quiescent and awaiting some turn of events. The stiffness of money rates, which persisted for some time after the turn of the year, has yielded entirely and the ordinary borrower is able to obtain money on call on very easy terms. Earnings of gross earnings of railroads, which began to come in Monday for the third week in January, show gratifying increases over last year's high level. Monday's break in the grain markets, while due to a condition of over speculation, and attributed ostensibly to the large movement from other countries, warrants a presumption of promising conditions for our own winter wheat crop, upon which much hinges. These considerations, however, were powerless to animate the stock market. There is a very general agreement that the ultimate decision of the question of the legal standing of the Northern Securities company is the thing really awaited for the next general movement in the stock market. There is also importance attached to the definite shaping of the government's financial operations, which is given additional importance by the growth of the surplus in the revenues, the decrease in the available supply of bonds for redemption and the pressure to retire bank note circulation. Legislation for the reduction of the revenues on the one side or for special government expenditures on the other are studied with great attention, owing to their bearing on the market supply of money. The formulating of demands by coal miners has been a cause of some depression. The stiffening of the discount rate in London and the advance in the price of gold may be a symptom of renewed demand for gold from that quarter as the bank of England is obviously striving to make its rate effective in the market, in preparation for the coming government loan. Of the special movements in Monday's market which gave it its whole character, that in Amalgamated Copper was most conspicuous. Raw copper was advanced for the first time since the attempt to maintain the price was abandoned by the Amalgamated Copper company. The gain which resulted Monday for Amalgamated Copper was 2½ points. The advance in the price of lead gave strength to the national lead stocks and American Smelting. The United States Steel stocks were lethargic. There was a desultory speculation in Sugar, with a final net gain of a point. Notable gains in Chicago and Eastern Illinois, the New York, Chicago and St. Louis stocks, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis and Rutland preferred were without explanation. The market closed dull and firm.

There was a cessation of last week's activity in a number of semi-speculative bonds and the market was duller and irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,025,000.

U. S. new 4s advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

Told of Rebel Victory.

New York, Jan. 28.—General Modesto Garces, special delegate in charge of foreign affairs of the Liberal party of Colombia, said yesterday that he had received cable advices from Curacao, the headquarters of his party, saying that the army under General Soto met and defeated the Conservative forces, led by General Frangier and a Jesuit priest, Padre Espana, after a bloody engagement lasting all day, near La Cruz, 35 miles south of Bogoto. General Soto captured a large quantity of arms and ammunition and several cannon. Among the killed was Padre Espana.

BANDITS STOLE SAFE

When the Express Messenger Couldn't Open It, They Took It From the Train.

ROBBERY IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Bullet Sent Through Cap of Engineer. Another Safe on Train Looted. Man Accused of Previous Robbery Believed to Have Led the Gang.

Branchville, S. C., Jan. 28.—A carefully planned and audacious express car robbery took place about 7 o'clock last evening on the Southern railway when the passenger train from Charleston reached nearly the exact site of the successful robbery of two years ago, five miles from Branchville. Seven or eight men were riding on the platform between the engine and baggage car, concealed by the darkness. None was masked. At the Fifty-five mile board two men crawled over the tender and covered the engineer, John Reynolds, with Winchester. They fired two shots, one ball passing through Reynolds' cap. Fireman Cobb escaped by jumping off. Conductor Black, who ran out, was covered and ordered back. By order of these men a brakeman uncoupled the express, mail and baggage cars, which were taken to Fifty-eight station, leaving the rest of the cars on the main line. Here several shots were fired into the express car and one man climbed up, covered Express Messenger Hall with a Winchester and compelled him to open the door. Three men entered the car and stripped the local safe. After threatening Hall with instant death if he did not open the through safe, and finding he knew nothing of the combination, the safe was rolled out on the platform. Then the engineer was ordered to return with the three cars to the train, and he obeyed, bringing the train without further incident to Branchville. Nothing was seen of the men or the safe on passing Fifty-eight. There was only a small amount of booty in the local safe, and no one here knows the contents of the through safe. No mail or baggage was touched and no passengers were molested.

No measures had been made last night to follow the robbers.

The leader is supposed to be Barton Warren. Warren was arrested, charged with having, single-handed, robbed the Southern express car just below Branchville, in the fall of 1899. The case resulted in a mistrial. Hall was furnished. A few days before the next session of the court, five months ago, he killed Thomas Watson, his former friend, but one of the principal witnesses against him.

Warren has been at large since, and some say that he has been seen in Branchville at night several times since, though $800 reward had been offered for his capture.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and cannot be cured by local applications. It is only by restoring it to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible. If not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. A Son of a Sea Cook.

The expression concerning the expression "a son of a sea cook," says the Philadelphia Times, has not been found in any reference dictionary. It comes from a prominent citizen, a man of affairs and a man of intelligence. In 1862 he was for a period the campaign companion of Leonard Swett, who at that time was a candidate for congress in Illinois. Mr. Swett was the bosom friend of Abraham Lincoln—his alter ego. In 1888 he was the advocate in Chicago of the presidential aspirations of Walter Q. Gresham.

At the time referred to Mr. Swett had an engagement to address voters in Fremont and Pekin, in Tazewell county, and by the informant referred to was driven from Fremont to Pekin. Swett had few equals as a conversationalist, and the talk was brisk and naturally never to be forgotten by the man who had proffered his services as a driver.

The latter, speaking of a well known lawyer of Pekin, remarked, "He is a son of a sea cook." Mr. Swett turned abruptly about and said: "That expression is not correct. You mean the son of a seakaw, which is a perversion of the Indian name segoak, which means a skunk and is usually pronounced seakaw. Few people ever use the term correctly or comprehend its meaning."

One Old Horse Guards Another.

Two beautiful chestnut horses, Jack and Sam, were among my early friends. They were clean built, high stepping trotters of a speed which might have distinguished them on the track, but they led a happier life, being favorite carriage horses in a region of beautiful country roads or sometimes, under the saddle, threading lovely forest paths.

Rarely used in single harness, they had been as rarely separated, and when in their old age Sam became blind it was a touching thing to see Jack's constant watchfulness over him. Their pasturage was in fields broken by rocky ledges and where more than one steep ravine suddenly descended from the smooth sward. Jack never left his friend. Constantly beside him, if Sam went too near a perilous edge, the stream, a rock or fence, he would go between him and the danger, pushing him aside or, if that could not be done, he would take him by the mane and gently lead him to a place of safety. No allurements in lumps of sugar, apples or the salt basket ever drew Jack from his dependent friend.—Our Animal Friends.

The appetite for political pie is an insatiable one. It will doubtless continue so, for the nature of man is something not easily changed. But a tendency has sprung up in East Liverpool of late years which deserves to be checked in its incipient stage. Formerly it was the rule, when a man had served his constituents ably and faithfully, for one term, to give him a second term without the necessity of battling anew to gain a re-nomination. Now, it appears that it matters not how well a man has filled his office, if he desires a second term, he must enter the race and scramble for it. This is not good politics, neither is it good business. It makes changes in office too frequent. A man hardly gets settled in his office, thoroughly familiar with his duties and in shape to accomplish something for the good of the public, than he is asked to get out simply because somebody else wants the place. Of course, there are those who, if they get one term, get more than they deserve. But the conscientious office holder, with whom the people have no fault to find, deserves better treatment. It has been an unwritten Republican law, embracing every office from the presidency of the United States to town constable, to give the deserving man a second term if he desires it, without resorting to a contest or to campaigning. To drift away from it is to engender bad feeling and impair the usefulness of the party organization. "One good term deserves another" is a good rule to observe where good men are concerned. Following it has made the Republican party great and strong. Disregarding it can but tend toward weakness and disruption. East Liverpool Republicans, who have the party's interests at heart, need to curb their impatience for office and await their turn.

Speaker Henderson wisely calls upon the tariff-tinkers to look ahead and see the mischief they are likely to do. He admits, as every sensible man must, that the tariff laws are not perfect, because no human work is perfect. But he strongly points out that there is danger that "in trying to reach a few remedies we will involve the whole country in serious difficulties." He also says he indorses the position taken in President Roosevelt's message that "there is general acquiescence in our present tariff system as a national policy." There is wisdom and sound sense in this view of the matter. The Dingley tariff has worked well, as busy industries and a steadily increasing volume of business attest. Its usefulness is not past, but is as great as ever. If it were sought to amend it, the amending would not cease until the whole law had been overhauled, disturbing the business world and checking the rising tide of prosperity. In the homely phrase of Senator Hanna, "Let well enough alone," is found the best possible advice to congress.

The army appropriation bill this year carries about $90,000,000, a reduction compared with the sum appropriated by the act for the current year of about $24,000,000. The estimates were presented for an army of 100,000, but the committee has made provision for $3,000, which is a larger number than the war department expects to retain in the service next year.

British Columbia last year produced gold worth $5,596,700, and nearly all of it, like many Canadians, made a beeline for the United States.

It will be difficult to frame a congressional redistricting bill which will meet the approval of the Republican members of the general assembly, and yet the districts should be changed because of the inequality in the population of the districts as now arranged.

The Kentucky legislature is opposed to President Roosevelt sending envoys to attend King Edward's coronation. It is not what the Kentucky legislature condemns, but what it approves that good people have reason to be alarmed over.

If Miss Stone were an actress, instead of a missionary, her fortune would be made.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Polly Cullen.

Mrs. Polly Cullen, wife of J. H. Cullen, died Monday evening at 9 o'clock at her home in the west end of Chester. She was nearly 65 years of age and had been a sufferer for 20 years from cancer. She was a resident of Hancock county for many years and had a legion of friends. Together with a husband she is survived by six children: Mrs. Charles Mercer, East Liverpool; Alvin Cullen, New Cumberland; Misses Jessie, Nettie and Mary Cullen and Harvey Cullen, of Chester. Arrangements for the funeral services have not been completed.

William H. Garwood.

Salem, January 28.—William H. Garwood, a well known resident of this city, died yesterday of consumption. He was born in Youngstown in 1849. A wife and one daughter survive him.

Death of an Infant.

An infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William McNutt, of East Market street, died this morning. Arrangement for the funeral have not yet been completed.

AT THE THEATER

A large gathering of expectant people was present at the opera house last evening to witness the play, "Are You a Mason?" given for the benefit of the Knights of Pythias. The performance was a disappointment to nearly every one, as the members of the company, with few exceptions, were painfully lacking in ability. There were some really good features which provoked hearty laughter, but the play as a whole was not of a nature calculated to please the lovers of high-class comedy.

The attraction at the opera house Friday evening will be the Criterion Theater, Brooklyn, success, "The Flip Mr. Flop." The company is headed by Rubie Welch and Kittle Francis, who have on numerous occasions played the Proctor and Keith circuit. Rubie Welch, the author of the piece, plays the part of Mr. Flop, while Kittle Francis will be seen as the rich Irish widow. Like all comedies of this kind the fun is fast and furious.

MITCHELL ASSERTED WORSE.

Rev. Dr. King Declares Him More Dangerous Than Prof. Pearsons, of Chicago.

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—At the weekly meeting of the Methodist ministers of this city Rev. George H. Bickley read a paper referring to the published opinion of Prof. Charles W. Pearson, of the Northwestern university, who recently questioned the truth of miracles mentioned in the Bible. A general discussion followed the reading of the paper, resulting in the denunciation of several text books now in use in the Methodist theological seminaries.

Dr. J. M. King, of New York, one of the secretaries of the board of church extension, was present and expressed his opinion in an emphatic manner. "I respect the board of bishops," he said, "but that respect does not lead me to favor their action, when, by a majority of one, they seated Presidnt Mitchell in the Boston theological seminary, and by that vote of one struck at the Divinity of Jesus Christ."

"Dr. Mitchell is a more dangerous man than Prof. Pearson, because he is the more leared. Prof. Pearson can easily be answered, but Dr. Mitchell is not to be disposed of so readily. The place for an honest man who does not believe in the fundamental teachings he promised to uphold is out of the fold. He may then criticize the Bible if he has a mind to."

It was decided to bring Dr. Rischell's "Foundation of Christian Faith" and other text books to the notice of the board of bishops.

Devery's Application Denied.

New York, Jan. 28.—The application of ex-Deputy Commissioner of Police William S. Devery to have the law abolishing the office of chief of police of New York city declared unconstitutional was denied by Justice Leventritt in the supreme court yesterday, on the grounds that, though he had some doubt as to the constitutionality of the law, he held it legal in order that the appellate division may render a decision as soon as possible.

WELLSVILLE

M'KINLEY DAY

WILL BE OBSERVED IN WELLSVILLE SCHOOLS.

Appropriate Exercises But No Collections—Principals of School Board.

McKinley day will be observed in the public schools with exceedingly appropriate exercises at the regular evening session. Supt. MacDonald was present at the meeting and his views in regard to the observance of the day set apart to the late president were in accordance with those of the board. The citizens of Ohio should pay tribute to the memory of the late beloved president and brother citizen. The superintendent said that he did not think that the anniversaries of the births of the great presidents should be observed as legal holidays and that he thought it not right for the school board to give a day upon such occasions. He further said that the school children should not be called upon to donate for the benefit of the McKinley monument fund, as in his opinion the state of Ohio should give out of its treasury enough money to erect the desired monument.

The views of Supt. MacDonald coincided with those of the board and the above decision was quickly determined upon.

Other business was also acted upon by the board. The teachers' and janitors' salaries for the month of January were allowed and ordered paid and the advisability of purchasing an apparatus for the use of the high school in physics and a geographical apparatus for the scholars in general was considered, but was finally referred to the text book committee.

BIG MONEY FOR COAL

Is Being Offered Hancock County Farmers Who Own Mineral Lands.

Farmers owning land in the neighborhood of the Washington school house are receiving immense offers from several coal syndicates for the coal which underlies their land. The syndicates are endeavoring to secure options on the land and a few have already leased their farms. Among them are E. W. Gear, George Gregory, William Evans and Ed Murray. The leases have been given for four years at $25 per acre. The number of acres in these leases will exceed 500 and there remain several hundred more.

C. P. Rothwell, a coal operator of East Palestine, was in Chester this morning and held a conference with E. C. Baxter, who owns a farm in the coveted district, but no definite arrangement was made between the gentlemen.

Mr. Baxter stated that the sum per acre offered by Mr. Rothwell is quite enough, but he wishes to defer payments entirely too long. His proposition is to pay one half in two years, and the remainder in four years.

TWO YOUNG MEN KILLED.

The Victims Both Lived in McKean County, Pa.

Bradford, Pa., Jan. 28.—Two young men, both aged 21 years respectively and residents of McKean county, were killed by the cars. Albert Johnson, a brakeman employed on Kane's lumber road, was stepping from one car to another while the cars were in motion. He slipped and fell under the wheels and was crushed to death instantly. The fatality occurred at Meade Run.

Yesterday afternoon Charles Zee was driving across the Pennsylvania railroad tracks near Eldred. A train struck his team, killing him instantly. One of his horses was also killed, but the other escaped injury.

She Knew It.

A Philadelphia man thought he would be more successful than his wife in securing servants. So he cut out a number of advertisements from the "situations wanted" column of a newspaper and started out in a cab to visit the various addresses. The first place he stopped at was in front of a little house in a narrow street, from which a cook had advertised. He saw her and was favorably impressed.

"I am looking for a good cook," he said.

"Sure, an' don't Oi know it!" exclaimed the cook. "Oi only left your house yestidday!"

He made a hasty and undignified retreat and decided to allow his wife to continue in her direction of the household affairs.

She Had Improved.

The Princess Charlotte, daughter of George IV., was a young woman of great spirit and originality. One day one of her teachers chanced to enter the room when the princess was reviling one of her attendant ladies in great wrath, and, after giving her a lecture on hasty speech, he presented her with a book on the subject.

A few days later he found her still more furious and using language even more violent. "I am sorry to find your royal highness in such a passion," said he. "Your royal highness has not read the book I gave you."

"I did, my lord," cried she tempestuously. "I both read it and profited by it. Otherwise I should have scratched her eyes out!"

Velocity of Meteorites.

The singular fact has been demonstrated that while the most rapid velocity of cannon balls scarcely ever attains a speed of 600 meters a second—about 1,500 miles per hour—meteorites are known to permeate the air with a velocity of 40,000 or even 60,000 meters per second. This unthinkable speed instantly raises the temperature of the air to 4,000 or 6,000 degrees centigrade.

That Apple.

A correspondent sends us a little story of his infant son. His mother was telling Tommy about the apple and the garden of Eden, when the child, who resided in the country and had a lively recollection of windfalls, remarked, "But, mummy, it would not have mattered so much, would it, if she had picked one off the ground?"—London Life.

SAVED BY DUST.

How a Handful of Soldiers Fooled General Early.

"Did I ever tell you how clouds of dust once saved Washington city from what many people believe would have been certain capture at the hands of the Confederates?" asked a member of the old Veterans' Reserve corps, which was on duty at Fort Stevens during the war.

"It was when the Army of Northern Virginia was just outside the Capital City. You may remember that General Early, who was in command of this particular division of the Confederate forces, in writing to refute statements published in northern papers to the effect that he could easily have marched into Washington, said: 'I knew the defenses were weak when I arrived, but my troops were so exhausted from the enforced march that a halt was absolutely necessary, and the next morning I knew, by clouds of dust, that reinforcements had arrived.'"

"That dust, gentlemen, was raised by a few men, not exceeding 100, of the Veteran Reserve corps. The temporary commander of this company, a stout man of medium height, whose name or rank I did not learn, because he wore no blouse or insignia, placed the men in line in the rear of and between Fort Stevens and Fort Slocum. After making a short speech in which he urged every man to do his best he directed us to march down some distance on the grass past Fort Stevens. Once there he told us to break ranks and right about, returning in the middle of the road and kicking up all the dust we possibly could.

We doubled on the line, marching down on the grass and coming back in the dusty road. It was a dry season, and we all had on broad soled shoes. We made the dust fly, I tell you, and it is no wonder General Early thought reinforcements by the thousands had come to the relief of the handful on duty at the forts."—Washington Star.

LADIES AT DINNER.

From the Position of Carver to the Principal Seat.

The presence of ladies at dinner was brought about by necessity more than by the gallantry due to their sex. Servers and henchmen were superseded by lady carvers, who worked at a side table. In Elizabethan times at private dinners it became usual to place the principal joints and grand pieces at the upper end of the table, above the salt, so the chief guests could see the joints and secure choice helpings. We have something of this kind in the habit which prevails at restaurants of first showing the game, poultry, etc., to the diners before carving. The place which came to the fair sex from necessity was soon claimed by them as their right, and they passed from the menial position of carver to the occupiers of the principal seat. The lady had helpers who deemed it an honor to serve her in their turn.

In this duty of semiprofessional carver lies one of the first causes of the paper frills for legs of mutton, etc., for it was used in every case where the operator had to grasp some tangible part of the joint with the left hand. In 1653 a grand dame suggested that it would appear "more comely and decent to use a fork," this in spite of existing prejudice.

It was at this time, too, that travelers from Holland introduced into England the fashion of seating men and women alternately, the adoption of which put an end to lady carvers. Then the author of "The Cook's Oracle" suggested that joints and large birds should be carved before they came to table, thus starting the now prevailing fashion of carving at the side table.

CHAPTER VIII. MAKING TROUBLE.

W

ILE Elmdorf was speaking Alden returned, bearing a bunch of violets wrapped in such paper as florists use.

"I was gone longer than I had expected," he said. "I did not know just where to find a florist hereabout. They are all covered up, you see. It is an evening that might wither a flower with one breath."

He passed the bouquet somewhat awkwardly across the big table to Brenda, who in the act of receiving it was so startled by the sudden appearance of the ward detective, Barnes, upon the threshold that she let the flowers fall.

With due allowance for its general lack of intelligence, it may be said that the countenance of Barnes was full of meaning. The man looked self-assured, confident and pleased.

"I beg your pardon," said he. "Who is in charge here?"

"I am for the moment," replied Kendall.

Barnes hesitated, looking sidewise at Alden. Then his glance shifted to the bouquet upon the table and rebounded in the direction of the doctor.

"I'd like to have a word with you," he said.

"Speak up," said Kendall. "What is it?"

"Those flowers are for the Miller girl, of course?" said Barnes. "Well, you'd better take a look at 'em before you send 'em in. Oh, they're all right, I guess, but you can't be too careful."

"What do you mean?" demanded Kendall.

Barnes pointed a finger at Alden.

"That man put something into them," he said. "I saw him do it. I don't know what it was, but there's drugs in that, if you smell of them, why, it's your finish."

Kendall was too much surprised to speak. Alden took a hasty step toward Barnes and collided with Elmdorf, who courteously begged his pardon.

Meanwhile Brenda picked up the bouquet from the table, and as they all turned toward her she opened the paper over the violets and pressed them against her lips.

"They are very fragrant," she said.

"That's all right," returned Barnes doggedly, "but he put something in there. What was it?"

"This bit of paper, I suppose," said Brenda, taking it in her fingers. "Your message, Clarence?"

"I think somebody ought to read it," said Barnes, looking at Elmdorf out of the corner of his eyes.

Alden thrust Elmdorf aside as if he had been a paper dummy and then checked himself. Barnes was already in the hall.

"I can have no quarrel with this creature," said Alden. "As to my message, I appeal to Dr. Kendall."

"This is more than absurd," rejoined the doctor. "Miss MacLane, whenever you are ready."

As Brenda stepped forward the bit of paper slipped out from among the flowers and fell to the floor. Elmdorf picked it up.

"I hope you won't misunderstand me," he said. "Perhaps I see farther ahead than you do. If I was in Mr.

Alden's place, I'd let somebody read this."

He gave the message to Brenda, who glanced at Alden as she took it. He raised his hand in a gesture of negation.

"Now, look here, all of you," exclaimed Barnes. "Here's this girl in the—supposed direction of Elsie's room—who's hiding what she knows. I don't say it's in this man's interest, but it's in somebody's interest; that's sure. She wouldn't be the first woman that's had the nerve to get the knife and say nothing. I don't accuse anybody, especially not this man, for I ain't got a thing against him. He's all right so far as I know. But what I say is that the girl ought not to be getting messages on the quiet."

Alden's face was white as paper, and his eyes were afire. It is probable that every bone in Barnes' body ached with anticipation, but he had been kicked too often in the way of business to flee before the actual contact.

"I've stood all of this that my system can absorb," said Kendall, with a seriousness that scarcely fitted with the peculiar phrase which had come into his mouth. "After this dime novel nonsense of poisoned bouquets I don't care to have anything more from you. Get out!"

"You're making a mistake," said Barnes and then backed out of the room, grinning like a monkey, as Kendall advanced toward the door.

Brenda replaced the note among the flowers and gave her free hand to Alden, bidding him good night.

"I shall not be far away," he said as the woman preceded Kendall out of the room. "There's a lodging house next door. I shall get a place to sleep there. Sleep? Well, at least I shall be there. You will not fail to summon me if—if there should be any reason for it?"

"You may depend upon me," said Brenda from the threshold, where she had paused a moment while he spoke.

Kendall went with her to the mouth of the long corridor and then returned to the reception room.

"That man must be insane," he said to Elmdorf. "What did he mean by coming here with such absurdities?"

"He didn't believe in them any more than you do," replied the detective. "He had no idea there was anything wrong with the violets or with the note. He was simply obeying orders."

"Orders?" echoed Kendall. "Who could have ordered him to do such a thing?"

"I guess Mr. Alden knows," responded Elmdorf. "And, between ourselves, I think Mr. Alden should have permitted the note to be read right here. I hope Miss Miller won't destroy it."

Kendall looked at Alden as if to inquire whether such a thing was likely, but gleaned no answer. Alden's face had resumed its rigidity, and the expression which it wore was intense, but difficult to read.

"However," continued Elmdorf, "if it hadn't been that it would have been something else. You're going to see a good deal of this sort of thing in the next few days, Mr. Alden."

"A good deal of what?" said Alden.

"It is technically known as 'making trouble' for a man," replied the detective. "I don't know why I should put you on, but I'm doing it just the same."

"Do you mean to tell me," demanded Alden, "that Captain Neale expects to extort an important secret from me by childish tricks of annoyance such as this?"

"Certainly not," answered Elmdorf. "Joe Neale is no such donkey. Why, he's worth a quarter of a million dollars, and it's a wise man who can save as much as that in a few years out of a salary of twenty-five hundred. By simple arithmetic it would take a man just a century to do it if he lived meanwhile on what the neighbors sent in, as they used to say in Massachusetts, where I was

By Ex-Attorney General WAYNE MACVEAGH

T

HERE is a very grave problem which we are refusing to consider and by which refusal the ethical ideal of law is being destroyed. IT IS THE PROBLEM PRESENTED BY OUR NEGRO POPULATION, NOW APPROACHING TEN MILLIONS OF SOULS. All of us, whether in public office or in private station, now concur in trying to ignore the existence of any such problem at our doors, while we indulge in self congratulations about the blessings we are carrying to another ten millions of dark skinned races in far distant lands.

At present the condition of the whole subject is lawlessness, and such a condition is disgraceful to us all and is fraught with the serious dangers which lawlessness always brings in its train.

I've said enough to cost me my job." "Nothing you say to me will ever cost you anything," said Alden. "I'm not a talking man. By the way, who are you?"

"Introduce me," said Elmdorf to Kendall, and the doctor complied. "I am pleased to meet you," said Alden, offering his hand. "If you find out anything important in this case, I want you to tell me first. I'll make it worth your while."

"No, thank you," said Elmdorf hastily. "As a rule I'm as corrupt as the devil—but not this time."

Meanwhile Brenda had delivered the posies to Elsie—whom pain had wakened from a little sleep—with the gentlest possible words and ways. She had not at all the manner of a nurse, but rather that of an exceedingly tactful and well bred young doctor.

Elsie took the bouquet and very quietly cried over it for some minutes without discovering the note which it contained. She did not say anything; she did not ask a question about what Alden had said or done, whether he had gone away or was still waiting or whether he had seemed much distressed by her misfortune. Brenda had merely said that he had called, and that he had sent the violets because they were Elsie's favorite flower. This seemed to satisfy the girl completely.

Brenda had supposed that she would see the message at the first glance and indeed believed for some little time that she had done so, but did not wish to read it immediately. Finding this an error and fearing that the sudden discovery of it might startle her, Brenda told Elsie that there was a message and pointed out its place.

Then she turned away, as if unwilling to accept the chance of guessing from Elsie's face what the note might contain. When she judged that the proper interval had elapsed, she approached the bed once more.

Elsie's eyes were shut. The tears were drying on her cheeks, that were as delicate as rose leaves, and her right hand was against her breast, tightly closed. Thus she remained until she fell asleep.

CHAPTER IX.

A FEW WORDS WITH MR. ROBINSON.

ETECTIVE ELMENDORF was a man who considered himself to be the simple product of chance. He was born in Danbury, Conn., and at the age of nine years he was left an orphan and penniless. Immediately after this misfortune, as he did not like the people with whom he was expected to live, he walked out of town. There happened to be a high wind that day, and the boy walked with it, because the contrary course would have been disagreeable.

No one made any attempt to bring him back, and so he tramped for about a week, eating nothing one day and six good meals the next, according to the varying charity of the people along the road. Finally an eccentric old doctor in a certain small town found the boy ill on his doorstep one morning, and that was a great piece of luck for young Elmdorf. He had a good home in the doctor's house for eight years, without care or labor; enjoyed the advantages of the excellent schools of the village, and was nearly ready to enter college when his benefactor died.

The doctor left a good property, but no will. Relatives swooped down like a flock of birds. Elmdorf had not been adopted. He had no legal status, and one day he discovered that he had nothing at all except a trunkful of decent raiment and the sum of $3.60. The coincidence that this was the exact fare to New York decided Elmdorf's course. He arrived in the metropolis without a penny, hunted up a boarding house near the station, carried his trunk there on his shoulder and then went out to look for work.

He had many occupations in the next five years, but none to his liking. Finally he became a clerk in a small hotel which was a haunt of ward politicians. Yielding to the temptation thus thrown into his way, he developed into a lieutenant of the district leader, learning more tricks than he had the hardihood to play and prospering the less because of his scruples.

It became a delusion with him, however, that he was one of the most dishonest of created beings; that he would do anything for money, and that only his hard luck prevented him from selling his soul at a good figure. Once when his affairs were at a low ebb his patron suggested the police, and Elmdorf became a member of the force in the firm belief that a corrupt man like himself could make money therein. But he had a perverse way of being dissatisfied with temptation, and he gained a reputation for honesty which his best friends deplored. It was pure chance, a matter not worthy of mention, which secured his transfer to the staff of the detective bureau. He had no appetite for the work, yet he must have possessed a certain fitness for it. Perhaps the advantage of early mental training, added to an unaffiliated memory and a perception of little things that was due to the German blood in him, helped to make a real detective of him.

Yet there is no money in detecting alone and but small advancement, as Elmdorf's skill knew. What one needs is the will to construct a good, strong "pull," coupled with the capacity to turn the incidents of the profession to one's personal advantage. In these important particulars Elmdorf was a dire failure. He secured no pull, and he was forced to live almost entirely upon his salary. Indeed his continuance on the staff was due largely to the favor in which he was held by certain men connected with the press. The feeling that if Elmdorf should be sent back to patrol duty somebody would get "roasted" for it long and hard in at least two of the big papers was the deciding factor in his case on several occasions.

He was useful, however, in affairs like that with which the present record has to do, where early rumor connected persons of prominence and wealth with criminal cases and it was desirable to have a prompt and honest report as a basis for subsequent action.

In the matter of the murderous attack upon Elsie Miller, Elmdorf received orders, on the morning of the day following that upon which the crime was committed, to "look up" John Robinson. It appeared that Robinson had left the house on Thirty-eighth street immediately after Alden's departure, which he had viewed with every indication of intense and painful excitement.

No obstacle was put in the way of his departure when he desired to go; but an unobtrusive young man of Captain Neale's retinue walked upon the other side of the street. Robinson did not see this young man—which is sometimes a great misfortune for the person thus attended—but it happened, in this instance, that after a considerable amount of pedestrian exercise of a seemingly aimless sort the young man did not see Robinson, and this was undoubtedly a serious misfortune for the "shadow."

He was roundly sworn at by his superior, when, after a fruitless search, he was obliged to announce his failure to that individual. He did not do this, of course, until he had waited a long time in front of the house where Robinson lived. Had Robinson returned there the "shadow" would have given, in his subsequent report, a full statement covering every detail of Robinson's movements and every minute of the time, and would cheerfully have sworn to it in court had later events made such a proceeding necessary. But, failing to "pick up" Robinson, there was no escape from confession.

Eczema for Forty Years.

The Unqualified Statement of a Well Known Attorney, St. Ignace, Mich.

Some of the cures made by Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment of stubborn and long continued eczema and skin diseases are causing much comment. People are beginning to realize that this Ointment is a wonder worker with all kinds of skin trouble.

Attorney Jas. J. Brown, St. Ignace, Michigan, writes as follows: Dr. A. W. Chase Med. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.—Gents:—I cannot refrain from expressing my acknowledgment for the relief I have felt from Dr. Chase's Ointment. For 40 years I was afflicted with a skin disease which was located in one spot—on my leg. I have spent at a rough estimate five hundred dollars trying to effect a cure, and not until I applied this ointment did I get relief.

You are strangers to me and this letter is prompted directly because I want to say and I feel as though I ought to say it. That Chase's Ointment has effected a complete cure of my affliction. Three boxes did the work on my leg. I was also suffering from itching piles and applied the ointment which gave the best of satisfaction by affording me rest at night and rapidly causing the disease to disappear. I have received such relief and comfort from the ointment that I cannot withhold expressing my gratitude. I was so long afflicted with the tortures of eczema. I feel now that I am cured, a word of recommendation is due from me.

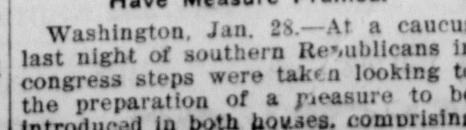

Yours truly,
JAS. J. BROWN.

THE FATAL QUARREL

Proprietor of a Store Attempted to Put Him Out And Then Shot Him.

Concerning the killing of Thomas Lawrence, formerly of this county, at Altona, Ill., particulars of which were given exclusively in these columns yesterday, a copy of the Altona Record, received in this city today, gives a very full account. Lawrence was 28 years of age, a genial young man of much promise. He spent his boyhood in Altona, and afterward returned to Ohio where he remained several years, returning to Altona about eight years ago. He leaves a wife and three children.

His slayer, Thomas McLain, was found by the coroner's jury to have fired the fatal shots and is now in jail at Galesburg.

According to the Altona paper, the tragedy took place in the grocery store of Haptonstall & McLain, following an auction sale of goods. After the sale was over in the evening Lawrence and a man named Schmidt came in and bought a can of shrimps, which they proceeded to eat at the counter, back of which was McLain, counting up the day's receipts. Lawrence pushed a pair of scales about, to which McLain objected, and finally pushed him away, and told him he would put him out of the store if he did not desist. Lawrence told McLain he could not put him out.

The men clinched and McLain got Lawrence down on the floor. As the two were on the floor Schmidt stepped up and hit McLain several times with his fist. McLain got away after tearing his clothes considerably, and as he raised up and started to the end of the store Schmidt threw the can of shrimps at him. McLain went to a drawer and got a revolver, saying: "Now, get out of here, or I will shoot you." At this all but Lawrence left the store.

The shooting followed and Lawrence was shot twice in the left side. He died at 9:30 the next night.

IN THE FOURTH WARD

CRISS MCCONNELL A STRONG CANDIDATE FOR COUNCIL.

A Prominent Republican, a Member of Trades Council And a Citizen of High Standing.

Not because of any political aspiration, but owing to the solicitations of his friends who have confidence in his ability to represent their interests, Criss McConnell has consented to become a candidate for council from the Fourth ward. His announcement appears elsewhere in these columns.

Mr. McConnell is too well known to the people of East Liverpool, and especially to the voters of his ward, to need any introduction. Though having never held any local political office, he has for years been prominently identified with the Republican party and has taken an active part in politics.

His ability to serve in council is one of the strong points in favor of his election. His experience in newspaper work has kept him in immediate touch with all municipal affairs, and thus has he been enabled to acquire a knowledge of the inside workings of the councilmanic body which new candidates seldom have.

Aside from his qualifications to ably fill the office, Mr. McConnell's connection with labor organizations has placed him in a prominent position before the public. He has been a foremost member of the Trades and Labor Council ever since the inception of that organization, and has at all times lent a helping hand to the cause of labor.

His reputation for honesty and integrity need not be touched on. It was those of his acquaintances who knew him best that induced him to become a candidate, and this fact is too significant to need elaboration. Having proven in all his dealing during his connection with local politics that he has had the interests of the city at heart, those of the voters of the Fourth ward have the positive assurance that his election shall mean much to them, and that their interests shall have much-needed consideration. 23-h

Hail Caine's Wonderful Night, Dickens' Stationary Star, Rider Haggard's Wonderful Eclipse and Coleridge's Impossible Crescent.

It is curious to note in how many instances strange astronomical errors appear in works of fiction quite unnecessary to the requirements of the story and resulting apparently from sheer lack of observation. As a modern example of such gratuitous blundering take a piece of description from Mr. Hall Caine's "Scapegoat." "It was a wonderful night. The moon, which was in its first quarter, was still low in the east, but the stars were thick overhead." A wonderful night, indeed! And strange that such a lover of nature as Mr. Hall Caine should not have reflected that when the moon is in its first quarter is low in the east it is broad daylight, with the sun high in the heavens!

Nevertheless on this point he erred in good company. The young moon has proved a stumbling block to many a writer who has attempted to introduce it as a picturesque adjunct to his description of evening.

In Dickens' "Our Mutual Friend" Eugene Wrayburn, in his walk along the river bank, finds it has just risen when "the stars were beginning to shine in the sky, from which the tones of red and yellow were flickering." Dickens, in truth, was sublimely superior to astronomical niceties, especially when they in any way interfered with the artistic effect of his stories. In his "Child's Dream of a Star" the point turns upon one special star, "larger and more beautiful than the rest," which always came out every night in one particular place and at one particular time, thereby behaving as no star has ever conceivably been known to do. This is undoubtedly taking a liberty with the solar system, but it is small indeed compared with the license sometimes claimed by authors desirous of calling in the aid of astronomy to assist their plots, but who are either insufficiently acquainted with their subject or count it no sin to twist and convert facts to suit their requirements.

A very famous and noteworthy instance of this is afforded in Rider Haggard's "King Solomon's Mines," where the phenomenon of a total solar eclipse is employed with most happy and dramatic effect as far as the story is concerned, but with a perfect disregard of astronomical details which in its audacity is almost startling. Here, again, as in so many other cases, the difficulty of the young moon comes in, and the sun has scarcely set before the "fine crescent" rises in the east. Within a wonderfully short space of time after this curious event the moon is full, and only a day later the total eclipse of the sun takes place, despite the astronomical fact that it is at "no moon" (or, more accurately speaking, the last few seconds of the old moon and the first few seconds of the new) that a total solar eclipse alone is possible.

But perhaps the most interesting feature of this altogether remarkable eclipse is that the total darkness lasts for nearly an hour. Alas, under the rarest and most favorable conditions, seven minutes alone is the utmost limit of time during which the sun's face is totally obscured, and the observer under ordinary circumstances counts himself lucky if he is rewarded for a journey of some thousands of miles by an uninterrupted view of the corona for three minutes, two or even less.

Some years ago one of the magazines contained a story called "The Portent," the motif of which was a certain strange seeming in the heavens which, whenever it appeared, boded ill to a particular family. This prophetic sign was none other than the appearance of the crescent moon with a star between the two horns. Nor was this a particularly novel idea, for it will be remembered that in Coleridge's "Ancient Mariner" that voracious seaman relates how at one period of his adventures there rose

The horned moon, with one bright star
Within the nether tip.

In a purely miraculous and fanciful creation like this famous poem it would be ridiculous to cavil at such a detail, though in the case of the story it might well be questioned how the star could manage to appear in such a position. We may perhaps refer to the line in "The Burial of Sir John Moore" where the great soldier is represented as being interred "by the struggling moonbeam's misty light," whereas, as a matter of fact, the moon was but a day old at the time of the battle of Coruna and therefore invisible. This seems like hypercriticism, especially in a poem that lays no claim to astronomical accuracy.

The case is different when an author deliberately makes a statement which he intends shall be believed. In "Innocents Abroad" Mark Twain draws special notice to the point that on the voyage across the Atlantic they observed the full moon located just in the same spot in the heavens at the same hour every night. He accounts for this by the motion of the ship, which gained enough every day to keep up with the moon, but he seemingly forgot that, though for this reason the position of the moon might not greatly alter, her phase certainly would, so that it could not have been the full moon which was visible night after night.—London Standard.

Wheels.

The earliest mention of wheels in the Bible is in Exodus xiv, 25, when the chariot wheels of the Egyptians were taken off by the Lord. But chariots are mentioned in Genesis xii, 43. But there were older nations than the Egyptians. The Chaldeans used chariots, and the Greeks—Homer's poems date from about 900 B. C.—had chariots at the siege of Troy, 1500 B. C. Probably in reality the wheel is about as early a piece of machinery as any now existing. Of course it has been developed, but the bicycle wheel of today is a lineal descendant of the section of a log of wood used by the agricultural peoples thousands of years ago.

Clerical Customer (arousing himself from a nap in a barber's chair)—All through, eh?

Barber—Yes, sir; quite some time ago.

Clerical Customer—Indeed! Then I must have been indulging in a quiet nap.

Barber—You surely have, sir. Clerical Customer—It was certainly very kind of you not to awaken me. The rest has done me good, and I am very thankful to you for what was really a very refreshing sleep.

Barber—Don't mention it, sir. It's only a fair return. I attended service at your church last Sunday.—Boston Courier
